

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers"—said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

Says the Doctor:

"After a trying day visiting my patients, a chew of PICNIC TWIST soothes my nerves and calms and fits me for the morrow.

"It is the soft, mild leaf of PICNIC TWIST that is so satisfying. It does not possess the depressing 'after effect' of dark 'heavy' tobaccos. There's the same difference between PICNIC TWIST and 'heavy' tobacco as between a good cup of just right coffee and one that is muddy and overstrong."

The sweetness of PICNIC TWIST—its long lasting chew appeals to the men who know GOOD chewing tobacco.

DISTRICT MEETING OF JR. O. U. A. M. IN BREVARD

Interesting Program Last Evening—Meeting Will Close Tonight.

Robert R. Williams returned to the city this morning from Brevard, where he was a delegate from the Asheville council to the District meeting of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

The meeting last night in the Auditorium was open to the public and was largely attended. William E. Brees, Jr., delivered the address of welcome on behalf of Brevard and of the Brevard council of the order; and Robert R. Williams of Asheville responded for the visiting delegates.

District Deputy N. W. Fain made a short talk; the music for the occasion was furnished by the Brevard orchestra. Mr. Brees made the interesting statement in his address that among all the voters in Transylvania county there is but one foreign born citizen, T. H. Wood, and that he has been a resident of the county for 40 years.

This afternoon there was a business meeting of the delegates, and the convention will close with the meeting tonight.

Temperance

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

FROM A BUSINESS STANDPOINT.

(By REV. JOSEPH HENRY CROOKER.)

Let us see how the liquor trade works out as a business proposition in a small village of 3,000 people (counting the tributary country folk), with four saloons. As the average per capita expenditure for drink in the United States is over twenty dollars a year, on that basis this village would spend $60,000 annually for liquor. But, to be conservative, we will cut this in two and make it $30,000. That sum, very large for so small a community, we may set down as the charge against the saloons. The business gains from them are practically as follows: For license, $1,000 ($250 being the average village fee); for rent (the keepers living above their bar-rooms), $2,500; for household expenses of four families, $4,000 (a very high estimate); making $7,500 the amount of money which the business spends in the town—a very liberal calculation. That is, for every four dollars paid over the bar, only one comes back to the financial interests of the community. An outgo of four dollars and income of one dollar. Surely, not much profit in that!

Or to put the matter in another way: For every four dollars that goes into any one of those saloons, three dollars never comes out again to do business in that town; the grocer on one side loses a dollar's trade, the market on the other side loses a dollar's trade, and the merchant across the street also loses a dollar's trade for every hour throughout the year!

GROWTH OF BEACH RESORT.

According to the last census, Long Beach, Cal., is the fastest growing city in the United States. In 1902 the population was approximately 2,000; in 1910 it was nearly 20,000—a 685 per cent increase. Today its population is reckoned at 45,000. Long Beach is one of the youngest tourist resorts in southern California and has been "dry" many years. "Other coast cities are as favorably located as to climate, environment, and proximity to Los Angeles," says Mayor Wheaton, "and Long Beach is larger than any of them, its banks and bank clearings, and assessed valuation of property far surpassing them." The prohibition of the liquor traffic, he declares, has contributed more than anything else to this phenomenal growth and prosperity, 50 per cent of the population coming there, he believes, because it is a saloonless town.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT MAKERS.

Two visitors in Milwaukee, in attendance at a home missionary convention, went on a tour of inspection of the Schlitz Brewing company's plant, relates the Union Signal. In the course of their tour, one of them casually inquired of the man who was escorting them, "Has the work the women (meaning the W. C. T. U.) have been doing at all affected your business?" For answer the man pointed out of the window to a group of vacant buildings. "See them—not a wheel of machinery moving. Once we worked seven days and seven nights a week—now we have reduced it to three."

OPPOSITION TO LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

This from a Pennsylvania hotel keeper, who for four years was secretary of the Philadelphia Liquor Dealers' association and should know whereof he speaks: "Liquor men who say that all this agitation is being created by temperance cranks are not awake. The opposition comes from many men who have liquors in their cellars; it comes from the big corporations who are making this fight on economic grounds; it comes from big merchants—they themselves may drink and many of them do, but they don't want their employees to drink."

NOURISHMENT IN BEER.

It is now possible to demonstrate with mathematical certainty that, so far as enriching the blood is concerned, the flour that will lie on the point of a knife affords more nourishment than four measures of the best Bavarian beer; and that anybody who drinks a measure of beer daily would thus imbibe in one year about as much nourishment as is contained in a pound of bread.—Baron Justus von Liebig, in Chemische Briefe.

CHANCES OF MODERATION.

I weigh my words when I say that the man who habitually uses alcohol in so-called moderate quantities—the man who "takes it every day, but never was drunk in his life"—has, other things being equal, a substantially smaller chance of standing the strain.—Sir Arthur Chance, noted British surgeon.

A GOOD POINT.

The plea for compensation made by the liquor traffic, says a prohibition journal, loses its force in face of its own statement that prohibition does not prohibit, for it is true its property should be enhanced by reason of the increasing consumption.

WHO PAYS DRINK BILL?

John P. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, says that 99 per cent of the drink bill of the United States is contributed by the American laboring man.

THIS WILL INTEREST STOMACH SUFFERERS

Says Indigestion Comes From an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food digestion, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulenc, water-brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

GET-TOGETHER MEETING OF TANNERY EMPLOYES

Led by Rev. E. M. Hoyle—Arranged in the Form of an "Over-all" Banquet.

A number of the white employees of the Hans Rees' Sons' tannery met recently with Rev. E. M. Hoyle at the Haywood Street Methodist church in the first of a number of get-together and good fellowship meetings to be held. About 40 men were present. The affair was arranged in the form of an "overalls" banquet, each man present being obliged to wear overalls. Mr. Hoyle acted as toastmaster of the evening, and toasts were heard from several of the men. Addresses were delivered by Rev. J. H. Barnard, pastor of the Central M. E. church, and by C. P. Rieger of the Y. M. C. A. It is planned to hold a number of these fellowship gatherings, and it is expected that a much larger attendance will be had at the next meeting. Everyone enjoyed fully all the talks and the banquet which had been prepared by the missionary society of the church.

The shop meetings held at the tannery are conducted under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. and the banquet grew from the splendid interest that is being shown in all the meetings held there.

RALPH TOWNE, AMNESIA VICTIM, IDENTIFIED AS BOY FROM NEW HAVEN.

New York, April 5.—The youth who was found wandering in Park Row on March 14, and who was unable to give an account of himself, has been identified by his uncle here as Ralph Towne, of New Haven, Conn. The lad was found by his uncle in Volunteer hospital. "I've got you Steve," is the way he greeted his uncle, whom he knew at once. Young Towne said he could not remember how he got to New York. He was wearing a sweater with "R. H. S." woven on the front. This he said, he had borrowed in New Haven from a friend, a pupil in Springfield High School.
