INFORMAL VOTE IS 43 TO 14 AGAINST

Court of Impeachment in Conference over Coming Vote on Charge Against Governor.

PUBLIC SESSION WILL
LATER BE BEGUN

Doubt Exists as to When The Verdict Will Be Returned
—Interest Intense.

By Associated Press
Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The high court of impeachment which is trying Governor William Sulzer adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock today to meet again at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at which time it was announced a start would be made on the final vote to determine the guilt or innocence of the governor.

It was reported that the court voted informally in its secret session this morning to remove the governor from office, by a ballot of 43 to 14. A vote to disqualify him from ever holding another office under the state was lost, it was said.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—When a verdict would be reached in the impeachment trial of Governor William Sulzer today depended entirely on the length of the speeches of his judges in explaining their votes. This applied to the speeches in secret sessions, one of which began with the opening of court today and the public sessions which follow.

Efforts to attach significance to the informal votes were denounced by many of the senators today as unjust, both to the members of the court itself and to the governor. It was pointed out that questions of fact were being discussed and decided in the case of each article, and also the legal admissibility of the article, and that while a member might vote to admit the article from a legal point of view on his informal vote he might decide either for or against it under the evidence when it came to his formal vote.

All of the eight articles of impeachment were scheduled to be discussed in the secret sessions and informal votes taken on them. This plan was for the purpose of giving each member of the court an opportunity to give his views and permit a mutual exchange of ideas regarding the law and the evidence. The first article was under formal discussion when court adjourned last night.

Long Delays, Likely.
It was expected at the opening of the court today that all the other articles would be covered informally and the vote reached today. Even after the final voting begins, there are likely to be long delays. Many of the court, besides the judges, are attorneys, and most of the legal minds desire to give lengthy explanations for their manner of voting.

There was no certainty this morning that all of the articles would be thrown into open court for a vote. As the informal discussion proceeded, the court was to decide if any of the articles were not substantiated by enough evidence to warrant their being left to vote on. Hence there is a possibility that the opponents of the attorneys for Governor Sulzer to the various articles will be disposed of in the informal discussions.

The discussion may end tonight and may not be completed before Friday, the last court day of the week. The trial has been in progress a month today.

Vote on Article First.
The eight articles will be voted on separately in order. Not until after the eight articles have been voted on will a vote be taken as to whether Governor Sulzer should be removed from office. Conviction on even one article would be sufficient ground on which to remove him, but, on the other hand, conviction on all of the articles need not mean necessarily that he would be cast out. He might be found guilty and still be permitted to retain his office. The extreme penalty would be removal from office and prohibition from ever again holding a position of honor or trust.

under the state law.
Before going into secret session this morning presiding Judge Cullen emphasized to the newspaper men the fact that the present sessions of the court were of the nature of a "private consultation between the members of the court, to formulate the views which will determine their final action," and that this action would be taken in public.

"In the Judge Barnard impeachment case," he said, "the vote was taken in private consultation. It is not the intention of the court to take the vote in that manner in this case. The vote will be taken in public. What is going on now is simply a private consultation between the members of the court to formulate their views which will determine their final action. It is the same procedure that is followed in every other court which is composed of more than one person, where the question is of sufficient gravity for a private consultation."
An extra guard of police was placed before the doors of the court this morning and those interested in the course of the trial were not allowed to congregate in the corridors.

WOMAN TESTIFIES IN KIEV MURDER

Madame Tcherbiak Says She
Was Offered $25,000 to Assume Guilt.

By Associated Press
View, Russia, Oct. 16.—Evidence was given today at the resumption of the trial of Mendel Belliss, for the murder of the boy, Andrew Yushinsky, in 1911, as an alleged Russian sacrifice, by Vera Tcherbiak, the mother of the murdered boy's playmate. She declared that the woman Maltzyk, who occupied a room above that of the Tcherbiaks, had denounced her owing to a long standing quarrel.
The witness also recounted her relations with a journalist, Brauzi Bruskovsky, who she said told her that her husband would lose his position in the postoffice unless he assisted in the discovery of the murderers.
Madame Tcherbiak swore that she was offered $25,000 to take the guilt on her own shoulders, those making the offer saying it was necessary to refute the charges against Belliss.

