NEW SERIAL WILL APPEAR IN TIMES
Spearman's "The Girl and the Game" to Be Presented
Also at Princess.
RAILWAY ROMANCE.

On Friday The Times will publish the first installment of the new serial, "The Girl and the Game," and the opening screen reproduction of the story will appear at the Princess theater on Saturday. Fifteen chapters will complete the short story and its photoplay interpretation. The Times and the Princess giving their readers and patrons the successive incidents of this absorbing romance each week on Friday and Saturday.
What Bret Harte did for the mining camps of the great west in frontier days; what O. Henry did to place in the short story the life of New York city, or Kipling did for the hills of India, Frank H. Spearman has done for the railroads, preserving in literature the wonderful initiative and daring of the men who spread across the continent the network of steel rails that bind east and west together through the medium of the great transcontinental railroads.
In "The Girl and the Game" Spearman has told a story of railroad kings in battle for the control of transportation. Millions of dollars are pawns in the game played by these financiers and all the motives that move the human heart are revealed in the development of each climax. The girl plays a thrilling part; love, adventure, engineering genius, ambition for power and its occasional use for selfish ends, these elements are threaded together by the master hand of Spearman into one of the vital American stories of the day.

PLANS MADE FOR HOME GARDENING
Committee Appointed at Meeting of Civic Organizations
Yesterday Afternoon.

Home garden plans took definite shape yesterday afternoon at the meeting held at the Y. M. C. A., those present being representatives of the Civic League, Board of Trade and the Parent-Teachers' association. After a number of short addresses and some round table discussion a committee was named to have charge of the prizes and awards of merit. The committee is composed of home garden supervisors E. D. Johnson of the High school and Montford avenue schools; Miss Iler Johnston of Asheland; Miss Eugenia Rowe and Miss Jane Withers, of Park avenue; Mrs. Minnie Boutler, of Murray, together with Mrs. Charles A. Webb, Mrs. A. W. Faulkner and Miss Lillian Fletcher. The committee will meet in the Board of Trade rooms Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. This body will also co-operate with the Parent-Teachers' associations in securing vacant lots.
The secretary of the Board of Trade stated the object of the meeting, reviewing what has already been done toward securing lots and interesting parents and children.
Commissioner Ramsey spoke on the esthetical and spiritual values of agriculture aside from the desirable economic results to be derived. A. H. Patterson of Xenia, O., stated that the Welfare League and the Chamber of Commerce of that city are inaugurating similar plans for home gardening and that he welcomed the opportunity of securing ideas from those engaged in the work at Asheville.
Superintendent Harry Howell gave a summary of what was accomplished last year, showing that the enterprise was a good financial investment, in addition to the moral and educational features.

SUPPLEMENTARY LISTS PLEASE OUR READERS
New Universities Dictionary Praised for Completeness.
The demand for The New Universities Dictionary being offered by this paper continues unabated despite the fact that great quantities have already been distributed. Letters from many readers express in highest terms the general satisfaction which this remarkable book has given.
The twenty-five supplementary dictionaries giving the definition of words properly used in connection with commerce and law, war, golf, aviation, baseball and other forms of sports are esteemed with particular favor by individuals whose interests center on one or the other of these specialized activities.
Another feature eliciting special comment is the splendid way in which the volume is illustrated with color plates and duotones. Included in these illustrations is an excellent photo of a submarine boat, that uncanny type of craft which has played such an important part in the present war with Europe, undergoing a sea test. Types of some of the most formidable battleships in the English, German and United States navies are also shown, and various kinds of airships, which also have figured so conspicuously in the military operations of the European armies are strikingly pictured in action.
