Favorably Received. Mr. Hull has talked over the proposition with a number of men in Asheville familiar with financial questions and it is believed that there is a place for such an institlition in this community. The proposed company would start business with a capital of $50,000 25 per cent of which would be sub-scribed by the Industrial Finance company. Mr. Hull states that overhead charges of operation are small under this plan. One bookkeeper can handle all the accounting necessary; no legal reserve is required; the loans are secured by the endorsers and by the cortificates. A paid discount committee passes carefully on all applications for cans and the endorser is protected by the privilege of continuing any pay ments that may fail on account of death or disability of the principal on It is expected that an in surance feature will at an early date e added to further protect endersers against death of the borrower.

Originator of Plan. The Morris Plan company of Salis-sury last year made a handsome profit on its business and the people of that city appear to be well pleased with the operation of the organization. The Industrial Finance company is capitalized at $7,000,000, $2,000,000 of which is paid in, it is stated, Arthur Morris is originator of the idea, which proposes to do for persons of all classes what it is proposed for the government to do for the farmers through rural banking organizations, The plan was first placed 'n operatio time similar institutions have been formed in other cities. The system is a familiar one in European countries where, it is stated, it is much easier for persons in limited financial circuma familiar one in European countrie stances to horrow money than it has ever been in the United States.

Health Talks BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

One Good Thing About Breweries

THE old, chronic varicose or leg ulcer which is covered with a dry, resistant, indurated slough is one of the most discouraging conditions to treat. Any one who suffers with such an ulcer will do well to consider what the brewery has to offer in the way of treatment.

The suggestion, so far as we are aware, was originally made by the late Dr. Roswell Park, the distinguished surgeon, author and teacher of Buffalo, N. Y. We have found it very valuable, and only our inborn hatred for breweries and all their works has prevented us from passing the information on to our readers. Now, however, the poor breweries are having a pretty hard time keeping their heads above water; further-more they have been remarkably courteous and accommodating in furnishing quantities of their by-product for our patients, so we must suppress our racial antipathy and speak the truth about an excellent remedy

-brewer's yeast.

Any old sore that is covered with a dirty, gangrenous or resistant slough, or any ulcer which refuses to assume the bright red, granular, velvety appearance of a healing wound (granulating surface) may be would (granuating surface) may be treated with brewer's yeast to good advantage. The yeast is obtained fresh every two or three days from the brewery in a wide-mouthed jar or pail—a quart or so at a time—and kept in the refrigerator. If the brewer's real product tastes and acts as well as this by-product smells we do not blame the few million people who consume the former.

Apply the semi-fluid yeast on sterile gauze folded in several thick-nesses. First bathe the ulcer thoroughly in sterile water. Over the gauze apply a layer of rubber dam such as dentists use, or a square of ofled silk, or a piece of oiled or waxed paper, to prevent too rapid drying of the yeast. Then a little cotton for padding, and finally a snug bandage, preferably an elastic, an ideal, or a woolen flannel bandage made from flannel cut on the bias.

The yeast smarts a little at first. will clean up the ulcer and institute healthy healing. It must be changed about every eight hours. At each re-dressing bathe the ulcer gen-tly with warm boiled water, but avoid touching it with anything-just pour the water over it to remove all the yeast and any secretions from the

The yeast dressings may be kept up for a week, more or less, until the ulcer becomes fairly clean.

Advertising Advertising is what nothing was ever sold without

If a loaf of bread is sold to a tramp who managed to glom onto a jitney, it had been advertised by the tramp's hunger and by somebody who told the bo where the $O_{\overline{\lambda}}$ by the window of the bakery itself.

There isn't a human being who doesn't believe in advertising. If he really doesn't, he had better commit suicide.

And that will give him a lot of publicity that nobody can cash in The man who claims not to believe in advertising is a-well, let

Roosevelt say it. This boob is anxious for every-body to tell other people that his place is a good one to trade. But he won't give the advertiser anything for telling the other folks.

He is a something-for-nothing tightwad. The man who puts on good clothes advertises his own respectability, and expects results in the shape of the respect of others.

The man who dresses poorly be
