Spool Cotton.

Reporting Bennett's speech at Fayetteville, Capt. Bryan, of the Fayetteville Enterprise, says in his issue of Aug. 23, "Returning then to spool cotton, he (Bennett said): 'Take of the duty of fifteen cents per dozen and it will be only 40 cents. This duty on thread was imposed by the Republican Congress of 1862, and has been kept there ever since.' 'Coats, the manufacturer of the thread in Scotland, had brought over a portion of his machinery to this country (country perhaps) and instead of paying the duty to the Government, he put the machinery in the thread here and put the duty in his own pocket.' 'This is the Democratic argument as put forward by their candidate for candidate for Congressman at Large on Spool Cotton.

Observe the fact that it is admitted that Coats of Scotland, to save the tax brought over a portion of this machinery to this country and is manufacturing the cotton here. What is the result? Coats, spool cotton is now selling at 10 cents for two hundred yards. This is the net result of this law of 1862, this same spool cotton of Coats, manufacturer, two hundred yards to the spool, sell at 10 cents per spool for twenty-five cents. Here we see, under a protective tariff, getting spool cotton at half price, and absolutely forcing the manufacturers to bring their machinery here from Scotland, thus giving employment to our poor people as well as reducing the price of the goods!

Such is the act, and who can deny it? Whenever the Bourbon Democratic leaders can be convinced of the true advantage of the free interests of the people, they may expect the millennium and not before.

The South's New Industry.

At the close of the war cotton seed was regarded as of little value, except for planting and, consequently, almost the entire product was thrown away. To day, according to the statements made in yesterday's Herald by Tariff Commissioner Kenner, of Louisiana, it is valued at one-third of the cotton crop. The annual product of seed is now about two and a half million tons over and above what is needed for planting purposes, and the price has reached from fifteen to twenty dollars a ton. The value of the annual yield when made into cake and other products is estimated at from seventy-five to a hundred million dollars. This is a very substantial source of wealth and one of the important industries of the South, and whose importance is no longer unappreciated by Southern capitalists. The number of mills in operation and in progress of construction for converting cotton seed into its valuable products is reported at from sixty-five to seventy, most of which have been started in the past few years, and the business is being highly profitable and the establishments are likely to multiply with considerable rapidity. These are results over which the North as well as the South has reason to rejoice.

SOUTHERN NEED OF NORTHERN INTERPRISE.

The old prejudice which existed in South Carolina against the Northern people, and especially against New-Englanders or "yankees," has disappeared in a large degree during the past four or five years. Remnants of it no doubt exist in the rural districts where the old families ruined by the war have enjoyed little intercourse with the outside world, and being shut up to themselves have had nothing to do but grudge over their changed fortunes and treasure upon an implacable animosity toward those who they look upon as a cause of their distress. But in the cities, and among those who have had larger opportunities for becoming acquainted with the Northern people, there is a much better and more kindly feeling than has been known at any time since the slavery question began to be the leading issue in politics. This feeling, too, is manifestly the result of commercial and business relations with the North, and has been largely aided by the interchange of visits of a social character between military and other organizations, and the growth of mutual friendship and esteem are encouraging indications for the future of the Republic. They mark the beginning of the end of sectionalism in politics and the opening of a new era.

The great number of independent candidates for Congress that are appearing in the field in the Southern States is cause for alarm among the Bourbons, and numerous appeals are appearing in the party organs against giving any aid and comfort to the liberal movements. These who are carefully locked over the field believe that there will be a number of independent Congressmen elected in the South this year.

As to the present system of county government, The Newbernian, the leading paper in Craven county, has this to say of the county commissioners elected by the Democratic system. The Newbernian is a Democratic paper:

"We tell you very positively, voters of Craven, and we defy contradiction, that your county commission, as it is, is a disgrace to the county. They have paid them selves for services not contemplated by the law; they have defrauded and cheated you; under the name of economy they have misappropriated the funds of the county; they have squandered the money of the taxpayers in the most wasteful manner; they have been reckless in their expenditure of the public money; they have invited you by bribery to repel a confidence in them; they are betraying you with a treachery, and in its depravity, they are making Judas Iscariot blush. Take care of these men; they are pensioners upon your forbearance and mercy."

The Republicans in Congress would have been sure to find the Democrats as firmly opposed to any other bill originated by them for a reduction of taxes as they proposed the one which passed the House. The Democrats never want anything done to improve the condition of affairs, because they expect to get votes from the hypocritical portion of the people how sick they are.

Prof. Alexander Delmar, a well known mining engineer of New York, writes to the Mining Record of that city: "I am confident that wherever capital is put into the industry, and mining is prosecuted there on a large scale, it will pay as great and as permanent profits as any same industry in any part of the world."

How a newspaper pays can be at once seen if you will get the matter a little more fully explained. You take a paper that is only issued once a week; you get fifty two copies a year, each containing the general current news of the times.

The educational advantages of the family derived from only a weekly paper, are, in fact, more numerous, more impressive, more thorough, after the children have learned to read, than the teaching in ordinary schools. It is a notable fact and many eminent examples might be referred to, that families who are never without news papers become more intelligent than more industrial than those who go through the ordinary scholastic studies without the habit of reading newspapers. After reading a newspaper, the mind is kept in a state of activity, and the child is taught to write, and arithmetic, and to make books and newspapers, it would be much more beneficial to the child to give it two or three well selected papers to read than to confine it to the text books of the school. Newspaper education is a polytechnic and universal, and is indispensable to a proper qualification for true American citizenship.