TWO PARTIES UNITE TO FIGHT TAMMANY HALL

Republicans and Progressives
of New York Compromise
Against Common Foe.

By Associated Press
New York, Oct. 16.—After many conferences, leaders of the progressive and republican parties in this city have agreed to unite in an effort to prevent Tammany hall from securing control of the next board of aldermen in all districts where progressive candidates are running against republican nominees. For aldermen with the exception of two or three, all progressive aldermanic candidates will be withdrawn. In consideration of this the republican organization will withdraw its assembly candidates in the district affected and support the progressive nominees.

Yesterday was the last day in which the declarations could be filed with the board of elections for candidates who had been nominated for offices to be filled at next month's elections, and several eleventh hour declarations were filed. The most notable was that of Oscar E. Straus, former minister to Turkey, who had been nominated for congress on the progressive ticket in the twentieth district. Mr. Straus was nominated while he was in Europe and he returned to this country only yesterday.

EXPECT VOTE TODAY ON PROHIBITION BILL

Measure in Tennessee Legislature
Will Probably Pass or Be Defeated by Night.

By Associated Press
Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 16.—When the Tennessee legislature began its session this morning it was expected that the prohibition law enforcement bills either would be passed or defeated before night. Friends of the bills were prepared to get them to a vote on final reading.
One of the measures—providing for the removal of county and city officials who do not enforce the prohibition laws—probably will not pass. It has strong opposition on the ground that it might be used for political purposes.

MAKE PROGRESS IN EATON CASE

Preliminaries Completed in Case in Which Woman Is Charged Murder of Husband.

DAUGHTER OF ACCUSED COMES TO TESTIFY

Courtroom Crowded with Spectators Eager to Hear Outline of Case for the Government.

By Associated Press
Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 16.—Preliminaries have been finished, the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, started in earnest today. The courtroom was filled with spectators, eager to hear the outline of the government's case to be presented by Assistant District Attorney Katzmann.
The opening statements of counsel was completed today and the first witnesses were heard. Miss Dorothy Almsworth, younger daughter of Mrs. Eaton by her first marriage, arrived here yesterday prepared to testify early in the trial. She was summoned by the prosecution and last night held a consultation with District Attorney Barker. Her sister, Miss June Keyes, planned to come here today.
"The prosecution contends and expects to show," said Mr. Katzmann, "that Mrs. Eaton met her death at the hands of his wife by the administration of poison. The commonwealth expects the jury to render a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree if the act is shown to have been committed by a rational being."
Mr. Katzmann indicated that jealousy was the motive for the alleged crime. He recounted the incidents of the admiral's courtship and his marriage to Mrs. Eaton and told of unsettled life in the household.
"This resulted," he said, "in Mrs. Eaton becoming irascible and developing the temperament which has brought her to her present pass. One form of this temperament was unfounded jealousy."
"For years," he said, "Mrs. Eaton had tried continually to have her husband adjudged insane. The foundation for those attempts, he said, was Mrs. Eaton's accusation in the summer of 1908 that her husband had poisoned a child adopted by them the previous spring. According to Mr. Katzmann, Mrs. Eaton wrote to Professor Whitney, the Harvard medical school chemist, to whom the child's stomach was sent for examination.
"I rely upon your finding poison in the stomach to have my husband declared insane," she is alleged to have written.
The official report, however, showed death to have been due to natural causes. The death of the child was followed, Mr. Katzmann said, by constant charges by Mrs. Eaton and by her daughter, Mrs. June Keyes, that the admiral was dabbling in poisons.
"Mrs. Eaton cried in the highways and the byways," he said, "that the admiral had poisoned the child and had tried to poison her and her daughters."
Poison in Stomach.
Prof. Whitney would testify Mr. Katzmann said, that his analysis of the admiral's stomach revealed the presence of 15 grains of the poison. Two grains was enough to kill.
In concluding the prosecutor said that if the jury should find that Mrs. Eaton committed the crime while laboring under hallucinations that constituted an irresistible impulse, the commonwealth would be satisfied with a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.
The presentation of evidence was then begun. Edward B. Hayward, a civil engineer, testified to the details of plans of the Eaton house made by him, and Undertaker Joseph L. Wadsworth told of preparing Admiral Eaton's body for burial.

