LATEST PROM THE NORTH. NOTICE AND SELECT STATES The Sumter Still on her Career of Victory -Senator Bright Expelled-A Conspiracy to Break Up the Union! cial Dispatch to the Richmond Dispatch.] Nonpolit, Va., Feb. 8.

A messenger arrived to day, from Roa-ke Island, reports that four Federal steamers were off the Island last night. A large number of vessels were twelve miles below the Island. An attack is expected at this point. Gen. Wise is in better health and is making active preparations for receiving the enemy. The flag of truce steamer arrived this afternoon. She brought over Mrs. Gen. Gaines and four other ladies, on their way to New Orleans. The feeling in Washington is strong in favor of a prosecution of the war and the suppression of the rebellion.

The London Times says England wil not object. She has no desire to uphold the Monroe doctrine.

The Liverpool steamer Nova Scotis brings five days later dates-that is, to the 24th of January. Cotton has declined. It is evident that the European Powers are resolving to break up the semi-blockade of Southern ports, in order to save the working people of France and England from

The Sumter was at Gibralter on the 19th Jan. During the passage from Cadiz she burned one more Yankee vessel-the bark Neapolitan from Messina bound to Boston, loaded with fruit. She captured another bark, the Instigator, bound to Newport, with a cargo of ore, but afterwards allowed her to proceed.

There is much ill feeling in England towards the Tuscarora.

Bright, of Indiana, has been formally expelled from the Federal Senate, by a vote of 32 to 14. Bright maintained an air of bold defiance to the last. He made a stirring speech, in which he appealed to his State to uphold her honor and his fair name. The galleries of the Senate were crowded throughout the speech, and much applause was elicited by the efforts of the expelled Senator.

The Herald says a most powerful conspiracy exists in the Federal Congress, opposed to Lincoln and in tavor of breaking up the Union. Bennett calls on Lincoln to take the responsibility of the present finances of the country and the defenin giving a description of the battle o Fishing Creek says of Gen. Crittenden: Immediately on the announcement of his death, Gen. Crittenden, in person, rode up to the front of the fight, and directed the movement of the day with perfect coolness, in the very midst of the fire of the enemy, and where several were killed around him. His friends remonstrated against this recklessness, and entreated him to occupy a less exposed position, but he would not leave the front, and set on his horse unmoved, except when a regiment would fall back under the heavy fire of superior numbers. when he would in person, under fire, speak to and rally the men.

I have thus briefly sketched our army movements for the last few days. Victory does not gleam upon our banners, and we may not receive the loud plaudits which it brings; but in view of an overwhelming force of the enemy, and the absolute want of army supplies, and the distressing poverty of the country, it must be conceded to General Crittenden that in the bold and gallant attack and masterly retreat, he has displayed the highest qualities of the military commander, and he deserves the admiration of the country to which he has given his services, and in whose cause at Fishing Creek he so coolly exposed his life. Given a command most exposed and perilous, on the Northern bank of the Cumberland River, he has saved it from the ables Generals and an overwhelming army of the enemy. While they were confident of "bagging" this little army, it is ready yet to save East Tennessee, and to "bag" any force venturesome enough to invade.

VOLUNTEER. A St. Louis telegram of the 21st says nearly the whole force at Rolla had marched in the direction of Springfield under command of Gen. Curtis. The wives of the officers had all been sent to St. Louis. The Chicago Tribune, of the 22d, adds:

A forward movement of a formidale character has been commenced from Rolla the terminus of the Southwestern branch of the Pacific railroad. Several brigades ago, and our special dispatch from St. Louis last evening states that the remainder of the troops stationed there, under Gen. Curtis, had marched in the direction of Springfield. We trust that Gen. Price will be disposed of this time. Curtis, Siegel, Asboth and other skilful officers lead the expedition.
