Sulzer Broker Asserts His Books Were Not Juggled to Hide Sulzer's Stock Transactions.

MRS. SULZER'S LOAN FROM CARNEGIE TRUST

Claim Renewed that Governor Went into Wall Street to Repay Debt Wife Owed.

By Associated Press.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Countersuit for the board of managers rested their case in the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Judge Herrick of counsel for Governor Sulzer then requested that the court adjourn until Monday next. On motion of Senator Brown the court went into executive session to decide the question.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Direct connection between "account 500" and Governor Sulzer was established today, when J. B. Gray, of the stock exchange firm of Fuller & Gray, who handled the account, testified before the impeachment court that Frederick L. Colwell told him that the stock transactions in the account were for the governor. Colwell was Sulzer's alleged "dummy."

Gray himself was not subpoenaed by the impeachment managers until yesterday owing to the inability of process servers to locate him. His attorney, former Judge Bell of York, was placed on the stand yesterday and requested to get into communication with Gray. This resulted in his appearance today. He said today that he had been attending to business in his various offices every day that the process servers had been searching for him.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Handwriting experts made their appearance today in the senate chamber where the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer is being held. Several signatures made by either the governor or his agents were in dispute. Bank employees who have been on the stand failed to identify them. Some were endorsements of checks and others were attached to letters.

The signature which counsel for the board of managers were very anxious in particular to identify was attached to a letter asking Harris & Fuller, New York brokers, to close the governor's accounts to Lieutenant Commander J. M. Josephthal. It was signed "William Sulzer, for Mrs. Sulzer."

Melville B. Fuller, testifying yesterday regarding this account, said that it represented a loan made to the governor, who had said the money went to pay obligations incurred by Mrs. Sulzer at the Carnegie Trust company of New York, now defunct.

The "cross entry" made in the governor's Harris & Fuller account, dated December 30, 1912, the day before his inauguration, also was in dispute. Counsel for the board of impeachment managers intimated that the entry was made later than this date. It made his debt for securities appear as a loan.

At the opening of the morning session Melville B. Fuller, of the brokerage firm of Harris & Fuller, was granted permission to make a personal statement to the court. Mr. Fuller read from a prepared copy. He first referred to headlines in various evening papers referring to his testimony yesterday. He said that he and his firm had been misrepresented.

"I have concealed nothing," the witness declared. "I testified frankly and freely before the Frawley committee, although I understood—"

At this point Attorney Stanchfield interrupted, claiming that comment on the Frawley committee, "exceeded the province of a personal statement." Judge Cullen sustained the attorney in his contention and told the witness that if he had been misrepresented in any newspaper he had recourse to the courts.

"But," interposed Attorney Marshall, of the governor's counsel, "he claims not only to have been misrepresented in the papers, but also that there were innuendoes from the counsel on the other side that reflected upon him and upon his firm."

Judge Cullen told the witness to confine himself to a personal statement.

President of Road Congress Talks on Selection of Proper Road Materials.

By Associated Press.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 1.—The sessions of the American Road congress now meeting here were today devoted to discussion of construction and maintenance and contracts.

Among those who read papers on various topics were Logan Waller Page, president of the congress, who discussed selection of materials for macadam roads; A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer of Wisconsin, whose subject was waterway structures; and Colonel Edmund A. Stevens, state highway commissioner of New Jersey, who told of treatment of worn-out and ravelled macadam surfaces. The discussion of contracts was not to be held until late today.

"Of all the factors which go to make up the perfect macadam road," said Mr. Page, "there is undoubtedly none more potent than that of the suitability of the material which enters its construction. There are two ways in which the engineer may avail himself of the information necessary to a proper selection of road material: "The first and only certain one is to make an actual service test on the material under observation and under the same conditions of traffic and climate to which the proposed road will be subjected.

"The second method is by means of short time laboratory tests to approximate as nearly as possible the destructive agencies to which the material will be subjected on the road."

A properly designed waterway structure should fulfill the following requirements, according to Mr. Hirst: "Waterways sufficient to carry off promptly the water coming to it; proper foundations to bear the loads, resist undermining and give long service; superstructures designed to bear for a long period of years any load which may legally be imposed upon it and so constructed as to serve the comfort and convenience of travel and economy of maintenance."

GARBAGE QUESTION PUZZLES CHICAGO

Refuse Reduction Company Will "Let Garbage Rot in the Alleys."

