HAVE PURE BLOOD

Your heart, works night and day without a pause. It is the principal organ of the circulation of your blood. It is of the utmost importance that it should do its work well. There is no better blood remedy, appetizer, stomach tonic. It embodies the careful training, experience, and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure.

You have been persuaded to buy so many new brands of flour, each one for the reason it was whiter than the other, and in most instances you received what you bought, until it has reached the point that color is about all you are getting. Now is color really what you want? Probably you have not thought a great deal about it, but the probability is you really eat and want biscuits, rolls and bread for two prime reasons—palatability, and nourishment, now isn't that really a fact? It is also a fact that Kansas hard wheat is the richest in nutriment of any wheat, and ground by a patented slow process, makes Larabee's Best Flour the most pleasing to the taste, as well as the most nourishing food. Think this over when you buy flour. For sale at your Grocer's.

FOREST CITY NOTES

Forest City, March 25.—Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. and Mrs. Albert S. Bridges gave in marriage their daughter, Miss Annie Belle Bridges, to Charles Armstrong Gibson of Hamlet. The ceremony was performed in the parlor of the Bridges' home and was witnessed by a number of relatives and friends of the young people. Rev. Dr. Adams, pastor of the bride, was the officiating clergyman.

Miss Bridges was gowned in a traveling suit of blue, and entered the parlor upon the arm of her brother, Tillman Bridges, while Mr. Gibson was accompanied by John Parkham as best man. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left on the Seaboard for Charlotte and from there will go to St. Louis, Oklahoma City and other points in the west, after which they will make their home in Hamlet.

The bride is one of Forest City's prettiest and most popular young ladies. She has spent the greater part of her life here and by her pleasant and charming manner has won a host of friends. The groom is a native of Arkansas, but for several years has made his home at Hamlet, being in the employ of the Seaboard railroad. He is a splendid young man with a bright future before him.

Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. William Worley and Miss Gladys Sherwood of Hamlet; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gibson, Mrs. Lee Hightower and Miss Uldine Boyette of Charlotte; Mr. and Mrs. Turner Thompson of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Bridges of Cliffside, and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Scoggins of Rutherfordton.

Complimentary to Miss Annie Bridges, whose marriage to Charles A. Gibson was announced for Tuesday afternoon, Misses Fannie and Alice King gave a miscellaneous shower at their home Friday evening. Some 20 or more friends of the bride were present and when assembled the bride-elect received a notice from Uncle Sam, followed closely by Postman Harold Long, bearing a number of parcel post packages. These contained varied presents for Miss Bridges. During the evening Misses Gladys Moss, Ruth Williams and Myrtle McDaniel rendered a number of musical selections. Miss Claire Reid gave a delightful reading. The King home was beautiful in its decoration of yellow jonquils, violets and potted plants. Punch was served by the hostesses.

Miss Margaret Young and Miss Marie Biggerstaff returned Saturday from Florida where they spent part of the winter.

Misses Alda and Garner Taylor of Rutherfordton were the week end guests of Misses Robbie and Marie Biggerstaff.

Mrs. B. Arr. Lowrance and children of Charlotte are visiting relatives here for several days.

Miss Claire Horn has arrived here from the Glen Alpine and will remain with her mother, Mrs. W. W. Horn.

Joe Bowles and Leland Biggerstaff will leave Tuesday for Detroit, where they will enter work with the Cadillac company.

Suffragists Expect Victory
Washington, March 25.—Leaders of the equal suffrage movement today entertained strong hopes that their 40 years' fight to have congress grant women the rights of the ballot is soon to be crowned with victory. The house committee on judiciary, as already announced, has rescinded its decision of a month ago that the suffrage issue be pigeon-holed until next session, and agreed that the amendment should be voted on in committee next Tuesday. The prospects are that it will be reported by a majority of one or two votes.

This is the famous amendment first drafted in its present form by Susan B. Anthony in 1875 and first introduced in congress by Senator Sargent of California in 1878. Since that time it has received committee action, both favorable and adverse, no less than 10 times in the senate and eight times in the house. It was voted upon in the senate in 1887, receiving 16 yeas to 34 nays, and again in 1914, receiving 35 yeas and 34 nays, or 11 less than the necessary two-third vote.

In the house a year ago last January the amendment received 174 yeas to 204 nays, thus failing by 78 of the necessary two-thirds. But the present congress contains a good many more friends of suffrage than the last, and the women in charge of the movement are confident of success during the present session, especially as women already have the right to vote to represent in a dozen states.

Analyzed along partisan lines the last vote in house on suffrage amendment shows republicans more generally favorable to the issue than democrats; for of the total democratic membership about 30 per cent favored and 60 per cent opposed the ballot for women, while on the republican side about 59 per cent favored and only 28 per cent opposed.

The opponents of suffrage have declared that here, as with the prohibition issue, the negro population must be accounted as a factor making equal suffrage undesirable. But the suffragists have counted on this argument with the facts that in nine of the fifteen southern states having a marked negro population the white women outnumber the total negro population and that in all southern states there are more than 2,000,000 more white women than negro men and women put together.

Only in Mississippi and South Carolina do the negro women outnumber the white women.

To the argument that it is useless to pass the suffrage amendment through congress, because it is known in advance that 15 southern states would reject it, the women reply that once having passed congress the amendment can remain before the states indefinitely; that ratification would be final but that a state which rejects the amendment has the right to reconsider its action and may vote upon it as many times as it please until the amendment is ratified.
