

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE COSTS NO MORE THAN "SOMETHING JUST AS GOOD"

Why Take Chances.

For a woman to adorn her head with false braids, puffs and rats, or a man to wear a toupee, is like buying an off-brand hair preparation instead of Newbro's Herpicide. The "false hair" and the "off brand" are both substitutes for the real thing. The original is always conceded to be better than any imitation or substitute. "Something just as good" is a heresy of the roughest kind.

and stops falling hair. Its proper use before baldness appears makes false hair and wig unnecessary.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications may be obtained at good barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

INTERESTING CRIMINAL CASES ON THE DOCKET

Superior Court Convenes Monday for One Week—Some of Cases.

Superior court for the trial of criminal cases will convene here on Monday, November 3, for a session of one week, with Judge Frank Carter presiding. The docket of cases has been arranged and shows that 60 cases have been docketed, these cases including nearly everything in the catalogue of crime. There are 11 cases in which the defendants are charged with retaining; eleven of assault with deadly weapons; four of larceny; four of false pretense; four of assault; three of carrying concealed weapons; two of keeping liquors on hand for sale; two cases of a disorderly nature; one of embezzlement; one of kidnapping; and one case in which the defendant is charged with engaging in an affray. The remainder of the cases are of a more or less minor nature, in some of which the defendants have not as yet been apprehended, although true bills have been found against them by different grand juries in the past year.

Perhaps the most important case to come up at this session of court is that of E. F. Carr, former Southern Express messenger, who was arrested last fall on the charge of embezzling a sum of money from the express company. The grand jury of the January term of criminal court returned a true bill against him and the trial was set for the May term, at which time it was gone into and resulted in a mistrial. Carr was released on a bond of $2000. Carr comes from a prominent McDowell county family and it is understood that he has been at home since the trial last May.

His trial has been set for Thursday of next week. Solicitor Robert R. Reynolds will be assisted in the prosecution by the firm of Martin, Rollins & Wright, attorneys for the Southern Express company; and Carr will be represented by Jones & Williams, Fortune & Roberts of this city and D. M. Huggins of Brevard.

The case of Sam Edwards, who is charged with kidnapping, is on the docket for this term of court. Edwards is alleged to have kidnapped a small boy from his home in West Asheville sometime ago, and later the boy returned home and told strange tales of what had happened to him. Edwards was located in Madison county and returned here, giving bond for his appearance at the next term of court, and at the October session of criminal court the case was continued until this term.

Adam Wheeler is charged with abduction.

The case of Frank Lawson, colored, who is alleged to have swindled several negroes in this city with an insurance scheme he had developed, is on the present docket, he having been bound over to Superior court by Magistrate B. L. Lyda, several weeks ago.

The case against "Col." John Banks, for the removing of a landmark, is also on the docket and will doubtless be taken up at this term of court; and a similar case against Lum Jenkins is on the docket.

Another interesting case on the docket is that against Charles Towe, postoffice clerk who was fined $100 and the costs in Police court, on October 16, for an assault on a man with a sponge bowl. It is alleged that Towe had some words with a negro while in charge of the general delivery window at the postoffice and threw a sponge bowl at him, which struck a white man standing nearby. Towe appealed from the decision of the Police judge.

There is a case of a criminal nature against Mrs. Elizabeth Shaft on the present docket, which will probably be gone into at this term of court. It will be remembered that Mrs. Shaft was one of the defendants in the famous Myrtle Hawkins murder trial, which was held in Hendersonville in June of last year.

A jury list was drawn sometime ago for the men who will serve on the petit and grand juries, a list of which was published in The Gazette-News at the time.

ARRIVES IN ATLANTA WITH HER MIND BLANK

Case of Woman Who Boarded Train at Asheville Puzzles Atlanta Police.

The Atlanta Georgian yesterday carried a story about a woman who had arrived in Atlanta Wednesday night from Asheville, whose identification and the circumstances of her coming to Atlanta are in mystery.

"A woman, richly dressed and of handsome appearance, whose mind has been a blank since her arrival in Atlanta Wednesday night over an Atlanta and West Point train," says the Georgian, "has presented the police department of this city with one of the most baffling mysteries which it has confronted in some time. It became known Thursday afternoon.