WHITE HOUSE WEDDING CAUSES SOME ANXIETY

Many of Society Concerned as to Who Will Be Favored with Invitations.

By Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 16.—With the expected return of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson to the White House late today, official, diplomatic and resident society was in a flutter. It was generally recognized that Mrs. Wilson immediately would determine upon the list of those to be invited to the White House wedding next month when Miss Jessie Wilson is to become a bride. The list is understood to have been drafted tentatively, but Mrs. Wilson, it is said, is to be the censor and the mistress of all arrangements.
Anxiety in society is chiefly due to the fact that the wedding promises to be a comparatively quiet affair to which few outsiders will be asked. The Wilson connections are numerous and virtually all will be on hand. The bridegroom's family also is said to be a numerous one, and they, too, will attend. Because of this situation the cards of invitation probably will be sent only to those considered intimates and close friends of the White House family, and this, in itself, is a recognition that the unrest and anxiety in the breasts of many society leaders, Mrs. Wilson's arrival is expected to relieve the tension.

COMPULSORY VOTING IS FAVORED BY DANIELS

Navy Secretary Says State Should Compel Citizens to Cast Ballot.

By Associated Press
New Haven, Conn., Oct. 16.—In advocating compulsory voting, Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels, in the Yale News today says:
"We have come to a time in our national life when the compulsory ballot must decide for itself. Sovereign voters of this republic are abdicating the most important duty of citizenship. Hence the utmost and the right to desert the army in time of war? Should they be allowed in this way to desert, any more than a man should be allowed the right to desert the army when called upon, to obey any process of the court, however much he may object to giving testimony, to work on the roads in many districts, and to pay taxes whether he approves them or not, may we not also make it compulsory for him to vote?"
The chief and most far-reaching attribute of citizenship is the use of the ballot. If he can forget his duty, the state must compel him to recall it."

ORDER POSTPONED BY COMMISSION

La Grange and Vienna, Ga.,
Rate Cases Will Be Settled With Others.

By Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 16.—An order was issued by the interstate commerce commission today postponing until February 1 the effectiveness of the commission's orders in what are known as the La Grange and Vienna, Ga., cases in which it was held that the present adjustment of freight rates from Ohio and Mississippi river crossings to La Grange and from the same and from Birmingham, Ala., and Knoxville, Tenn., to Vienna, were unjustly discriminatory.
The commission announced today that it had before it several cases involving questions kindred to those in the La Grange and Vienna cases.
"It is therefore believed," the commission says, "that troublesome complications and possible increases of discrimination can better be avoided by dealing with the whole situation before it at one time, if found practicable, rather than by piecemeal disposition of these intimately related adjustments between various so-called trade centers or competitive points and intermediate points in that country."

FACTORY WILL BE ENLARGED

American Furniture Manufac-

Make Extensive Addition to Plant.

