NEW STORAGE PLANT HAS BEEN COMPLETED

Will Hold Enough Ice in Case of Breakdown to Supply Greensboro Thirty days.

Special to The Gazette-News.
Greensboro, April 3.—The Arctic Ice and Coal company has just completed a large ice storage and cold storage plant on east Market street, which has been built as an addition to their plant that has been established there for several years. This new ice storage has a capacity of 2,000 tons and is built of brick and concrete throughout. Insulated with several inches of pure corkboard, it is as good a storage for ice as there is in the south.

The Arctic Ice and Coal company has expended a large amount in the construction of the building, merely for the protection of their trade, and of absolutely being assured of an ample supply of ice at all times. Under normal conditions the plants will considerably more than manufacture enough to take care of any demand, but their secretary and treasurer, H. E. Cartland, says there is always a possibility of machinery breaking down, right in the height of the season, and that if such a thing did occur it possibly would be a source of great loss and inconvenience not only to their company, but a great deal heavier one to the customers.

Hence this storage building, which is not only a credit to the town, but to this progressive company. The capacity of this storage which is now being filled with ice, will be sufficient to meet the requirements of their trade for 30 days in the height of the summer, so that the people of Greensboro can rest assured that there is no danger of an ice famine.

This company with its large capacity, and large storage, will be able not only to supply Greensboro, but any other towns that might run short.

STORY OF THE FOURTH "ADVENTURE OF KATHLYN"

The fourth picture of the "Adventures of Kathlyn," Selig's sensational series of the jungle tales, entitled "The Royal Slave," will be shown today at the Galax theatre. Record breaking crowds have attended the three pictures of the series which have been presented at this house and it is expected that still larger audiences will witness "The Royal Slave" this afternoon and evening at the Galax. Briefly, the story of this 4th installment is as follows:

After Kathlyn's escape from the temple of the lion she is followed through the jungle by some of the wild beasts and she takes refuge in a tree at the base of which is an idol. Among the branches of the tree is a rude hunting booth and in its temporary security she weaves for her hungry and snarling brutes soon gather around the tree and Kathlyn begins a dress of fibrous grass. The girls to fear for her safety. Bruce, the American hunter, has been on her trail ever since the elephant ran away with her following her escape from the lions in the arena and when he arrives at the foot of the tree he finds Kathlyn's tattered and torn temple gown. In the meantime a runaway maddened elephant belonging to a band of slave traders rushing through the jungle almost knocks down the tree in which Kathlyn had sought shelter and before she can get away she is captured by the pursuing slave traders who believe she is an escaped slave. The caste mark of a slave is placed on her forehead and in a few days she is put upon the auction block in the slave market of Allaha and, heavily veiled, she is sold to Prince Umballah who is furious when she reveals her identity. Kathlyn has sent word to Bruce of her peril but Umballah throws her into the same prison with her father, whom she has believed dead, and a joyful reunion ensues. The malignant Col. Hare that Kathlyn is now his slave and that he will do with her as he likes. Hare, inspired with fury and now possessing maniacal strength springs upon Umballah like a wild beast and bears him down upon the rocky floor of the dungeon. With this fourth installment closes.

All ladies attending today's exhibition of "The Royal Slave" the fourth picture of the "Adventures of Kathlyn" will be given postcard portraits of Miss Kathlyn Williams, the beautiful leading lady of the Selig Polyscope company, who so charmingly portrays the fearless heroine of Harold MacGarth's story.

THE HEROIC SPIRIT.
In the smallest occasion a man can be governed by the greatest of principles. The littleness of the events and the instruments we are dealing with are forever cheating us out of the true grandeur of life. The heroic spirit not only makes life heroic, but finds it so.

NEW TREATMENT FOR CROUP AND COLDS

Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption—No Stomach Dosing.
Plenty of fresh air in the bedroom and a good application of Vick's "Vapo-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve over the throat and chest will relieve all cold troubles quicker than internal medicine. Just apply Vick's and cover with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so that the vapors of Eucalyptol, Thymol, Camphor, and Menthol, released by the body warmth, may be inhaled all night long. Next morning the head is clear and phlegm loosened. In addition, Vick's is absorbed through the skin, taking out the tightness and soreness. Entirely external—the ideal treatment for the little folks. Three sizes—25c, 50c, and $1.00 at all dealers.

BODY AT LAST FOUND

Remains of Alonzo Weldon Taken From Neuse River by an Old Negro Monday.

Special to the Gazette-News.
Kinston, April 2.—Anderson Burnett, an old negro, Monday night heard the thunder and predicted that his five weeks search in Neuse river for the body of Alonzo Weldon, white, would cease. Yesterday Burnett joyfully paddled a skiff up to a sandy bight at a turn in the stream, towing in the wake of the boat a repulsive object. It was the corpse, come to the surface after lying on the bottom of the stream since late in February, when Weldon, a bridgekeeper, plunged from the Carolina railroad bridge over the river in southwest Kinston 50 feet to the water during a blizzard. The trestle was coated with ice and 10 inches of snow covered it. His task
