22 LIVES ARE LOST ON SINKING VESSEL

During Yesterday's Storm Steamer Julia Luckenbach Was Rammed in Chesapeake Bay—Ship Which Struck Her Unable to Render Assistance.

(By Associated Press) Newport News, Va., Jan. 4.—Eight survivors of the steamer Julia Luckenbach rammed and sunk in Chesapeake bay early yesterday by the British tramp Indrakula arrived here today and told how 22 of their number had gone down without a chance for life. The fortunate eight after a six hours battle with a terrific gale, were taken from the rigging of their sunken ship by the Danish steamer Pennsylvania and brought here.

The Luckenbach, from Port Tampa to Baltimore, was about to anchor off the Tangier Gas buoy, at the mouth of the Potomac, early yesterday when the Indrakula caught her and cut her practically in two. She went down immediately and only the men on deck had a chance for life. The Indrakula badly damaged and in danger of sinking drew off and beached to save herself. Captain Gilbert of the Luckenbach and his wife were among the lost.

The survivors had scarcely reached the topmost part of the rigging of the submerged hulk when the sweeping gale of yesterday passed over the bay and for six hours they fought for life, while some of their number, exhausted, dropped one by one, to death. With a wind blowing at cyclonic velocity, and waves beating against them, the hardest ones held fast until their clothes were torn to shreds, and they were on the verge of exhaustion. Chief Engineer Chris Kuden was one of those in the rigging. He endured the sale until his hands were bleeding from gripping the ropes. He became exhausted, let go and went down before assistance came.

SET TRAP TO GET SANTA; GOT A BIG BLACK BEAR

New Orleans, Jan. 4.—A big black bear caught in a trap set in a chimney by a little boy to trap Santa Claus was the story brought from the wilds of lower Louisiana last night by C. J. Larrabee, returning from a two weeks hunting expedition. Mr. Larrabee said he hunted during Christmas with Cleofas Bertio, a trapper, and used the latter's cabin. Noticing a half dozen shark hooks hanging in the chimney of the cabin, Larrabee says he called his host's attention to the fact that they were placed rather high to hang cooking utensils on them.

HOUSE CONFRONTS JAMMED CALENDAR

All the Big Appropriation Bills Still to Come—Night Sessions Possible.

(By Associated Press) Washington, Jan. 4.—With final adjournment of the sixty-second congress exactly two months away, the house today confronted a jammed calendar and a list of supply bills that promised weary days and sleepless nights for the legislators up to the final minutes of the session. Only a single appropriation bill, the legislative, executive and judicial measure, has been passed by the house. The Indian appropriation bill is now under consideration and it should be completed early next week. The big appropriations which involve a vast amount of detail likely to cause lengthy discussion are still to come. The postoffice appropriation bill has been reported from the committee and is awaiting action by the house. The military affairs committee has practically completed the army bill, which is expected to develop considerable friction. Besides these there remain the naval appropriation bill with its prospect for a fight on the battleship program, the military academy, the agricultural appropriation bill, the fortifications bill, the voluminous sundry civil bill and the two so-called "pork barrel" bills for river and harbor improvement and public buildings.

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM REJECTED BY PORTE

Turkish Council of Ministers Telegraphs Rechod Pasha Not to Renounce Claims—Peace Conference Adjourns Until Monday When Time Limit Expires.

(By Associated Press) Constantinople, Jan. 4.—The Turkish council of ministers this afternoon telegraphed fresh instructions to Rechod Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation at the London peace conference. The Ottoman plenipotentiary is ordered, it is declared, to reject the ultimatum of the Balkan allies. The ultimatum of the Balkan allies were presented at yesterday's session of the peace conference in London. It practically gave Turkey until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon to agree to give up the fortress of Adrianople and the Aegean islands, and to renounce whatever right she possesses over the island of Crete.

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM REJECTED BY PORTE

London, Jan. 4.—The peace conference which was to have met again this afternoon was postponed until Monday at the request of the Turks who are awaiting final instructions from their government.

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM REJECTED BY PORTE

There is no evidence today of a weakening of the deadlock in the conference over the question of the future of the fortress of Adrianople. Under pressure of Europe, the Turkish government, it was thought, would be able to meet the public hostility in Turkey, to the surrender of Adrianople with the plea that it had been forced to yield by the powers.

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM REJECTED BY PORTE

If the powers should exert their will, the Aegean islands will go to Greece with the exception of four or five of them in the vicinity of the entrance of the Dardanelles straits. The Ottoman delegates to the peace conference have absolutely made up their minds not to surrender the fortress of Adrianople or the islands in the Aegean sea, according to a statement made this morning.

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM REJECTED BY PORTE

An explicit and categorical declaration to this effect was prepared for submission at today's session of the peace conference. The Turks, however, may make some further concession in the province of Adrianople. The delegates of Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro and Serbia met this afternoon to consider their attitude in view of the probable Turkish reply to their demand for a decision on the question of Adrianople.

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM REJECTED BY PORTE

The ambassadors of Austria-Hungary, France, Germany, Italy and Russia resumed their "conversations" at the British foreign office at noon today when they began considering the questions involved in the peace negotiations. The attitude of the Balkan allies during today's session of the conference was foreshadowed by Dr. S. Daneff, chief of the Bulgarian delegation, who stated:

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM REJECTED BY PORTE

"We expect the Turks will be unable to give us acceptable conditions. The negotiations then will be broken off. We have an army which can continue the war." Dr. Daneff offered a phrase which possibly indicates that a way out of the deadlock may be found. He said:

ALLIES' ULTIMATUM REJECTED BY PORTE

"If the Turks wish to appeal to the European powers we cannot prevent them from doing so." It is believed the intention of Turkey is to yield on the question of the island of Crete and to cede to the Balkan allies all her rights there. Should the Turks unexpectedly renounce their claim to the fortress of Adrianople, it is understood that the Balkan allies are ready to moderate their original claims in regard to the future frontier of the Turkish province of Thrace. They would prepare to make it run from Enos on the Aegean sea along the Maritza to Midia on the Black sea, instead of from Rodosto on the sea of Marmora, to Midia as was at first proposed by them.