A good newspaper saves money in all business matters. If you want to sell or buy anything, you are likely to see the price in a newspaper and know all you need to know about it. You will not be deceived, you don't have to take hessy, and thus suffer from mistakes and delays; you just turn to your paper and know all you wish to find out, and you will often save the subscription cost of your paper by one single order for ten or twenty dollars worth of goods. You will often find chances for good bargains advertised that cannot be found in any other way.

The Liberal party of this congressional district met in convention at this place the last Monday and nominated W. R. Trull for Congressman at Large. Mr. Trull will go into the campaign with his usual vigor and make it lively for one Robert B. The canvass will be the most exciting and lively of any in the State. Mr. Trull is well known as a debater and made an excellent record as District Elector two years ago. The secretary failed to handle the proceedings so that we are unable to publish them in full.

Republicans are not to blame if liberal Democrats endorse their platform. Republicans do not sacrifice any principal in endorsing the Liberal platform.

Don't swear! when you have the both ends, sick headache or pains in the bowels, and take a dose of Ram's B. Elixir, and you will be relieved.

DEATH OF HON. BEN. HILL.

Senator Ben Hill is dead. The country has been looking for the final scene and there will be no shock. A great man has fallen. The first debater in the United States Congress, the first to be elected in Georgia has lost his ablest and one of her most devoted sons. Senator Hill was 57 years of age. He appeared of iron mould, and looked a year or so ago as if he would live to a very advanced age. His sufferings have been terrible, and were protracted through months. He bore all with exceeding fortitude and looked at the approaching hour of dissolution with the calmness and resignation of a Christian philosopher. When the hour came he passed away without a struggle or apparent suffering. He died yesterday morning at his home in Atlanta, surrounded by several of his family. A true Southron has gone to his rest. A sincere patriot and a true friend to his country, he will be missed and his memory will long cherish his memory. For many years he has been a conspicuous public character, and among the men of the North there was no man who could rival him in the most occasional. He did not go down before his lance.—Wilmington Star.

"A Roland For an Oliver."

In a late issue of the Landmark, it was stated that the editor had a copy of the proceedings and testimony before the Investigation Committee, from which from time to time, extracts would be given. &c.

We also, have received a copy of the testimony in the case of the recent investigation into the affairs of this internal Revenue district; and we also intend to publish extracts therefrom.

It is also our intention, whenever the "Bourbon Press" make their one sided questions, to copy from the testimony the cross-examinations, or such evidence that, in every case was elicited, and effect fully contradicts the charges against the late Collector and his officers. If our opponents are not fair-minded enough to give both sides in this case, let them come and publish their own extracts, and we will follow them up with the truth, and the other side. The people may thus see the whole thing, and will be able to judge, and will not be misled by the efforts of these "Bourbon" party, by such unfair means. Dr. Mott's standing and character.

When Governor Jarvis mounts the stand and states the above facts like a man, then and not until then will we believe that he has become any more honest than he was the day he received the $1500 from Pickersell.

We dislike to tell these important matters on the Chief Executive of the State, but when he starts out falsifying the record and makes statements which he knows is false as can be well believe the people should know the whole truth. A man who is a class house as Thomas J. Jarvis has for thirteen years should not throw stones, nor neither should a man with the record that is fastened to the past conduct of Jarvis get up and abuse men even as notorious as Swepson, Littlefield, Lufkin and others who are his superiors in law and integrity.

It might be considered that we are saying these things about Jarvis because he is a Bourbon Democrat, but that is not the case. We have clippings from a majority of Democratic papers of the State, including the Star of this city, which charge him with being dishonest, and while it will be a little cumbersome to publish them yet we may be called upon to do so.

3rd. Friends and fellow citizens, as a matter of history, and I admit it to be true, the Star of this city (Bourbon Democrat party) received nine tenths of these bonds and squandered them.

4th. My dear friends, I, Thos. J. Jarvis, ex-cedingly regret to have to admit, but the facts must be stated, that the bonds of 1868 '90 on account of the tremendous job by consisting of every Democratic railroad President in the State and all the Presidents of the State and all the Presidents of the State and all the Presidents of the State and all the Presidents of the State, including the very ablest in the State.

5th. My dear friends and fellow citizens, this record is hard, but I wish God to forgive me of all my sins, I must make a truthful statement to you.

State Debt vs Jarvis.

Wilmington Post.

Did it ever occur to Mr. Jarvis that it comes with very bad grace from him to abuse the Republican Legislature of 1868-70 for issuing bonds for certain railroads in North Carolina, when he, Jarvis, voted for the bonds himself? The Journal of the House of Representatives show that Thomas J. Jarvis was a member of the Democratic party at that session, and that a very large majority of the Democratic members, including Mr. Jarvis, voted for all of the infamous acts authorizing Governor Holden to issue bonds. Even the infamous special tax bond was voted for by Thomas J. Jarvis. And the ship's Grand books show that Thomas J. Jarvis got the small sum of $1500 from one Pickersell, a noted bond thief. Mr. Jarvis has never received the money, but claims that he borrowed it. It seems that Jarvis is going over the State which the Republicans for doing that which he himself assisted them in doing by voting for the Republicans.

Mr. Jarvis should also tell the people, and he will do it if he has reformed, that A. S. Merrimon, Swepson's attorney, was a lobbyist at that time for the railroad bonds and that the said Merrimon drew up all the acts authoring those bonds which he and Jarvis had voted for. They were issued by means of the Democratic presidents of railroads in the State, and by such leading Democrats as Judge Person, of Wilmington, and others.

Mr. Jarvis, if he has at last reformed and states the above facts like a man, then and not until then will we believe that he has become any more honest than he was the day he received the $1500 from Pickersell.

We also, have received a copy of the testimony in the case of the recent investigation into the affairs of this internal Revenue district; and we also intend to publish extracts therefrom.
