Amongst the extraordinary events which preceded the death of the late venerable Bishop Griswold, the following seems almost providential. At morning prayers in his family, on the morning of the day which he died, he selected and read the first chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Phillipians, in which, among other interesting passages, very remarkable under the circumstances, is the following: "According to my earnest expectation and my hope, that in no-thing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness, as always, so now also, Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death, For me-to live is Christ, and to die is gain, But, if I live in the flesh, this is the fruit of my labor; yet what I shall choose I wot not, For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart and be with Christ, which is far better, Nevertheless, to abide in the flesh is more needful for you."-Boston Transcript.

Monsieur trensured up this admonition; and on returning from a street excursion some time afterwards, he commenced, "Vell, ladies, I take von pleasant walk; de weddair ver con and the adjoining counties. He will offer no grand; much gentlilhomme on de street, flattering inducements to the community, but out I only see two ladees-de ugliest ladees I ever see in my life-the present company

THE OLD NORTH STATE IS, THE OLD DO-MINION.—The Greensborough Patriot tells the following anecdote: "Well, my little-Tallowface," said a Virginian to a boy who had found his way into the vicinity of Petersburg from the piney woods of the Old North State, "my little Tallow-face, if all the rascals in North Carolina were killed. can you tell me how many men there would be left?" "Yes, sir," replied the urchin; enough to kill all the honest, men there are in Virginia."

'The Lord preserve us-no!' replied the

Why, no.

'Then I have nothing to pay you-wanted you to kill or cure my wife-didn't care much which-and you have done neither. Leave my house, sir-you must be an imposter!

WASH FOR TREES .- The best wash for bodies of young trees is ley, made from ashes or from potash; one pound of potash will be enough for one gallon of water. This should be applied with a brush or a swab, to the body of the tree in the month of July: for this is the season in which insects lay their eggs on the body and at the roots of the trees.

This wash will entirely destroy all the moss on the body, and all the lice and eggs and young worms that come in contact with it. The wash is much to be preferred to lime wash, as it is a vegetable substance; and it will not close the pores of the wood as lime will. It has been long tried by the best orchardists and it has never been known to injure the apple tree, when made as above

QUEER FIRM .- There was three or four years ago in New Orleans a cotton dealing house under the firm of Peuch & Bein. As few persons could pronounce these names correctly, our inglorious countrymen adopted a couple of English words that came as near them as the case admitted of. "Pork and Beans" was actually in common use as the designation of that house as long as it For sale by

OBEGON .- Meetings have been lately held at Cincinnati, at Pittsburg, and at Columbus, Ohio, in which opinions were expressed strongly favorable to the occupation of this territory by the United States. Elijah White, who went out as United States Agent to Oregon, and took with him a large party of emigrants, writes under date of August 17, that his party increased to 112-although they had lost two, one by sickness and the other by an accident .-They started with 19 wagons, and their journey had been slow and tedious; but they had passed two thirds of the way and were in excellent health and good spirits. A favorable opportunity for emigration will occur in April, through the aid of Mr. Fitzpatrick, at Independence. He offers to pilot a party over the mountains from that place. Mr. White advises those who intend to go, to prepare light, strong wagons, and to-take no loading except cooking utensils and provisions for four months. Mules are preferable to horses. He says no doubt exists as to the ultimate success of the colony

GIVE A FEW MINUTES TO THAT CHILD. Few parents realize, (says President Lindsey,) how much their children may be taught at home by devoting a few minutes to their instruction every day. Let the parent make the experiment with his son ten-years old for a single week, and only during the hours which are not spent in school. Let him make a comparion of his child-converse with him familiary-put to him questions-answer inquiries-communicate facts, the result of his reading or observation-awaken his curiosity-explain difficulties—the meaning of things—and the reason of things-and all this in an easy, playful manner, without seeming to impose a task, and he will himself be astohished at the progress which he will make

THE MOST UNHAPPY .- The King of Persia, conversing with two philosophers and his vizier, asked,-

"What situation of man is most to be deplored?"

One of the philosophers replied, that it was old age accompanied by poverty; the other, that it was to have the body oppressed by infirmities, the mind worn out and the heart broken by a series of heavy misfortunes.

The vizier, however, replied, that he knew a condition far more to be pitied. " It is that," said he, "of him who has past tried at Albany on Wednesday, in the pre- is that," said he, "of him who has past sence of Gen. Wool and Major Baker, of through life without doing good, and who, unexpectedly surprised by death, is sent to appear before the bar of the sovereign Judge of all."

> THE SOMERS AFFAIR .-- It is very certain, says the New York Express, that the case of Mackenzie will not fail to be duly investigated, so far as a most indefatigable examination of witnesses is concerned.-Not one half of the witnesses have yet been examined, and we can expect no termination of the trial before the end of four weeks at the soonest.

Ingratitude never so thoroughly pierces the human breast, as when it proceeds from those in whose behalf we have been guilty of indiscretions.
