"BIG TIM" KILLED TWO WEEKS AGO

(Continued from page 1) them were saloon and racing and theatrical interests, in which his association was eagerly sought. At one time his fortune was estimated at more than two million dollars, but his satellites and parasites were constantly increasing and during the last few years his ventures were less successful.

Worry was the last ailment his friends could associate with Sullivan's sunny disposition, but it was worry, they agreed today, that finally broke down his keen mind and probably brought him to his death.

Had Not Served in This Congress. Washington, Sept. 13.—"Big Tim" Sullivan was elected to the congress now in session, but he never took his seat, because of his illness, and as far as records of the capitol show, he had not been in Washington since it began work.

He drew his pay, however, "by some mistake" according to pay his salary to those appointed by the New York courts to look after his affairs. He had been a representative in the fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth congresses and was then very active.

His death will necessitate a special election in the thirteenth New York district, which comprised New York county. That will be the fifth special election caused by death since the sixty-third congress began work in March.
