From the Frie Observer. Is there a God?...

BY ARCHITTFAL.

Is there a God? and these armost soul will say in that fair blue Heav'n we see,

Is there a God?e mighty depth below What power commands the restless deep The nature. Yes but mature too. Proclaims to all—proclaims aloud— lolds forthin every shade we view. The power of a ruling God.

Is there a God?-Look to each herb—each plant we see: dank thyself what gave them birth, The smallest blade the loftiest tree, me hear must tell thee, of sincereage best witness of the proofthon can's feel and see e'en there,

La there a God? abt if not -- winter o'cr we gaze, ere e'er we roun - whore e'er we be; in in all and ev'ry place; myriade proef, Lord, God-of thee: gle soaring in high air, at, the small, in enery sphereature's works proclaim a Gad.

Is there a God!-ak that which within thee dwells wakes thy soul to hope or fear; ch thine ev'ry action feels, hispers to thine heart and ear: round, bgnsath, shove; where thou wilt thou it ever see, each full proof enough, who reigns eternally.

These were sent by an agent, who supposed them mere letters conveying a wish to my hushand to meet me at Vera Cruz, to accompany me to Having, but it has certainly brought it's reward. My letter to the Commodore was dated October 221; he received it October 27th, and immediately called a meeting of the senior officers, and laid my dispatch before them, It had due weight. Provisions were brought from Point Isabel and distributed amongst the squadron, and on the 12th November, they left Isla Verde, and on the morning of the 14th hove in sight, twelve sail off the bay of Tampico. I was so confident of the coming of the squadron, that in anticipation of their coming, I had a flag staff made one week previous, and had it erected upon the sousetop, in order to raise the first American flag hoisted as a right over Tompico. On my first sight of the fleet my pent up feeling gave way, and I wept as a child for joy, seeing that God had brought deliverance to the captives, and in auticipation of soon seeing, the object of my affection, and also in gratitude to Him who is mighty to save, and that my feeble efforts had wrought so strangely in our national welfare. Here I must pause, and say I dannot pretend to describe my feelings at that time. Forlitude seemed to give way, and in the midst of this emotion, I again saw the squadron nearing to the bar, the boats manned and the line passing, (they standing their own pitots, over that intricate passage,) and the broad-pennant flying at the mast-heads—the blue and red. My faithful Amelia and myself ran to Mr. Chase's Office, and in solitude offered a prayer, than pulled the

the flag down, and alone rushed to the