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Mayor Harrison early this morning called a special meeting of the council for tonight to determine some method of disposing of the city garbage. At midnight the plant of the Chicago Reduction company, which has taken care of the refuse, was closed, following the ignoring of the company's ultimatum, served yesterday upon city officials, that unless it was paid $42,000 in cash by 12 o'clock "we will let the garbage rot in Chicago's alleys."

Aroused by the menace of 700 tons of garbage accumulating daily in Chicago, many aldermen asserted today that the city would be justified in exercising its police power and seize the plant. A settlement with the company could be made later they said. As alternatives the city can dump the garbage in clay holes, considered a health menacing process or deodorize the refuse by sprinkling it with some solution.

Following the notice of the company, Commissioner of Public Works McGinn requisitioned every available scow and garbage wagon and dumped 1500 tons of garbage on the docks at the company's plant before midnight. It is said it will take the plant two days to dispose of it.

The company's act followed the failure of appraisers to agree upon the value of the plant. Mayor Harrison was hastily recalled from Canada, where he was on a vacation when the reduction company's intention became known. He held a meeting with his cabinet which lasted into the early hours of the morning, when it was decided to call a council meeting.

Charges of Corruption in the First South Carolina Congressional District before Committee.

LARGE AMOUNT OF MONEY WAS SPENT

Rumor Said Whaley Used $8,000 in One Charleston Precinct, Swears a Witness.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The house election committee today began an investigation of the charges that Representative Richard S. Whaley, of the first South Carolina district, obtained more money than is allowed by law.

H. F. Logan, a Charleston policeman, who said he was a worker in the two primaries held in the district before a candidate was chosen, testified that he spent about $2500 in those two campaigns in the interest of E. W. Hughes, a candidate opposing Whaley. He testified that Henry W. Friend told him that Whaley adherents spent about $2500 in the first campaign.

"How much did the Whaley supporters spend in the second?" Hogan was asked.

"I don't know," said the witness. "There was wise guys in the second campaign; nobody will never know how much they spent."

Hogan said Whaley met him before the first primaries and wanted him to "lighten up" in his work for Hughes. He said he was offered $50 to lighten up, but he refused it.

"I met Whaley once on the street," said Hogan. "He asked me to support him and I said 'I'm a Hughes man.' He said to me, 'I'm going to congress or I'm going broke.'"

Hogan said he spent about $1200 in the first campaign and $1600 in the second. He declared it was used in general campaign expenses. He said he kept a record of his expenditures, but could not find it before he came to Washington.

Steve Sargeant, an employe of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, who said he was a party worker for Hughes during the second primary, testified that he had heard that the two factions spent $13,000 in the ninth ward of Charleston at the second primary. He thought the Whaley forces put up $3000 of the total.

Boys Employed to Stand In Line to Get Tickets

Philadelphia Baseball Enthusiasts Hire Messenger Boys Who Will Wait All Sunday Night for Seat Sale to Begin—No Mail Orders Honored.

By Associated Press.

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—Philadelphia baseball enthusiasts who are anxious to secure tickets for the approaching world's series games are engaging boys to stand in line all night before the public sale for the contests to be staged in this city, opens on Monday, October 6.

"Companies which furnish messenger boys are making preparations to meet the unusual demand, and one company announced that the rate would be raised from 20 to 30 cents an hour for the service.

Although the baseball officials are endeavoring to keep the tickets out of the hands of speculators, it was reported today that one prospective dealer in the coveted pastebards had engaged 20 boys to stand in line from 9 o'clock Sunday night until 9 a. m. Monday, when the sale opens.

Under the rules adopted this year no mail orders will be honored, and each purchaser must buy tickets for three games in this city and no one will be permitted to buy more than two for each game. In case three games are not played here money for tickets not used will be returned to the purchasers.

The requirement that even those who desire to witness only one game must buy tickets for three, is causing some unfavorable comment among the local baseball followers.

BOY OF 15 KILLS SEVEN WITH AXE

Vine Cutter in French Vineyard Almost Exterminates Employer's Family.

By Associated Press.

Nantz, France, Oct. 1.—A crime of incredible savagery was committed yesterday by a 15-year-old boy who murdered with an axe no fewer than seven people in the village of Basbridge-en-Landreau in the department of the Loire-Inférieure.

