

THE WEEKLY LEDGER.

April 5, 1879.

All contracts for advertisements should be made with J. W. CARR, Business Manager. Office on Franklin Street, opposite the store of J. W. Carr.

All communications on business should be addressed to "The Weekly Ledger," Chapel Hill, N. C.

THE MAILS.
Mails now close as follows:
For Durham, daily, Sunday excepted, 6 A. M.
For Chatham county, once a week—Saturday—6 A. M.
The office opens for delivery of mails at 2:30 P. M.
A. MICKLE, P. M.

HOME MATTERS.

DOTS—
New goods coming in every day. Now for the lilacs and apple blossoms.

Where shall Chapel Hill Station be? Judge Baxton is holding court in Hillsboro.

Now is the time for Jordan Weaver to go a fishing. Corn is scarce in this market, and prices are rising. Corn-meal is $1.00. This seems hard times to our poor.

Durham is on the rise. Since the tax on tobacco was reduced we can see the Durham steeples. Weed-sy place.

The Episcopal church has its regular Lenten services on Wednesdays and Fridays, and a weekly service on Wednesday nights.

The Baptist church holds a sunrise prayer-meeting. The mornings are bright and beautiful, and it is a fine beginning of the day.

Business is getting brisk. Wagons with produce or lumber are constantly passing. Ladies are out shopping, and counters are piled high with goods.

McCauley's store is very attractive. His goods are well selected in good taste, and very cheap. The whole community is likely to be dressed in brown and grey poplin at ten cents a yard.

The young men of the Methodist congregation have organized a young men's prayer-meeting to be held every Thursday night in the church. Strangers and University students cordially invited to attend.

Chapel Hill is getting at its prettiest. From now to the middle of June we throw the glove down to all North Carolina for natural, unaffected beauty. But the yards of our private residences need handsome shrubbery and many of the residences themselves need paint.

Dr. Ledoux's Sunday Bible-class in the Presbyterian church, and the Wednesday night prayer-meetings are attended by some thirty or more of the University students. The Presbyterian church has been much improved of late with handsome new carpet, &c., and various repairs.

Dr. Ledoux's lecture last Saturday on the work of his Station was very interesting. We wish the gentlemen of the University and of the Agricultural Department could indulge us oftener with such occasions. Besides the valuable information they afford, it is good for a community to have frequent assemblages on occasions of great interest. They promote good feeling and generate public spirit and pride of location. Chapel Hill has a good deal to be proud of.

PASSION WEEK—CHAPEL OF THE CROSS—Next week being Passion Week, there will be services in this church at the following hours:
Every morning at 9 o'clock except Monday morning.
Every evening at 5 o'clock—a short sermon or address after Evening Prayer on Wednesday and Friday.

The Litany will be said Wednesday and Friday at half past twelve o'clock.

JOS. BLOUNT CHESHIRE, JR.,
Deacon officiating.

UNHEARD OF BARGAINS.—L. J. Weaver is offering, for cash, some of the cheapest Fall clothing that was ever offered in Chapel Hill or elsewhere. Also a lot of Fall shoes reduced to low figures. He does this in order to make room for Spring goods. Call on him.

AN OLD NAME.—We had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Lemuel Morgan, of Wake county, on our streets this week, with a wagon-load of his own special manufacture, namely earthenware flower-pots of all sizes, for the sale of which he is well-known in Morrisville, Durham and Raleigh.

Mr. Morgan is an old Chapel Hillian by birth and raising. Fifty years ago his father and uncle, the late Allen and Lem. Morgan, were prominent citizens in this community. The Morgan family were among our earliest settlers, and Mark Morgan was one of those farmers who gave liberally of their lands to secure the location of the University at Chapel Hill. Allen and Lem. Morgan owned large tracts of land here. Lem. was never married;—and at Allen's death his children were scattered. They owned what is now Stroud's farm, on Bolling creek, on the Durham road. It was bought from them by the late Jesse Hargrave, and from his children has passed to W. F. Stroud. A beautiful farm, and in good hands a valuable one, and though now one hundred years old, with much fine woodland upon it.

Mr. John Morgan is the only representative of the name now living near Chapel Hill, but we are glad that it is not likely to run out and be lost to the county. The perpetuation of respectable families and family names is a valuable feature in any community. It keeps alive the old traditions, which bind neighborhoods together, and are themselves one of the sources of history. Every man should own a family Bible in which should be written his family lineage and records.

ARRIVING.—I am receiving my spring goods, consisting in part of Ready Made Clothing, Shoes, Calicoes, &c., &c. Those desiring anything in my line, should call and examine my stock. It will cost you nothing to examine the goods, and if you can't be suited with the price and style of them, you can buy elsewhere. I hope to make a living by merchandising, and I will strive to please all my customers.

L. J. WEAVER.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—The second quarterly meeting for the M. E. Church for this station will be held at the church on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Conference session at 12 o'clock, same day. On Sunday after the regular service, the communion of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated. Presiding Elder Adams will preach on Saturday and Sunday.

