

GOVERNOR CRAIG ONE OF SPEAKERS

Will Deliver Address Here on Western North Carolina
Day of Fair.

Plans have now been practically completed by the management of the Western North Carolina Fair association for western North Carolina day, which is to be observed here on October 10, the last day of the big fair. A review of these plans seems to indicate that the day will be one of the biggest, if not the biggest of the entire week, as it will be wholly representative of the section. The program for the day includes an address in the afternoon by Governor Locke Craig. In the evening there will be an address, which is scheduled for 8:30, by M. V. Richards, the land and industrial agent of the Southern railway. An invitation was extended to Mr. Richards some time ago to be present on this occasion, and his acceptance has just been received. W. E. Brees, Jr., president of the Greater Western North Carolina association, will be asked to introduce him.

During the day there will be athletic contests, which will be participated in by various teams and individuals of the section; the singing contests by the country choirs of western North Carolina; and an automobile parade that it is believed will be the most magnificent ever seen here. In the evening arrangements have been made for a mammoth fireworks display, and there will be music morning, afternoon and evening.

One other feature now planned for the day, which will be no means the least, is for the country merchants of the section to be entertained by the Asheville board of trade and the Asheville Merchants' association. A luncheon is planned for them at the Langren hotel. The purpose of this feature is to bring the business men of the section into closer touch with each other, and thus engender a closer spirit of co-operation for the up-building of the section. This is the idea to be followed out in the events of the entire day, a day for western North Carolina's benefit.

WANTS MORE INTEREST TAKEN IN THE FAIRS

Land and Industrial Office Has Catalogues of All for Distribution.

Col. T. Gilbert Wood, local agent of the land and industrial department of the Southern railway, is anxious to have the people of western North Carolina take a more lively interest in all the fairs of the state this year, as well as the central fair of the section here October 7-10, and local fairs. He considers the agricultural fair as the best medium through which to show what a section can produce, and for this reason thinks that western North Carolina should be represented at every one in the state, for he has little doubt that the products of the western section can compete most favorably with those of any other section of the state.

The fairs of the state, both large and small, have their dates so arranged that they do not conflict, and it would be an easy matter for exhibitors to take their products from one to the other. Col. Wood has secured the catalogues for all of them for distribution among those who are sufficiently interested to take the matter up of making exhibits, and these catalogues will be secured at his office here. The fairs of the section and state for which he has catalogues, with the dates set, are as follows:

Jackson County fair, Sylva, September 23-26; Haywood County fair, Waynesville, September 20-October 3; Central Carolina fair, Greensboro, October 14-17; McDowell County fair, Marion, October 15-18; North Carolina State fair, Raleigh, October 22-25; Charlotte fair, Charlotte, October 23-31.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Your hair gets soft, fluffy and luxuriant at once.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Dandruff.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fatten, loosen and die; the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff at any drug store or visit counter, apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of anything else advertised, that if you care for soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and are free from dandruff, you will say that the best investment you ever made was the purchase of Knowlton's Dandruff. It is the only hair preparation that will keep your hair soft and healthy.

The Schools of Asheville Have Large Enrollment

The different schools in and around Asheville have either opened for the fall term or will do so in the next few days. Nearly all of the schools report a large enrollment, some of them having more students this term than ever before. Additions have been built, teaching staffs enlarged and various other improvements made that add to the efficiency of the schools, the comfort of the students and the general beauty of the grounds and buildings, at many of the institutions.

The schools of Asheville show much advancement along progressive lines.

One who has not taken time to investigate can have no idea just what manner of schools there are in and near this city. When it is remembered that students come here from practically every southern state and many of the northern states, it can be realized what an influence they must have upon the social life of the city; as well as the fact that when they have finished many of them cast their lot here and become good business men.

Farm School.
The first of the farms to open the fall term was the Farm school, which opened on August 10, with a larger enrollment than ever before. Several changes have been made in the faculty, buildings repaired in a general way and the grounds improved. Special attention will be given this year to athletics, and already several teams are vying with each other for the school championship in baseball.

Weaver College.
Weaver college at Weaverville opened Monday, September 1, with Rev. W. A. Newell as president, with an enrollment of 90 students, the largest enrollment for an opening day lately recorded for this school. This body of students has grown until now there are nearly 125 who have registered for the term. Other students are expected to come within the next few days that will swell this number until the enrollment will be larger than ever in the history of the college.

Here too, many improvements have been made in the way of better equipment, and with a tendency to make the school more modern and sanitary.

Bingham School.
Bingham school opened its fall term on Thursday, September 4, with a very much larger enrollment of cadets than last year, and a great many more are to come within the next few days. Since the school ended last spring many improvements have been made at this school, among which is the large lake that has been constructed on the campus. The need of a lake has been apparent for several years but the water was never turned in until this year. Various improvements have been made in the class rooms, and the grounds have been made very beautiful. Cadets come to Bingham from nearly all the southern states, and they play an important part in the social life of the city. The uniformed cadets on the streets lend a pleasing touch to our already picturesque town.

