CHANGES IN ROOMS FOR COURTHOUSE OFFICIALS

Grand Jury to Occupy Solicitor's Office; He Will Move to Other Side.

At a recent meeting of the county commissioners, Chairman W. E. Johnson and County Attorney J. W. Haynes were appointed a committee to arrange some change in the grand jury quarters at the county court house, in response to the report filed by the last grand jury. This jury recommended that changes be made before the next term of Superior court for the trial of criminal cases, which convenes here on July 12 for three weeks.

According to the plans now made by this committee the room now occupied by Solicitor J. E. Swain will be converted into a grand jury room; Farm Demonstrator E. D. Weaver will move from the room on the second floor now occupied by him, to the commissioners and auditor's room on the first floor; a partition will be placed in the farm demonstrator's room the college street side to be used by the solicitor for a private office and the remaining half to be used as a consultation room for the attorneys. The present grand jury room will be partitioned off and one half used by white female witnesses and the other half by colored female witnesses in attendance at the courts.

It is believed that these changes will meet with the approval of all those who are interested in the matter. It is planned to install lavatories in the waiting and rest rooms for the women witnesses on the third floor and to place chairs there for their use. The new grand jury room will be very convenient, having a connecting door to the court room and another leading into the lobby of the court house, on the second floor, for use by witnesses.

In making room for the attorneys it is the idea of the committee to remove the congestion in the judge's chamber, which is now also used by the attorneys as a consulting room.

These changes will be made, it is understood, in time for the new quarters to be ready for use by the time the next court convenes.

COUNTY BUYS ANOTHER BIG AUTOMOBILE TRUCK

Is a Duplicate of the White Truck Recently Purchased by County.

An order has just been placed by the county commissioners for another large motor truck from the White company. This truck will be a duplicate of the one recently purchased by the county and costs about $5,200.

A county official in speaking of the purchase, stated that it was his belief that the county was making the very best investment possible in buying the truck. The truck will do the work of 15 teams of mules, it is figured. The upkeep, according to this official, of the mules, drivers and wagons would be about $1,000 a month, while on the other hand the upkeep of the big motor truck is said to be about $250 a month.

It is the plan of the county commissioners to gradually dispense with all the teams now owned by the county, with the exception of one or two teams at each convict camp.

In the building of the Asheville-Weaver highway it is stated that the truck now being operated by the county is proving highly satisfactory and is saving a large amount of money in the work that can be done with it. It is planned to buy trailers for the trucks which will enable them to pull much larger loads and will be of great benefit when a convict camp is being moved or other property of the county has to be changed from one place to another.

The new truck will arrive here soon and will be put in use as soon as it comes.

CAPT. SNYDER WILL BE INSTRUCTOR AT MOREHEAD

Has Just Received Orders From Department—Likely to Remain Here.

Captain Oliver F. Snyder, U. S. army, who is military instructor at the Bingham school, has just received orders from the war department to report on July 5 at Camp Glenn, Morehead City, for duty with the North Carolina National guard at the annual encampment of the state troops at that place. The encampment of the North Carolina troops begins July 6 and will continue until August 3. In view of the fact that the Bingham school will start the fall term soon after the militia breaks camp, it is believed that Captain Snyder will remain at the school another year, although he has not received any orders to this effect. Adjutant General Lawrence W. Young will ask for the services of Captain Snyder at the National Rifle match which will be held at Jacksonville in October, to coach the North Carolina team. Captain Snyder is one of the crack shots of the United States army and the state officers are very much pleased over the prospects of securing Captain Snyder to coach the state team.

PENLAND LEAVES REFORM SCHOOL NEXT MONDAY

His Successor Will be Appointed at Meeting of County Board Saturday.

