The Question of Intervention. The New York Times of the 29th ult.

Our European letters this morning are big with portents of intervention. Our correspondent at Paris, always well poised and well informed, is satisfied that the vast naval and military preparations of France, ostensibly directed against Mexico, are ultimately aimed at the United states. It is with a view to a possible conthat with the latter, growing out of the Mexican botchwork, if not out of some direct act of friendship and support offered to the South, that the Emperor is about to crowd his cuirassed stgamers and ships of the line into our harbors, and thus be prepared for all eventualities. England, servile to the Imperial policy, is obliged to make a similar disposition of its squadrons, in readiness to back Napoleon in any quarrel he may provoke. Our London correspondent, constitutionally less cautious, is still more positive that all England is hastening to the conclusion that the war can only be terminated by forcible intervention. The aristocratic party, touched with the sufferings of the masses, clamors for an enforced peace. It only remains for the suffering masses to be tricked into a concordant clamor, for the cry to become too unanimous to be resistible, and accordingly the entire energies of the London Times, Post and Herald are concentrated upon an effort to satisfy the starving workmen that their calamis ties are not only due to Northern pugnacity, but that the North, so far from exhibiting any symptoms of remorse, actually glories in the agonies of Lancashire

Partizan Rangers and Private Citizens Captured by the Enemy. In reply to a letter addressed to him by the Hon. John B. Clark, Senator from Missouri, the Secretary of War makes an important explanation in relation to the status of the Partizan Rangers, and clearly states what will be expected in their behalf in the event of capture by the enemy Senator Clarke also makes an inquiry concerning the treatment to be demanded in pehalf of private citizens of the Confederate States captured while making resistance to any attempt of the enemy to invade their domicils. The reply of the Secretary is as follows:

CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA, WAR DEPARTMENT, RICHMOND July 16th, 1862.

HON. JOHN B. CLARKE, C. S. SENATE-Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th inst., and to reply, that Partizan Rangers are a part of the Provisional army of the Confederate States, subject to all the regulations adopted for its government, and entitled to the same protection as prisoners of war. Partizan Rangers are in no respect different from troops of the line, except that they are not brigaded, and are employed oftener on detached service: They require stricter discipline than any other troops to make them efficient, and without discipline they become a terror to their friends and contemptible to the eyes of the enemy.

With reference to your inquiry as to the broken tion which the government will extend to private citizens taken in hostile acts agains t the enemy, it is not easy to lay down a general fule. War, as 'condueted by civilized nations, is usually a contest between the respective governments of the belligerents, and private individuals remaining quietly at home are respected in their rights of person and property. In return for this privilege they are expected to take no part in hostilities unless called on by their government.

If, however, in violation of this usuage, private citizens of Missouri should be oppressed and maltreated by the public enemy, they have unquestionably a right to take arms in their own defence, and it captured and confined by the enemy under such circumstances, they are entitled, as citizens of the Contederate States, to all the protection which that government can afford, and among the measures to which it may be needful to resort, is that of the lex talionis.

We shall deplore the necessity of retaliation, as adding greatly to the miseries of the war without advancing its objects; and therefore we shall abt with great circumspection, and only upon facts clearly ascertained, but if it is our only means of compelling the observance of the usages of civilized warefare, we cannot hesitate to resort to it when the proper time arrives. Very respectfully, your obedient servant, G. W. RANDOLPH, Secretary of War.

CORN CROP IN TENNESSEE. - All accounts trom East Tennessee represent the corn crop in that section as being immense. It is ordinarily a corn growing and stock raising country, but the crops this year are said to exceed any within the last ten years. The Pigeon, French, Board, Hiwassee and Holston valleys are said to be extensively planted, and the crops more romising than ever known before. We

THE SECESSION STEEL WAR GUN.-W have seen a new steel gan manufac in Birmingham, England, recently brought to this country through the blockade, which bids fair to take a high rank among the articles of warfare in the Confederate States. It is somewhat highter than th Enfield rifle and it is claimed that for strength and accuracy it is excelled by no weapon in use. It is the invention of Southern man and the patent for it ha been taken out solely with a view to it manufacture for the use of the Confederacy It will not be tor sale to any other partie until the independence of this country achieved .- Montgomery Advertiser.

A PREACHER SOLDIER .- Judge Caraway of Suwance county, Fla., a man of wealth and influence, has joined Capt, John Westcott's company as a private. He says he wants no office, but wants independence .-Judge Caraway is over thirty-seven years old, and is therefore not subject to the conscript law. He is a Methodist preacher, and has been a member of the Fiorida Con ference about eighteen years.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS .- The Yankee Congress has finally adjourned. The New York Express makes it the occasion tor the following oration:

"Thank God for that," is already attered by thousands of voices. The session which closed at two, P. M, to-day will pass in history as a most careless, reckless and lawless ever assembled since the formation of the government. Had it legislated wisely for the administration, and wisely for the nation, it would have long been remembered and truly honored. As it is while it has done some necessary things it has been, as a whole, so hasty and bungling in its work, and so taken up with extreme measures and opinions that it will take a generation to recover from its extravagance and abuses.

HE TIMES contains weekly forty columns of choice matter, specially adapted to the family circle. It is neither sectarian nor political, but by being courteous to all sects and parties, it is the constant alm of the publishers to present in its columns whatever may elevate the people and enrich the State. The publishers would carnestly appeal to the families of North Carolins to give THE TIMES a trial; try it for six months, to see if it be not as well to patronise home papers, as those it be not as well to patronise home papers, as those from abroad; to build up home interests and a

State pride, and to scatter our substance and our energies among strangers. Give THE TIMES a trial and then let it stand upon its merits. and then let it stand upon its merits.

WHAT IS SAID OF THE TIMES.

"The Times I regard as the very first of our Southern Literary Weeklies."—Rev. C. F. Deema.

"I know of no Weekly published anywhere, that is so deserving of public patronage as the Times."

—Rev. J. E. Edwards.

"There is so pandering to a vitiated taste—every article is of a moral tendency, and calculated both to amuse and instruct."—Wilmington Heraid "One of the handsomest weekly papers published in the Union."—Spirit of the Age.

"Let the people of North Caarolina encourage their own newspapers.—Raleigh Standard.