North State Fitting School.
The North State fitting school, a private school for the training of boys, J. M. Roberts, principal, opened its term on Monday, September 8. This is the second year for this school and already it has been necessary to enlarge the class rooms and increase the faculty. Last year a large and up-to-date school equipment was installed and this has been added to until now the school takes care of a very large number of students.

Christ School.
Perhaps one of the best records for a school is to be full of students. This has been true of Christ school which opened today with an enrollment of 133 students. The students at this school all come from the country, none being admitted from any town or city whatever. Mrs. Susan Wetmore is the principal, and Rev. R. R. Harlin is the head-master of this school. The main work of the school is along industrial lines, although special attention is given to all the other branches that are usually taught in a school of this kind. A large stone building has only recently been erected, to be used for recitation rooms, auditorium, library and the school office. The faculty will remain about the same as last year.

Patton school for boys.
The Patton school for boys on Haywood street, will open on Monday, September 15, and the student body will be about as large as last year. Prof. Patton has conducted this school for several years and has built up a private school that has taken its place in the front rank. Full equipment was put in last year and no improvements are needed for this year if it is usual.

Wednesday, September 23, seems to be the favorite day for several of the larger schools to open; and on that day St. Genevieve's college and Hill-side convent, the Asheville school, the Asheville School for Girls and the Normal and Collegiate institute will have their openings.

St. Genevieve's.
St. Genevieve's will have an additional staff of teachers and many new courses will be added. New classrooms have been built and the buildings have been redecorated and painted, within and without. It is expected that a larger enrollment will be present this time than ever before. Several of the older teachers will be retained for this year, and together with the new ones will make a very large faculty. Special attention will be given to the primary department and the intermediate classes, and a larger number of the younger students are expected this year than last.

Normal and Collegiate.
The Normal and Collegiate institute will open with a full enrollment. Several classrooms have been added and the interior has been redecorated. Students at this school come from many states, the larger number from nearby counties.

Asheville School for Girls.
The Asheville School for Girls will hold its formal opening next Wednesday. The buildings have been thoroughly equipped and the faculty has been enlarged. A great deal of work has been done on the already beautiful campus, until now it presents a very pleasing appearance. This school will give special attention to day pupils and expects the enrollment among these to be the largest in the history of the school. Outdoor sports will be engaged in by the students, and many outdoor recitations will be held. It is planned to give the day pupils the same advantages that they would enjoy in a boarding school, even though they live at home. Miss May Carbutt Vassar, is the new principal of this school, and she will be ably assisted by a well equipped corps of teachers.

Asheville School.
Arrangements are being completed for the opening on the 17th of the Asheville school, and already reservations for dormitory rooms indicate that students will attend this school from many states in the north and east. A great many improvements have been made in the several buildings, and it is thought that everything will be in working order by the opening date. As usual the Asheville school boys will take a prominent part in the athletic contests that are played in and around Asheville. The school has already stood for the very best in athletic sports, and many friends of the institution go out to witness the different contests the students pull off.

COL. COHEN BACK FROM ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

Has Been in Knoxville at Conservation Exposition Laying His Plans.

Col. Sanford H. Cohen, manager of the Greater Western North Carolina association, who has been in Chattanooga and Knoxville for the past few days arranging for the advertising of this section during the reunion of the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic next week in the former city, and for the National Conservation exposition in the latter, has returned to Asheville for a short stay before taking up the two campaigns again. He will go to Chattanooga next week, while the reunion is being held, to look after the advertising campaign personally. Later he will return to Knoxville to continue the work there.

In both of these cities a large number of one-sheet posters have been put out telling of the western North Carolina section, and everywhere cards have been placed inviting the visitors to Chattanooga and Knoxville to come here for a stay before returning to their homes. Attention is called to the special stop-over privileges and low rates that have been provided by the Southern railway, and this advertising will be accompanied by a very extensive newspaper campaign for western North Carolina.

POSTOFFICE MADE RECEIPTS RECORD

The Increase for July and August $3871 Above That of Last Year.

During the past two months, July and August, the Asheville postoffice has established records for increase in receipts that have never before been equaled here. The increase for July over July, 1912, was $2113.17, while the increase for the past August over August, 1912, was $1757.83, making a total increase for these two months over the same period for last year of $3871.

Another fact of which the local postoffice authorities are proud is the amount of money shown to have been turned in free of all incumbrances, to the United States treasury during the past two months. The total is $7988.87—$4138.36 for July and $3848.51 for August. Last year the sum turned in for July was $2703.46, and for August $2717.74, a total of $5421.20. The increase for the two months of this year was $2565.67.

These amounts turned into the treasury represent net earnings of the local office. Every expense incurred in the running of the office was paid before the amounts named were turned over to Uncle Sam. These expenses include the salaries of the postmaster, assistant postmaster, clerks, 18 railway mail clerks, including their travel allowance, rents, water, lights, and every other large or incidental expense. Since last year there has been a considerable rise in the salaries paid both the office and railway clerks, and this fact is also in favor of the excellent showing made by the office.