"The woman is being treated at the Grady hospital in an effort to restore her mentality and clear up the mystery of her identification and explain the peculiar circumstances under which she came to Atlanta.

"At the hospital the patient at intervals has broken into speech, however her stories are conflicting. She gave her name as Miss V. M. McCarty and said that her home is in Detroit, Mich. Again she murmured that she had relatives in Atlanta, and mentioned a Mr. Walsh, whom she stated was a wealthy contractor here residing on Peachtree street. Police have been unable to trace the woman through any of her assertions.

"Fear that the woman had met with foul play at some nearby city and then drugged and placed on an Atlanta-bound train has caused the police to notify officials of other cities to investigate the case. While there are evidences in the woman's appearance which are characteristic of the effects of drugs, still the difficulty being experienced by hospital physicians in clearing up her mind would tend to deny this theory.

"The woman's eyes are dilated nearly to a bursting point, and her extreme nervousness, physicians declare, show that she had undergone some highly straining experience.

"Investigation through railway channels showed that the woman had boarded a train at Asheville, N. C., with a ticket for Atlanta. When she was discovered later the train had passed through the city and arrived at Newnan. Here railway officials transferred her to an Atlanta and West Point train for Atlanta. She was brought into the Terminal station at 11:55 Wednesday night.

"Dr. R. E. Gramling, with offices in the Empire building, was notified of the strange case and hurried to the Terminal station. Attaches of the station had been unable to get any information from the woman."

WEEKLY MEETING OF THE ALDERMEN

The Appalachian Park Association Endorsed—Only Few Routine Matters.

At the weekly meeting of the board of aldermen of the city last night, resolutions were adopted endorsing the work which is proposed by The Appalachian Park association, following similar action that had already been taken by Edward Buncombe chapter, D. A. R., the Asheville board of trade and the Asheville and Buncombe County Good Roads association. It was also voted to appropriate $25 to aid in the work proposed, thus evidencing the belief of the city fathers that the movement to open the section as a recreation, pleasure and health resort is an important one.

There were few matters of importance to come before the board last night, aside from routine business. The finance committee was authorized to sell the Louisville kindergarten building for $1000; the sanitary committee was authorized to purchase two mules from the Millard Livery company, and to sell one horse to that company; the sanitary and finance committees were asked to investigate the advisability of purchasing the Walker stables now used by the city, the owner having made a proposition to sell; and upon the petition of residents of Vivian and Dortch avenues to have their sidewalks improved, the street superintendent was instructed to put cinders along these thoroughfares at once.

The following were the building permits granted:

W. H. Westall, the construction of a barn on Chestnut street; estimated cost $2000.

Thomas Latta, the construction of a three-room residence on Mountain street; estimated cost $600.

M. Hobbs, the construction of two cottages on Fanola street; estimated cost $300 each.

Mrs. A. Burch, the construction of a four-room residence on Spears avenue; estimated cost $750.

City of Asheville, the construction of an incinerator on Williams street; estimated cost $9000.

James G. Stikeleather, the construction of a five-room residence on Herman avenue; estimated cost $600.

E. T. Logan, the construction of two five-room residences on Woodfin place; estimated cost $1500 each.

G. Bowden, repairs to residence on Seney street; estimated cost $100.

City of Asheville, the construction of three four-room residences and one five-room residence on Riverside drive; estimated cost $3000.

W. A. Hitt, the construction of a Broken in Health, Miserable, Suffering, For a Score of Years, Lady Came Safely Through Ordeal.

Johnson's Bayou, La.—Mrs. L. P. Somar of this town, who has been in a deplorable condition for years, now makes the following statement: "I was a great sufferer for 20 years with pains in my back, high side, headache and lower bowels, was very irregular, and also suffered terribly at times, with dizziness and faintness.

During this time, I tried six different doctors, but could get no relief. I heard of Cardul, the woman's tonic, and began taking it. After having taken a course of this treatment (8 bottles), according to directions, I feel no pain, am regular, am able to do all of my work and, in fact, feel like a new woman.

I can surely recommend Cardul, the woman's tonic, to all women suffering from female disorders."

Cardul is the ideal medicine for women. It is prepared especially for women, and contains ingredients which act directly on the weak womanly organs, thus helping to build up, in a gentle, natural way, the entire womanly constitution to a healthy condition.

