AMERICAN SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION MEETS IN ASHEVILLE DECEMBER 7-12

Officers and Missionaries of Big Society Will Assemble Here For Annual Convention of Southern District—Union Establishes 1,400 Sunday Schools Every Year.

Officers and missionaries of the American Sunday school union for the southern district of the United States will meet at the First Baptist church in Asheville, December 7-12 for the annual meeting. About 200 delegates are expected to be present. The District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Kentucky comprise the territory which will send representatives to the gathering. Charles French Toms of this city is one of the vice presidents, was largely instrumental in securing the meeting for Asheville.

An interesting program has been prepared for the sessions which will begin on Tuesday night, December 7. Every phase of Sunday school work in cities and rural communities will be discussed by men familiar with the work. Besides the members of the Baptist church, there will be a number of local ministers of other denominations who will appear before the conference to deliver addresses. The conferences are held each year and great good is accomplished for the Sunday schools.

The work of the union is interdenominational in character and the public is cordially invited to attend the meetings of the Asheville conference. The institution is organizing more Sunday schools than any other society in the world. During the 55 years of its existence it has established an average of 1,400 new schools annually.

The secretary of the Asheville board of trade is writing letters to all the vice presidents of the union calling attention to the conference at Asheville and urging them to attend. The program follows:

OCT. LIGHT FOR THE REVENUE MEN

Report From Greensboro Division For Past Month Shows Expense Cut In Half.

Reports received by Revenue Agent W. H. Chapman at Greensboro disclose the seizure and destruction of but 69 illicit distilleries in the Greensboro division during October. Of the total, 35 of these were taken in the fifth North Carolina district, twenty-two in the fourth North Carolina and two in the district of South Carolina. The destruction of equipment, spirits and beer was, to say the least, far below the average, as was the case with the plants. It has been months, even years, since the number of stills captured in a single month has totalled as little as 69.

There are many reasons advanced in explanation of this low record, but most of them would have been applicable for any October of the past. Among these are that the distillers are busy gathering their corn or attending to other farm duties, where they have farms; that new corn does not make very good liquor and old corn was high in price; and that many of the revenue raiders were attending sessions of District court. Colonel Chapman is of the belief that blocking is finally on the decline; and that, of course, would be another good reason.

But there is one contributing factor that is new and may furnish explanation for the low record. On October 1 there went into effect a ruling of the department that guides and possemen would not receive fees for going on any raid unless a copper was taken. It was thought in the beginning that this would eliminate most of the unsuccessful raiding; and there seems to be a strong possibility now that it has eliminated some that might have proved successful.

But even if the showing made by officers is reduced, Uncle Samuel will find consolation in the fact that the cost of the work has been reduced in much greater proportions. Expenses last month in the Greensboro division according to the revenue agent, were more than cut in half in comparison with the ordinary run of expenditures during past months.

It is not to be taken that revenue activities are becoming nil, however, for only Saturday reports were received here of the seizure and destruction of four illicit plants. Two of these were taken in Transylvania county by Deputy Collector Galloway and Special Employee Caba, one in Rutherford by Deputy Collector Rhyme, and one in Wilkes by Deputy Dancy and Special Employee Taylor.

Smith—Why so?

HUNTING SEASON IS OPEN TODAY

Quail Can Be Killed in This County—Said to Be Plentiful—Bag Limit 25 Per Day.

The hunting season was opened in Buncombe county yesterday and several sportsmen left during the early hours for sports they had selected during the past few weeks where they expect to find many members of the feathered tribe. Quail can be killed in Buncombe county between November 15 and January 1, provided the hunter obeys the law in doing so.

The bag limit is 25 quail per day per hunter, but one of the most important things to be kept in mind is that permission to hunt on another's land must be secured, or the law will be violated when the hunter enters the property of another.

The season for killing quail also opened in Henderson and Madison this morning, the former allowing quail to be killed until January 15, while in Madison county the time extends to February 1.

Those who keep up with the game of this section state that quail can be found in large numbers in almost any section of the three counties mentioned. It is expected that many hunters will be seen in the fields within the next few weeks.

WAKE FOREST TO PLAY GAME HERE

Basketball Game Arranged With Y. M. C. A. For Dec. 11—Other Games Scheduled.

The manager of the Y. M. C. A. first basketball team has just arranged a game with Wake Forest college to be played here on the night of December 23. It is expected that this game will be among the best which the local team will play this season, the Wake Forest team having unusually strong players this year, according to advance dope received here.

The game scheduled with the team from Keewatin, Wis., has been changed to January 11, at the suggestion of the visitors. They will pass through Asheville on a long southern tour.

Already games have been arranged with Elon college and Trinity college, besides the two mentioned above, and other games are being arranged with some of the leading basketball teams in the south.

Old Time Temperance. Germany would seem to have given the lead in the matter of temperance societies. On Jan. 18, 1517, a man named Sigismund de Dietrichshagen formed the Order of St. Christopher, and in 1600 the landgrave of Hesse formed the Order of Temperance, both societies aiming at the promotion of moderation. What moderation meant in bygone Germany may be gathered from the fact that members of the first order pledged themselves to abstain from toast drinking, while those of the second were pledged "not to drink more than seven glasses of liquor at a time and that not oftener than twice a day."

There's no objection to a man taking up his residence almost anywhere, but when it comes to abstinence—that is different.—Chicago News.