By Associated Press
Highland Light, Mass., Oct. 16.—Two more barges sunk and four more lives lost were additions today to the toll exacted by the northeast gale which has been sweeping the Massachusetts coast at an average speed of 60 miles an hour for the past three days.
The lost barges were Oakland, the crew of which perished yesterday in an attempt to reach shore, and the J. B. Thomas. Both had been left anchored off Pannet river.
The Thomas rode out the gale without trouble yesterday but this morning she had disappeared. Later in the day an empty lifeboat marked "J. B. Thomas" was cast upon the shore. The life savers at once began a search for the bodies of the four men in her crew.
The gale, which began on Monday, had taken a toll up to noon today of five vessels and seven lives. Most of the accidents were off Cape Cod, the record being:
Barge, J. B. Thomas, wrecked off Wellfleet. Four men lost.
Barge, Oakland, wrecked off Truro. Two lost.
Seine boat, wrecked off Sandwich. One lost.
Barge, Sumner R. Mead, wrecked off Wellfleet. All saved.
Schooner Henry D. May, wrecked off Chatham. All saved.
Other less serious accidents were the filling and beaching of the barge Knickerbocker at Falmouth; the carrying away of the sails of the schooner Henrietta A. Whitney off Chatham; and the rescue of the crew of the schooner Georgie Pearl off Nantucket.
The prospects for the present year's showing, it is understood, are even better than for the first year, despite this troubling of the capital stock. It is stated that orders are coming in much faster than can be filled, and that there are enough orders on hand now to keep the factory busy on full time until the first of the year. These facts are most encouraging to those who have boosted Asheville for years as a logical manufacturing point; as well as being indicative of sound business conditions in the city and section.
The new addition to the factory will be built during the winter, plans for it being under way at present. It is hoped that it will be completed by the early spring. The output of the factory will be very materially increased when the addition is occupied.

Six Parties Have Candidates

of the Entries.

By Associated Press
Boston, Oct. 16.—The entry list for the gubernatorial race at the state election on November 4 has practically closed with the addition of Governor Foss as an independent, making seven candidates in the running the largest in many years. The list is as follows:
Charles S. Bird of Walpole, progressive; Alfred H. Evas of Northampton, prohibition; Eugene N. Foss of Boston, independent; Augustus F. Gardner of Hamilton, republican; Arthur E. Reimer of Boston, socialist labor; David I. Walsh of Pittsburg, democratic; George H. Wrenn of Springfield, socialist.
The six parties have candidates for all state offices, but the democratic and republican are the only ones that have candidates in all senate and representative districts. In some of the representative districts the progressives have endorsed the democratic candidates.

By Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 16.—President Wilson today sent for Senators Hitchcock, Reed and O'Gorman, the three democrats of the senate banking committee who have been regarded as opposed to the administration program for currency legislation at the present session of congress.
The president saw the senators separately and conferred at length with them.
"The president feels," said Senator Hitchcock afterwards, "that to let the currency bill go over into the next session would seriously interfere with other parts of the administration program. I want to see democratic harmony and I should like to see the president's wish gratified. I do not want the administration program to be sacrificed, but on the other hand I do not wish to see the merits of the bill sacrificed."
"I think that even if we do get a report during the first week in November, which would be about two weeks after the hearings close, there would be difficulty in getting quick action on the floor of the senate."
The Nebraska senator was asked if he saw any prospect for passing the bill during the present session.
"Not yet," he replied.

WILL LEARN EFFECT OF TARIFF LAW ON REVENUE

Detailed Comparisons and Computations to Be Made by Secretary McAdoo.

By Associated Press
Washington, Oct. 16.—The actual effect of the new tariff law upon the government's revenue will presently be disclosed by detailed comparisons and computations now being made by Secretary McAdoo.

The estimates of expenses for all branches of the government are almost finished. President Wilson has promised word along for a sane economy and treasury officials interpreted it as to neither raise the estimates beyond what is necessary to provide a margin for the congressional appropriation committees to cut down, a practice charged by officials against past regimes, nor to stint any government service so much as to cripple it.

While the customs revenues have fluctuated too much to warrant any satisfactory estimate as to what may be expected, the internal revenue receipts are running up a normal increase all along the line, so far showing $4,000,000 ahead of the same period of the last fiscal year.
