Military Prisoners Transforming Fort into New Correctional Barracks.

San Francisco, April 3 -- Military prisoners from Alcatraz island have begun reconstruction of old Fort Winfield Scott at the southern edge of the Golden Gate which has been selected ; by the war department for a new correctional barracks. When, about June 1, the job is completed the interior, once considered a masterpiece of defense work, will be a light, pleasant and comfortable living place for military offenders.

The men will be nominally prisoners. They will be organized into com-panles each with its own non-commissioned officer. They will wear army uniforms, minus insignia and whenever they show themselves desirous of fulfilling the duties they swore to perform they will be assigned to regiments in the regular military establishment to serve out their enlistments and receive honorable discharge.

Incorrigible persons will be separated from the first offenders and sent to Fort Leavenworth prison in Kanbut every man will have his chance.

Among relics dug up at the fort by the carpenters today was a "shot boilused to heat cannon balls red hot er so that when fired into the wooden hulis of the enemy's ships they would set the vessels aftre. Radiating from the holler were runaways, down which the shot rolled to the platforms, where they were picked up by tongs and loaded into the cannon.

The fort was completed in 1858 and cost a million and a quarter dollars. It was built under engineering supervision of Custis Lee, son of General Robert E. Lee.

The name "Fort Winfield Scott" is now perpetuated in the coast artillery posts of the Presidio military reservation on the bluffs behind the old fort.

UNUSUAL PROGRESS BY SUPREME COURT

Washington, April 3- Unprece-dented progress by the Supreme court in its year's work has brought em-barrassment to lawyers all over the country. They have been caught unprepared to present cases and have been compelled to ask the tribunal to page over many of them until next year. Chief Justice White was said to possess ambition to clear the docket of all cases awaiting argument except current business. When he became head of the court a case waited almost three years before being heard. When court adjourns the last day of May for the summer it promises to be considering cases filed only a year before. Instead of hearing only the first three hundred cases on the docket as was the practice a few years ago, the court this year may call cases as far along as No. 500.
