CRAIG ADVOCATES PARK MOVEMENT

Governor Urges People of This Section to Give Project Support.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS BEGUN

A Thousand in Asheville Expected to Join within Week—Entire South Shows Interest.

Governor Locke Craig, in an interview with a reporter for The Gazette-News yesterday, before he left for Raleigh, expressed his elation over the results accomplished and the enthusiasm aroused in Buncombe county and western North Carolina by the observance of "good roads days," which were set aside by him in a proclamation issued some time ago. He stated, however, that he wishes to appeal now for a still greater enthusiasm on the part of the people of this city, county and section in the work of the Appalachian Park association, of which he is president. He says that the development of good roads and the enthusiasm aroused over this work is only a stepping stone to the accomplishment of the purposes of the association, and it is necessary for the people of the section to get solidly behind the movement for increased forest reserves and the opening of the Southern Appalachian region for recreation, pleasure and health for the movement to succeed. Governor Craig stated that he has already enlisted the co-operation of other southern governors in the work of the association, and has received assurances of support from influential public men at Washington. He said that representatives of all the southern states and many from other sections of the country are now looking with interest for the attitude that is to be displayed regarding the movement in this section, and that it rests with the people of the home section as to whether or not these men will give their active support in securing the objects desired. No movement, he said, will be supported by outsiders that is not solidly supported by the people where it originates. Another point emphasized by Governor Craig is that the people of the west realized several years ago what was due them by the government in the extension of forest reserves and the establishment of national parks, and they secured what they wanted by united efforts. They now have the Yellowstone national park and hundreds of miles of the finest highways in the country through this and other parks. The Southern Appalachian section is entitled to just as much as were the people of the west, and they will get it if they stand together and work for it, in the opinion of Governor Craig. The matter now rests in their hands, he declares. Membership Campaign. The governor called attention to the fact that a campaign for membership in the association starts in Asheville today, and he termed it the greatest campaign ever launched in western North Carolina. He believes it the duty of every man, woman and child in Asheville to join the organization and hopes that within the next five days there will be a membership of at least 1000 in the city limits. A number of the leading local organizations have already endorsed the movement because their members realize that the greatest benefits will accrue to Asheville and this immediate vicinity, and now it remains with the citizens as individuals to give it their support. If the campaign for membership here proves a whirlwind success, then there will be no question but that it can be extended with even success to outside territory, for that endorsement will carry it through. To become a member of the association requires only a signature and the payment of the membership fee of 10 cents. Lists have been placed today at the following prominent places in the city, with savings banks placed for the reception of the fee: Office of the Greater Western North Carolina association, Citizens bank, American National bank, Wachovia bank, Battery Park bank, Central bank, Langren hotel, Battery Park hotel, Bon Marche, Fater's cigar store, Barber's cigar store, Pat McIntyre's drug store, Nicholas Carmichael's drug store, Nichols shoe store, Swannanoa-Berkley hotel, Glen Rock hotel, Smith's drug store, office of the clerk of Superior court and office of the city water department. They will be placed at other prominent places within a few days.

NEW LINE-UP ON MONEY BILL

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 7.—An entirely new line-up in the senate banking committee, with a majority behind the administration appeared yesterday when by a vote of seven to five the committee reconsidered its action reducing the number of regional reserve banks to four. Senators Reed and O'Gorman, the democrats who had been voting against the administration proposals cast their votes with the other democrats. Senator Hitchcock, democrat, held out but Senator Crawford, republican, joined the administration forces and the question was reopened. Whether the new line-up would hold through the vote on the resolution for seven regional banks was left in question. The administration won another point when the committee voted to retain on the federal reserve board as an ex-officio member, the secretary of the treasury. All of the amendments so far adopted by the committee, many of which are opposed by the administration, have been tentative only, and it was believed that if today's line-up held, all those amendments could be reconsidered and made more acceptable to President Wilson.

WEEKLY MARKET SUMMARY.

New York, Nov. 8.—Speculators in stocks marked time this week, awaiting developments to give them a definite lead. Sentiment was still bearish but the recent decline appeared to have discounted the effect of overhanging unfavorable influences, so far as they could be gauged. The movement of prices was alternately up and down and net changes in most cases were small. The uncertain status of this country's relations with Mexico continued to exercise an important influence on speculation. Traders were unwilling to take on stocks in view of the fact that some sudden development in the Mexican situation might upset the market. Reports from the steel and iron trade also figured largely in restricting speculation. Further reductions in prices were made, operations were curtailed in some cases and incoming business was said to be small. The one favorable development of the week, from the standpoint of the speculator, was the relaxation in money rates, following the squeeze at the end of October. Call funds were lowered materially. The effect of this tendency, however, was limited, inasmuch as it was recognized that next week's flurry in money was due merely to month-end financing and that a return to easier conditions this week was virtually certain.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, Nov. 8.—Stocks barely moved at the market opening today. Orders on hand at the beginning of the day, which usually give the market some appearance of life even in a dull season, were so small today that trading was stagnant at the outset. Variations from yesterday's close were restricted to slight fractions except in the case of cotton oil, which dropped 1/4.

TESTIMONY CONCLUDED IN CONSPIRACY CASE

Jury May Take Frank Defamation Case Tomorrow The Issues. Chicago, Nov. 8.—Hearing of testimony in the trial of Daniel Donahoe and Isaac Stifel, accused of the International Harvester company and now head of the M. Rumley company of LaPorte, Ind., was completed yesterday. The case is expected to go to the jury tomorrow. No witnesses other than those who testified as to character were introduced for the defense. Donahoe, a lawyer and Stifel, a detective, are alleged by Funk to have conspired to defame him in bringing a damage suit in which he was charged by John C. Henning, a bell boy, with alienating the affections of Mrs. Henning. Henning, his wife and collateral witnesses in the alleged conspiracy confessed after the collapse of the damage suit that they had been bribed by Donahoe or Stifel to testify against Funk. Alleen Heppner was indicted with Donahoe and Stifel but will be tried separately.

CHILD 6 YEARS OLD POINTS OUT THE MAN WHO KILLED MOTHER

By Associated Press. Chicago, Nov. 8.—Casamona Cirio, a six years old child whose mother was stabbed to death last Tuesday, pointed her finger at a man who stood among a score of other prisoners. "That's the man," she said. Three attempts were made by the police to develop any doubt that might be in the child's mind but she clung to her first assertion. The prisoner gave his name as Phillip Precia and said that he was at work at Argo, Ill., when the murder was committed. The police of New Orleans were asked to investigate a story told by a sister of the slain woman to the effect that Precia was implicated in the killing of two men in that city.

J. C. FORNEY RELEASED BY COURT'S ORDER

J. C. Forney, who was arrested here several weeks ago, on a fugitive warrant sworn out by a detective from Birmingham, where it was said that he was wanted for conducting a gambling table, was discharged by Judge Carter this week. Forney was arrested at a local hotel and placed in jail, but was released the next day on habeas corpus proceedings instituted by his counsel, Spears Reynolds. He was required to give a cash bond of $500 for his appearance in court from day to day, until final disposition was made of the case. In dismissing the prisoner, the court stated that it seemed that no requisition papers were forthcoming and that the city attorney had agreed to let the prisoner go.
