SALONIKI, March 19.—Alek Schinas, murderer of King George I. of Greece, appears to have lived much abroad. He returned to Saloniki only when it was occupied by the Greek army after the surrender of the Turkish garrison.

The premeditation of the regicide appears to be established by the fact that Schinas lurked in hiding and rushed out only when his royal victim was within six feet of his hiding place.

Soldiers who had been summoned by the shots lifted the king from the ground and carried him to a hospital. He expired on the way without recovering consciousness.

On reaching the police station he gave his name and age with particularity about himself.

England Indignant over the Crime. London, March 19.—Expression of intense indignation over the assassination of King George of Greece and deep sympathy for the royal family and people of Greece is given freely by all the London morning papers today and all in a similar strain.

Within a few weeks, adds the Daily Graphic, "the whole of the Hellenic world would have acclaimed George as the creator of that greater Greece, which for centuries has been the golden dream of eastern Christendom."

The Morning Post expresses confidence that "the qualities of bravery and patience which have been displayed during the war by Greece will be further revealed during the critical moments occasioned by the assassin's crime."

CHINESE LOAN NOW IN DOUBT

Wilson's Refusal to Give a Guaranty Probably Means Withdrawal of American Bankers.

WILL SOON DEFINE POLICY TOWARD CHINA

Question of Recognition of New Republic Will Soon Be Determined by the Administration.

(By Associated Press) Washington, March 19.—President Wilson's statement of the administration's attitude toward American bankers' participation in the Chinese loan and foreign loans generally has attracted widespread comment and discussion in official and diplomatic circles.

It is pointed out today that the bankers of China's creditor nations, especially Russia, may now be counting upon the moral support of their governments to continue to press Provisional President Yuan Shi-Kai to make the loan, but there are also some indications of discord found in the conflicting claims of the various nationalities for predominating influence in the appointment of administrators of the loan and for its expenditure.

The pressing feature for China right now, diplomats point out, is found in the fact that China is more than one year behind in payment of Boxer indemnities to the extent of $20,000,000.

Discussion is now turning to the question of when the administration will announce its policy of the recognition of the new republic of China. The statement issued yesterday made no mention of the question of recognition, but now that the loan matter has been determined, it is generally believed that a determination of this question will follow at an early date.