The boy, Marcel Redureau, was employed as a vine cutter. He and his employer, Georges Mabit, were pressing grapes together yesterday evening when a discussion arose between them. Redureau became angry, seized an enormous axe and with a single blow cut Mabit's throat from ear to ear, killing him instantly.

The young murderer then entered his employer's house, holding his formidable weapon, dripping with blood, in his hand. He dashed up to Madame Mabit and slashed her throat until she was dead and then killed a servant in the same way.

Still with his dripping axe in his hand, the boy proceeded to another room where he dispatched his employer's mother and then followed this by killing three of Mabit's children. He spared a fourth child, 4-years old, lying by their side.

After completing his series of crimes Redureau went to bed and slept calmly until this morning. The bodies were discovered by villagers. After his arrest he made a complete confession.

MANY MILLIONAIRES IN SUDDEN POVERTY

Because Today, You Know, Is Personal Property Tax Day.

By Associated Press.

New York, Oct. 1.—By the convenient process of transferring their bank deposits to New Jersey or Connecticut institutions, wealthy residents of New York state are posing today as poorer by many millions. It is estimated that about $25,000,000 has been sent across the river to New Jersey, or over the Connecticut state border. The reason is that today is a personal property tax day and many possessors of wealth have long made it a custom to adopt this ruse to avoid taxation in New York state.

According to Lawson Purdy, president of the board of tax commissioners, however, the removal of accounts from New York city to other states does not exempt the owner from taxation on the deposits and he cannot avoid the tax unless he ventures a false path as to the amount of his personal property.

STOCK EXCHANGE SHOWS DECREASE IN BUSINESS

It Is Believed Figures Are Misleading, However—Members are Hopeful.

By Associated Press.

New York, Oct. 1.—Business in stock exchange for the nine months of the calendar year ending yesterday showed a marked falling off in comparison with the corresponding period of 1912, despite the greater activity and general price advances of the last few weeks.

At the close of yesterday's session a total of approximately $5,000,000 shares was recorded for the first three quarters of the year, while bond sales aggregated about $95,000,000. These totals represent a decrease of about $1,000,000 shares and $155,000,000 bonds compared with the same period last year.

To an extent, however, these figures are considered misleading for the reason that under the policy of reform inaugurated by the exchange early in the year the daily operations of the past few months are believed to represent more actual business than was transacted in former years, when manipulation often was of a flagrant character.

Brokers view the outlook as more hopeful than some months ago. This is indicated in the partial recovery of the price of stock exchange seats from their low price of the mid-year.

Conservation is still the keynote and that attitude may be expected to continue pending a better understanding of the tariff and currency bills and other recent factors.

REBELS LEAVE THEIR CAPITAL

Make No Attempt to Defend Piedras Negras When Warned to Safeguard Property.

EXODUS OF REFUGEES ACROSS THE BORDER

American Patrol at Eagle Pass Heavily Reinforced—Several Looters are Shot and Killed.

By Associated Press.

Piedras Negras, Oct. 1.—Confronted by an implied ultimatum that United States soldiers would be used to prevent the destruction of the international bridge here, as well as American property on the Mexican side, every responsible chief of the constitutionalist movement disappeared from his place, their military capital, sometime between midnight and 6 o'clock this morning. The town is left at the mercy of federal soldiers the latter make a filibustering attack from the American side of the river.

Several looters were shot down in the streets here today by constitutionalist troops, who sternly suppressed a spirit of anarchy which showed itself last night.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The state department today was advised that the commander of the Mexican rebels at Piedras Negras had given assurances that foreigners and their property will be afforded every protection so long as he is in command. Other reports received at the state department indicated that the Carranistas will not attempt to destroy the international bridges.

Many Mexicans Fleeing.

Although there has been a great exodus of refugees from Piedras Negras, Mexico, to Eagle Pass, Tex., within the last 24 hours, government officials here said today that only a small portion of them are Americans.

Hundreds of Mexicans have been concentrating in Piedras Negras from the interior of Coahuila and many of these, fearing for their safety in the event of the expected occupation of the constitutionalist capital by Mexican federalists, have sought an asylum on American soil.

War department officials are not alarmed over the situation now that the border patrol has been reinforced by additional soldiers from Fort Sam Houston.

