Mary Magdalene.

To the hall of the feast came the sinful and fair, She heard the city that Jesus was there; Unhushing the splendor that blazed on the board, She slowly knelt at the feet of the Lord.

To my wee wuid wife.

My dear old dame! the days are gone, When you and I were young, Wha ye my wuidie smilted upon, And I your praises sung;

An exciting picture.

Mr. Vickers, a reformed man of Baltimore, in the course of a recent speech, related the incident which we subjoin. We wish it could be read by every hard drinker in the country, for it appears to us to convey an admonition which even the most insensible must feel.

"You cannot think," said Mr. Vickers, "how soon a man's circumstances become changed when once he has signed the pledge. I will tell you of a man whom I knew in Baltimore. He was not worth a cent a day, and his family was supported by his hard working wife. He had heard of the Washington Society, and had determined to join. But how should he get his quarter of a dollar which was required for an initiation fee? He went to his wife and told her he wanted a quarter of a dollar."

"What," said Mr. Vickers, "do you think were the feelings of that wido and mother? She had before to sit up all night sometimes, sewing, to earn enough to maintain herself and children. What has the pledge done for her? It has given her a husband; it has given her children a father. The pledge had saved him. We watch over the poor drunkard. Ah, yes! and save him too.—C. Repos.

LORD BYRON.—When Lord Byron was in Greece, he said to Dr. Kennedy, a pious physician of his acquaintance, that he wished he were a Christian. Said he, "I am tired and sick of every thing in life; there is no joy to be found on earth."

"Do you read the Bible?" said Dr. K. "Yes," said he, "and carefully."

"Do you pray?" said Dr. K. "Why, no," said Byron, "I don't pray. I have not got quite so far as that yet. But perhaps I shall by and by."

And why did Dr. Kennedy find it impossible to induce him to pray? Because Byron could not pray, and yet cling to his hateful sins. He could not as long after the hour of midnight he returned to his room, from scenes of carousal and debauchery, then bow the knee in solemn prayer to a holy God. He must either abandon his profligacy, or abandon communion with his Maker, which last he abandoned as you all know.

And when he said, I have often wished for insanity, any thing to quell memory, the never dying worm that feeds on the heart, we see the evidences of that retribution for a prayerless life, which God sometimes commences even here on earth.

IT TAKES TWO TO MAKE A SLANDER.—My dear friend, that woman has been talking about you so again. She has been telling the awfulest lies you ever heard; why, she pulled away about you for a whole hour.

DEATH OF AN OLD SERVANT.—The Washington Capital of this morning says: "General Washington's colored servant, Cary, was buried on Sunday last, from Greenleaf's Point, and followed to the grave by a large number of blacks. He was, we understand, at the time of his death 114 years old, and was for a number of years older to General Washington, whom he served at the passage of the Delaware, and at the battle of Brandywine and Trenton. Old Cary was known and respected by every citizen of this place—he loved the memory of his patriotic master, and as a humble mark of respect, on his birthday, and in fact, every military parade, wore an old shad-belled uniform coat, and a three-cornered hat with a huge cockade, which he said Washington gave him. On these occasions the boys used to collect around him, but his venerable appearance disarmed them of all thoughts of mischief, and he was always allowed the honorable privilege of hobbling in the rear of the military, under whose protection he generally placed himself.

AN AFFECTIONATE WIFE.—"Pooh, pooh!" said a humane lady impatiently to her expiring husband, as he strove to give her a few words, "don't stop to talk, but go on with your dying!"

A learned Doctor has given his opinion that tight lacing is a public benefit, as it kills off the foolish girls and leaves the wise ones for women. A learned Doctor, that.

THE Principal consulting the judgment and wishes of numerous friends of the institution, and hoping to accommodate some who desire to send children hither, will notwithstanding the increasing scarcity and dearth of provisions, reduce the rate of board to $7 per month to those who enter pupils early in the session and pay with reasonable punctuality. It will enable him the better to do this, if such as are able will pay up in part (as board becomes due) before the close of the session.

THE rules remain in force, that pupils of the institution cannot board out of the house, while there is room for them, except with very close connections. Pupils admitted after the session commences will pay only from the time of entrance, but will be charged for tuition to the close of the session, if they go away sooner, except in case of sickness. HENRY COLMAN, Editor for the first quarter, and M. B. BATHAM, for the remainder of the year. Published by C. F. CROSMAN and E. SHEPARD, Rochester. Sixteen pages monthly, enlarged and improved; price $1.00 per year, in advance.

The character of the Genesee Farmer, both old and new, has been well known, and its ability and usefulness universally applauded. Published in one of the best farming districts in the world, and in one of the finest and busiest cities of the growing west, the very home of active industry and intelligence, where information and mechanical talent of the highest order are concentrated, no pains will be spared to make it all that such a paper should be.

Under present arrangements, Mr. Colman is expected to continue in the editorial department for the first third of the year; and whenever he retires from his supervision, it will pass into able and competent hands, who will do justice to the paper and its subscribers. Mr. Colman contemplates an agricultural tour in Europe, and will be a regular correspondent of the paper through the year.

Mr. Batham, as travelling agent and correspondent, designs to spend most of his time among the farmers, observing their condition, and operations, and his contributions will be interesting and practical. The numerous and able correspondents of the N. G. Farmer, it is expected will continue their valuable contributions. With these arrangements, the prospectors feel assured that the long tried friends of the Genesee Farmer will not desert the paper; but will use their influence to extend its circulation and usefulness. If each subscriber would make it an object to procure another, he would render an essential public benefit. The correspondence being extended throughout the country, the paper will embrace the husbandry of New England, the Canada, the Middle, the Southern and Western States; and it will communicate the fullest intelligence of the progress of agriculture in the old world. Being connected with an extensive Agricultural Establishment, for seeds and implements, under the management of one of the Publishers, it will furnish information of all improvements. The proprietors will use their utmost endeavors to concentrate the best talent in their management; to have the mechanical execution and appearance greatly improved, and to render it entirely worthy of the patronage of practical and intelligent farmers.

Six Copies will be furnished for $5. Twelve Copies for $10. On Twenty Copies and over, discount of thirty per cent will be made. Payment always in advance. Bills of all specie papers will be taken at par.

Postmasters are permitted by law to remit money free of postage. The friends of agriculture are respectfully requested to assist in obtaining subscribers. Back numbers or volumes can be furnished.

Communications on business or for the paper may be addressed to Crozman & Shepard, Rochester, N. Y.