Superintendent Dick Penland of the Buncombe County Industrial school will only hold his office until next Monday, at which time his resignation, which was submitted to the county board of commissioners several weeks ago, will take effect. Chairman W. E. Johnson of the county commissioners stated that the board would elect a successor to Mr. Penland at a meeting of the board to be held next Saturday. It is understood that several applications have been received by the county commissioners, from men desiring to fill the position and it is expected that several others will be filed between now and the time the board meets on Saturday. All of those who have made application are residents of this city and county and it is not thought that any one residing outside Buncombe county will ask for the place. Mr. Penland states that he will retire to his farm in the Hixson section and expects to devote his time to farming. He has been the only superintendent at the school since it was established here several years ago through the efforts of the county commissioners and board of aldermen. His work has been done very satisfactorily and those who have visited the institution and noticed the work he has done there regret very much to know that Mr. Penland has decided that he will not remain.

In the cases in which they were tried Wednesday they were taxed with the costs, which amounted to $8.15 each and prayer for judgment was continued until January 1.

'ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE' AT MAJESTIC NEXT WEEK

Norman Hackett - Billy Long Will Present Play From O. Henry's Story.

The production of "Alias Jimmy Valentine" by the Norman Hackett-Billy Long players at the Majestic next week, has aroused unusual interest here, on account of it being founded on O. Henry's famous story, "A Retrieved Reformation." O. Henry was a native of North Carolina and resided in Asheville for several years and is buried here. Two years ago it will be remembered that Mr. Hackett starred in "A Double Deceiver," an O. Henry story and in each North Carolina city he visited gave ten per cent of his gross receipts to the memorial fund. In this way he raised over $600, besides lecturing in each city on the life and writings of Mr. Porter, "O. Henry," thereby making his tour a campaign of education as well as about the noted southern writer. No doubt many people of Asheville will see Mr. Hackett in the role of "Alias Jimmy Valentine" next week, a role he has frequently played with great success.

MAJOR CLEMINGER FIRST TO FINISH OFFICERS SCHOOL

High Praise for Local Officer Received by Adjutant General L. W. Young.

A message received here from Adjutant General Lawrence W. Young is to the effect that Major Francis J. Cleminger of this city has satisfactorily completed his course of instruction in the school for officers at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and is now qualified to instruct. General Young has just received from the chief of division of military affairs the above information in regard to Major Cleminger and the communication also states that Major Cleminger is recommended for appointment to an administrative office in any volunteer force. The state officials are showing a great deal of pleasure over the announcement concerning Major Cleminger, owing to the fact that he is the first officer of the National guard to qualify in the school. He has been in attendance at the school for the past two months, having recently returned to his home in this city.

German Ambassador In Norway Gets Criticism

Christiania, June 11.—The criticisms of the action of Count von Oberndorf, the German ambassador to Norway, in addressing the Norwegian people through the general press bureau in a letter at which the newspapers took offense, has been even more widespread than was indicated in the cable reports. From the outbreak of the war Count von Oberndorf is said to have attempted to exercise a strong pressure on the Norwegian press, and to have been successful in keeping it from publishing criticisms of German methods of warfare and the treatment of Norwegian merchant ships, particularly. His influence through the Norwegian foreign office was said to have been indicated by occasional notes from the department of foreign affairs, requesting that certain reports unfavorable to Germany were not to be mentioned in a critical light, for the sake of Norway's neutrality. The torpedoing of the Lusitania was the first occasion on which the Norwegian press voiced its criticisms of German methods, and the articles that followed treated of the incident in strong terms. It appears that the coincidental receipt of two anonymous letters by Count von Oberndorf concerning the emperor of Germany, led the ambassador to issue an address to the Norwegian people through the general press bureau. Some of the leading papers refused to publish his statement, while those who did print it accompanied it with strong adverse comment on the propriety of his action. One of the examples of the outspoken way in which the newspapers treated the incident is seen in the Norwegian Shipping Gazette, which says: "When the representative of the German emperor chooses to address the Norwegian people over the head of King Haakon and his cabinet, he has thereby relinquished the respect generally shown representatives of foreign powers at the Norwegian court." AVERAGE 17-HOURS GERMAN'S WORK DAY Amsterdam, June 11.—A workman employed in the manufacture of ammunition for the German army at Dusseldorf has achieved the record of an average of 17-hour day. He put in 460 hours during the past month, or a daily average of seventeen hours for 26 days. This is probably a world's record. The man's wages were about 18 cents an hour, and his total earnings for the month reached $87.60.