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas took up with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hamlin today a complaint from H. L. Beach, one of the publishers of the San Antonio Light, that the government was discriminating against the Mexican constitutionalists in favor of the federalists in decisions relating to the neutrality proclamation.

Mr. Beach says federal representatives are buying horses, saddles and forage at San Antonio and that Assistant Secretary Hamlin has ruled the purchases not in violation of neutrality proclamation as not manufactured for military purposes. On the other hand, Mr. Beach declares that Colonel Ortega of the constitutionalist army has been prevented from exporting lard, flour and sugar for the constitutionalist troops.

Sheriff A. A. Kuhn of Dupage county made this assertion today. He added that he expected to have this man in custody when the inquest reopened tomorrow morning.

RESCUERS NEARING ENTOMBED MINER

Forty Feet of Rock and Coal Bars Way to Toshesky, However.

By Associated Press.

Centralla, Pa., Oct. 1.—The rescuing party at the Continental mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, which is trying to reach Thomas Toshesky, a miner who was entombed last Friday, this morning arrived at a point which showed that 40 feet of solid rock and coal would have to be cut through to enable them to crawl in and release the imprisoned man.

Toshesky was undergoing the terrific ordeal bravely this morning in his isolated little prison 100 feet below the surface. Frequently during the night he conversed with the rescuers, his remarks being heard very clearly through the 50 feet of tubing penetrating the coal breast from an adjoining chamber. He said water was dripping from the roof and that his prison was beginning to grow damp, while the atmosphere was becoming heavy. Mining experts said early today that unless he is soon rescued he would be in danger of perishing for want of fresh air.

Nearly every time he talked last night and today Toshesky asked about his wife and four children. He begged the rescuers to tell his wife that she should worry as little as possible. Officials of the company said today that Toshesky might be taken from the mine by nightfall.

MANY BILLS INTRODUCED IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Special to The Gazette-News.

Bryn Mawr Student Badly Injured When Automobile Hits Tree—Mysterious Man Escapes

Washington, Oct. 1.—When the ambulance arrived last night it turned out that Willie W. Mickle of Camden, S. C., was not as much in need of first aid as the policeman who had called for it thought. Mickle threw both the young intern and the driver out of the ambulance, and when he was finally subdued with the assistance of part of the crowd which gathered about, he was in no more need of hospital treatment than were those who had come for the "patient." After having reached the hospital he was profuse in his apologies.

Democratic objection to featuring of the conference agreement on rates was voiced in a meeting.

Movement is begun by Senator Reed.

Proposed compromise on the cotton futures tax one of matters up for consideration.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Action on the conference report on the administration tariff bill in the senate was delayed for at least a day as the result of the protest among certain democratic senators that further study should be given to certain conference decisions.

When the senate met at noon the democratic caucus called as a result of the protest had not concluded its discussions of the issues involved. Democratic leaders then decided to allow full discussion in the caucus and make no attempt to secure action on the bill today.

Senator Kern, the democratic caucus leader, and Chairman Simmons of the finance committee expressed the opinion this afternoon that the bill would be taken up tomorrow in the senate. The controversy over the proposed cotton futures tax may, however, further prolong the deliberations of the caucus.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Democratic members of the senate were called together in a party caucus today as the result of a movement begun last yesterday by senators who objected to certain features of the house and senate conference agreement on the tariff bill.

The petition for a caucus, started by Senator Reed and submitted to Democratic Leader Kern last night, contained enough names to induce the latter to call the caucus. It was signed by Senators Reed, Pomeroy, Hitchcock, Martine and others. One of the issues considered in the caucus was the proposed compromise in the cotton futures tax.

"We are simply insisting that the senate shall have sufficient time to study and familiarize itself with the conference report on the tariff bill," said Senator Reed. "Many things were put in and taken out of the bill by the conference committee and we demand the right to become very familiar with the scope of the bill. It is the same attitude that we take towards currency legislation."

New York, Oct. 1.—Lucille Singleton, 19 years old, daughter of a Texas mine owner and a student at Bryn Mawr college, was painfully and perhaps seriously injured last night when an automobile, listed as the property of Hermann Oelrichs, crashed into a tree in avoiding a Broadway street car.

A man who was riding in the motor car gave his name as Eugene Crighorn, but he disappeared before the police had a chance to question him further and his identity was a mystery.

It was said at the hospital that the young woman would probably recover.