PERSONALS.—Wm. Grimes, Esq., of Raleigh, and his daughter Miss Bessie Grimes, were visiting their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Grist, of this place, last week.
Mr. Frank H. Woodson, of Danville, Va., correspondent of the N. Y. Herald, was in town lately on business connected with that paper.

AT LAST.—The long called for lamp at the corner of the Methodist church, has been supplied by the liberality of Mrs. J. W. Carr. A very great improvement. Persons can attend church of dark nights now without any risk of breaking their necks in the deep ditch near at hand.

Mr. M. W. Davis has handed us the following note with request to publish. We presume that it refers to the petition for the burglars:
April 1st, 1879.

I assign the petition on my own conviction at what is right without regard to the opinion of others.
WM. K. FARRISH.

CIGARS FOR THOUSANDS.—Our friend and enterprising merchant Mr. L. J. Weaver, has just received another lot of fine five cent cigars. Call and try them.

RETURNED.—D. McCauley, Esq., has returned from the North where he has been selecting a large stock of goods. Call and see them.

WANTED.—A good lot of seasoned spoked.
A. L. CATES.

Chew Jackson's Best Sweet Navy Tobacco.

FASHION NOTES.
From New York: Colored bonnets are all the go. Canton crape, lace, chip, and straw, the favorite materials. Canton-crape hats of rose-pink, cream white, pale blue, with trimmings of dark flowers or foliage clusters, or three short ostrich tips. Cottage shapes for Spring. Broad hats for summer. White muslin dresses will be much worn. Sprigged muslins or sheerest organdies trimmed with lace and any number of bows and loops, and ends of gay brocaded or satin ribbons.

Dresses are made in every variety of style, but all agree in one feature—namely—the puffed back drapery of the skirts, being a revival of the panier style. There are panier basques and panier polonaises. The vest basques are most popular. Collar, cuffs and pocket of same material as the vest, though sometimes, there are three materials used. The cut away coat basque will be worn again.

It is the fashion of the day for married women, old and young, to wear caps; the prettiest and most becoming to all ages being of snowy fresh muslin. Old ladies of sixty-five and seventy wear such caps with their beautiful gray hair, and they are so universally becoming that young ladies have adopted them. Some wear turbans.
Pipings of silk for edging sleeves, basques, overskirts, &c., &c., are not put on with machine work, though the machine is used on flounces. Very little cording is used in dress-making. Many of the best modistes omit it even in the arm holes.

From Paris Correspondence of Harper's Bazaar: Very little frizzed hair on the forehead, chignons, if worn at all, are much flattened and lowered. Very little false hair is now allowed, and crepes, rolls, puffs, and plaits of all kind, seem to have disappeared with the suddenness of an earthquake. Metal ornaments and combs of gold and silver, coral, pearl are revived. Diamond buttons for dresses are much worn. A young lady's dress of white brocade and satin trimmed with white lace, embroidered with violet silk, was buttoned with twenty-four diamond buttons, which cost $200 each.

That will do for Paris. For Chapel Hill we recommend a delicate cambric at 12 1-2 cents a yard or a neat and pretty calico at 7 1-2 cents, made plainly, fitting exactly, buttoned with white pearl buttons at 2 cents a piece, linen collars and cuffs at 25 cents, swinging sufficiently clear of the ground to give us a glimpse of a snowy stocking and a No. 2 low-quartered shoe. Smiling eyes and shining hair and a kind heart and busy hands. These are North Carolina fashions.

[For the Ledger.]
CHEAP INK.
CHAPEL HILL, N. C., }
April 2, 1879. }

Mr. Ledger: I have always heard that "a penny saved is a penny made." Hence I append a recipe for making writing ink, which will save many pennies in the course of a month or a year.

INK RECIPE.
Hematoxylon Extract, (Extract of Logwood.) 1 3-4 oz.
Bichromate Potasse, 1-7 oz.

These ingredients will cost from 10 to 25 cents at a drug store. Directions for making:
Boil one gallon of water in a vessel free from grease, pour into a gallon jug with above ingredients finely pulverized, and stir about five minutes to prevent a clog at the bottom of the jug; and your ink is ready for use, one of the best recording inks in the country. I especially recommend this ink to the students of the University and all who have much writing to do, as we see a gallon can be made at a cost little above the cost of one small bottle of northern ink, and its quality is superior to that we buy.
It is this ink that artists use for foundation work in Pastel painting.

DEATHS.
DIED of a lingering illness at Mechanicsville, N. C., on Sunday, 30th March, Rev. Mr. ANDERSON, pastor of the Presbyterian church in that place, and formerly Professor of the Latin Language and Literature in Davidson College. An accomplished scholar, an admirable preacher, a man gifted with many of the finest traits of humanity, a courteous and lovely christian gentleman in all the relations of life. His death is a great loss to the church, to society and to his bereaved flock and family, but a gain unspeakable to himself.