The wonderful success which Cardul has attained, in its past 60 years of continuous use, is due principally to its merit. It has helped many hundreds of thousands of weak women. It will surely help you, too.

Try Cardul.

Concerning the Lazaron-Ryttenberg Wedding. The many friends in Asheville of Student-Rabbi Morris Lazaron will be interested in the following from the Cincinnati Times-Star of October 27, regarding the marriage of his sister: "The marriage of Miss Anita Lazaron of Mt. Auburn, to Dr. Charles Ryttenberg of Port Chester, N. Y., takes place Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents. She will be attended by her sister, Miss Bertha Lazaron, who will wear pink chiffon.

Tea Time in the Rue de la Paix. Just before the tea time, or at the end of that important function of the smart, idle world, to flaner (or saunter) along the Rue de la Paix when the short narrow street is lined on either side with splendid carriages, and where charming women, gowned in the last word at the modes, touch elbows as they crowd into or out of the tea rooms and shops and enter their waiting motor cars, is inevitably to fall under the thrall of compelling Paris.

The toilettes of this time of day allure in the graceful flou of soft silk and tulle drapings over lace and satin skirts. Between curved openings, or slit breaths, flash glimpses of pretty stockings and shoes—shoes of amazing variety—banded cothurns, strapped sandals, and shoes with the red or white heels of the more modern century, and the more modern shoes of shining black patent leather weighted with huge silver buckles, and the cut-steel buckles of the same favored period.

Though peopled by the same women it seems another world one enters the next morning during a flaner in the Bois. There the tailored costume is the fixed rule, and the little feet so coquettish yesterday are demure enough today in high shoes of varnished leather with uppers of colored cloth which match the costume. The flou of draperies has given way to a fascinating—almost masculine—severity of the tailleur.—The Critterion.

Social Happenings Personal Mention, Meetings of Societies

A Delightful Halloween Party. Mrs. C. H. Honess entertained yesterday at her home on Cumberland circle, with a Halloween party for her daughters, little Misses Elizabeth and Janet Honess. The party was decidedly in point of decoration and features of entertainment, one of the prettiest and most successful of recent children's events given in the city. Mrs. Honess' handsome residence was brightly lit with lanterns and effective Halloween pumpkins, the prevailing colors appearing in the decorations being yellow and black. In the dining room the scheme of decoration reached the highest degree of perfection, this room being arranged with a large center table covered with yellow and white crepe paper, ornamented at various points with black and yellow Halloween pumpkin faces, and containing in the center a large real pumpkin brightly illuminated and surrounded with a quantity of bananas, this center decoration reaching almost to the chandelier. The chandelier was softly shaded in yellow crepe paper fluted in black, and from the lights long golden streamers went to the four corners of the room. On the mantel a row of brightly lighted pumpkin faces were arranged, lending a cheer to the scene. On the dining table fruit, bonbons, cake, cream and other dainty refreshments were served the young guests. In a large room upstairs the features of entertainment of the party were given, these features being games, contests, and various Halloween sports. Across the end of the room two large curtains, artistically adorned with symbols of this eve preceding All Saints' day, were hung and one of the placing features of the party was the placing of the children behind these curtains with only the feet of the contestants in a showing and the presentation of a prize to the clever guest who was able to correctly guess the owner of the feet. Another game exciting much interest was pinning eyes in the proper place on a pumpkin face. In this contest Miss Lois George won the first prize, a black cat. The second prize, a witch, went to Miss Ruth Merrick, and the booby prize went to Miss Caroline Brown. Miss Helen Jackson received a dainty box of candy for successfully "bobbing" apples; Miss Helen Hunnicutt carried 20 peanuts across the room on a narrow knife blade in three minutes and was awarded a prize, and Miss Katherine Carr was also numbered among the prize winners. The favors were black cats and pumpkin faces. Mrs. Honess' guests were: Misses Lois George, Katherine Carr, Caroline Brown, Helen Jackson, Virginia Lee, Miss Emily Hewitt, Emily Smith, Ruth Merrick, Helen Millender, Lucy Millender and Helen Hunnicutt. Three guests expected at the party who were unable to be present were: Misses Louise Seely, Gertrude Seely and Mary Campbell.
