

Englishman, Now German Gives His Views of War

Berlin, Nov. 15.—Houston Stewart Chamberlain, who, although the son of an English admiral, has become a German, has contributed to one of the Hamburg newspapers a statement of his views on the present and future relations between England and Germany.

He is convinced that the war between the two countries will last for at least a hundred years.

He does not mean, he explains, that the present fighting will continue for so long a time, but rather that an international struggle has commenced in which the world-war is but a phase.

The German word 'kreig,' observes Chamberlain, "means much more than the English word 'war' or the French 'guerre'; it really signifies an intimate persistence in the endeavor to accomplish some purpose. In this sense, the war between England and Germany was long feared, and every effort was made to avert it, but in the end it was wantonly brought about, for we must steel ourselves, for the contest will be conducted as bitterly after peace has been concluded as it is being conducted now."

The Germans will easily mend their relations with Italy and Russia, declares Chamberlain. France is likely to be a disturbing element, but he is convinced that force and sagacity will ultimately master that difficulty.

With England, however, the matter is different. For the struggle between England and Germany is no mere fight for physical ascendancy. Each nation wishes to secure the ascendancy for its world philosophy. The essential aim of the English Weltanschauung is the development of the will; the German is devoted to artistically directed knowledge and action.

"The English philosophy produces energetic, able, but ignorant undisciplined individuals, whereas the German method produces great mental power in the individual and the obedient submission of all to one great purpose. Thus, the average Englishman is not nearly so well educated as the German, and is less given to reflection."

A situation has now arisen, the writer contends, which will continue until one nation subjugates the other, for the two cannot possibly live on the same footing near and with one another. Diplomatic agreements and courts of arbitration cannot in any way affect such a situation, for this is a war between two ideals of life, and it must be fought out, in war with fire arms and in peace with intellectual weapons.

"There is no need for hatred in this war," says Chamberlain, "and the German may properly perceive and acknowledge all the excellent things accomplished by the English method of life and thought."

"But it is impossible by any argument or proof to convince the Englishman that he and his race are not predestined to rule the earth. The only way to teach the Englishman that he is wrong is to compel him by force to recognize it. Once Germany holds the power in its hand, it can permit the English and others to follow the bent of their own minds in their own sphere. But in the meantime Germany must be strong and inflexible."

Southern Iron Industry Pushed To Capacity Limit

Baltimore, Nov. 15.—Reviewing the business activities of the south, the Manufacturers Record reports "the iron industry of the south is being pushed to the limit of present producing capacity, with a further increase reported in prices of pig-iron. A number of furnaces, long idle, are being made ready to blow in as quickly as possible to take care of the heavily increasing consumption of pig-iron."

But as yet the iron and steel interests of this section have not advanced in proportion to the amazing increase in producing capacity throughout the west and the east.

The present production of iron in the United States is exceeding 100,000 tons a day, and of this the south makes only about 10 per cent due to the fact that iron and steel development in the south has not yet kept pace by increased capacity with the progress in the west.

Among the industrial enterprises reported to the Manufacturers Record from various parts of the south for the week as the following: Bibb Manufacturing company, Columbus, Ga., is preparing to build an additional mill to be equipped with 15,000 spindles. The Sylvan Cotton mills, Shelbyville, Tenn., is having plans prepared for a mill of 10,000 spindles as an addition to its present plant. G. E. Miller, Chattanooga, Tenn., and associates are planning to build a cotton mill. The Avondale Mills, Birmingham, is reported as to build a three story mill at Sylacauga, Ala., and to equip it for manufacturing waste product from the three mills owned by the company at Birmingham and Sylacauga.

W. R. Bousal company has been incorporated at Hamlet, N. C., with $200,000 capital stock to mine and handle sand, gravel, etc.

The South Florida Farms company, of Miami, Fla., has awarded a contract for the construction of 100 miles of canals and 100,000 acres of land in De Soto counties.

The Fisheries company of Arkansas Pass, Tex., proposes to spend $100,000 to enlarge its plant for the manufacture of oil and fertilizers from fish.

J. J. Kane, Galveston, Tex., who was recently reported as to establish a $500,000 shipbuilding plant, proposes now, in connection with New York capital, to enlarge the enterprise and construct a plant at a cost of $1,000,000.

The Standard Sulphur company, of New Orleans has been incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000 to develop oil and sulphur properties in Calcasieu parish.

"These are a few of the many enterprises reported from all parts of the south, covering a very wide range of industries and indicating a general tendency towards a revival of industrial activities."

Lumber and naval stores, as well as iron, have been advancing rapidly in price, with a much heavier movement and this better condition in iron, lumber, naval stores and other interests is showing itself in a rapidly growing freight traffic on Southern roads, with many lines ordering, or preparing to order, additional rolling stock to meet the heavy traffic, now in sight.

A WAY OUT

Resident of Asheville Shows the Way.

There's one effective way to relieve any backache. Liniment and plasters may relieve, but they seldom reach the cause. Backache is caused by the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are for distressed kidneys.

Asheville people back them up. Read a case of it.

Mrs. G. B. Turner, 44 Holland St., Asheville, says: "My back pained me so that it was almost impossible for me to get up or down. I tried different remedies, but nothing helped me until I started using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Smith's Drug Store, and made me feel better."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Dr. Turner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW YORKERS GIVE ASHEVILLE PRAISE

Dr. Roger P. O'Neill and W. F. Meehan of New York are visitors in Asheville who say that the full story of the beauty and attractiveness of this section cannot be expressed in advertising literature, no matter how skillfully the words are chosen. Having read Asheville booklets, these gentlemen, both of whom are great travelers, decided to spend a brief vacation here. They are guests at the Battery Park hotel.

At the board of trade offices this morning they gave the chief recreation region of the mountains some of the most enthusiastic praise it has received from tourists. Dr. O'Neill declared that after some acquaintance with many famous resorts in the United States and Europe he found this the "most come backable" place he has seen. The New Yorkers said that they expected to send many of their friends to the Land of the Sky.
