A Lottery,

For the benefit and encouragement of MECHANISM in the Western part of North-Carolina.

MECHANISM
in the Western part of North-Carolina.

THE following scheme is the result of a meeting of the Charlotte Benevolent Mechanical Society, for the purpose of devising ways and means to exchange the labor already expended in manufacturing, for another stock of materials, that they may continue cheerfully in the exercise of their occupation, by which and charged accordingly.

THE following valuable BOOKS are for sale at this office, at reduced prices:

American State Papers, 10 vols.; Gillie's History of Greece, 3 do; Marshall's Life of Washington, 5 do; Bigland's View of the World, 5 do; Ferguson's Roman Republic, 3 do; Hallain's Middle Ages, 4 do; Fox's Historical Work; Bolingbroke on History; Europe from 1802 to 1815; History of North-Carolina, 2 vols.; Melandis of William Pitt, 2 do; Court and Cabinet of James I. by Miss Aikin, 2 do; Beaujour's Sketches of the U. States; Chateaubrand's Teavels; Park's do; Travels of Ali Bey, 2 vols.; McKenzie's Voyages; Hobhouse's Albania, 2 vols.; Hally, by Lady Morgan, 2 do; Life of Mathous and Society, for the purpose of devising ways and means to, exchange the labor already expended in manufacturing, for another stock of materials, that they may continue cheerfully in the exercise of their occupation, by which alone they have been instructed to make a subsistence. The great want of vent for the labor of the very limited manufactorics of the west-ern part of North-Carolina, is severely felt by those who have been taught to rely on their profession alone for the support of their families; and such indigence will doubtless keep every branch of mechanism that labors under it, in an awkward and cramped condition, that must retard that energetic spirit, without which it is impossible for the art of north-Carolina, is severely felt by those who have been taught to rely on their profession alone for the support of their families; and such indigence will doubtless keep every branch of mechanism that labors under it, in an awkward and cramped condition, that must retard that the western part of the state. And for the se-curity of those who may embark in this scheme, the society propose appointing several disinter-ested persons to value the work, and see that it ested persons to value the work, and see that it shall not be imposed on the people at exoribitant prices. The society has succeeded in procuring gentlemen to superintend the drawing, in whom the public has full confidence, and whose names will give a character to the Lottery. It is proposed to draw the scheme as soon as the tickets can be sold, which, it is likely, will be in February.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 9. ELECTION OF PRESIDENT. At 12 o'clock precisely, the members of the SENATE entered the Hall, preceded by their Sergeant-at-Arms, and having the President of the Senate at their head, who was invited to a seat on the right hand of the SPEAKER of the House.

Seats were then assigned the Senators, who took their seats together, in frout of the Speaker's Chair and towards the right hand of the entrance.

After examining the electoral returns from the different States, the President of the Senate rose, and declared that no person had received a majority of votes for President; and further declaring, that John C. Calhoun was duly elected Vice President Vice-President, having received 182

The Members of the Senate then retired.

The SPEAKER directed the roll of the House to be called by States, and the members of the respective delegations to take their seats in the order in which the right hand of the Speaker. The roll was called accordingly, when it appeared that every member of the House was present, with the exception of Mr. Garnett, of Virginia, who is known to be indisposed at his lodgings, in this

States should be called, beginning at the

The delegations took their places accordingly, ballot-boxes were distributed to each delegation, by the Sergeant-at-Arms, and the Speaker directed that the balloting should proceed.

The ballots having all been deposited in the boxes, Tellers were named by the respective delegations, being one from each State in the Union.

Mr. Webster, of Massachusetts, was appointed by those Tellers who sat at one table, and Mr. Randolph, of Virginia, by those at the other, to announce the re-sult of the balloting. After the ballots were counted out, Mr. Webster rose, and said :

Mr. Speaker: The Tellers of the votes at this table have proceeded to count the ballots contained in the box set before them. The result they find to be, that

For J. Q. Adams, of Mass. 13 votes, For A. Jackson, of Tenn. 7 votes, For W. H. Crawford, of Geo. 4 votes,

Mr. Randolph, from the other table made a statement corresponding with that of Mr. Webster, in the facts, but varying in the phrascology, so as to say that Mr. Adams, Mr. Jackson and Mr. Crawford, had received the votes of so many States, instead of so many votes.

The Speaker then stated this result to the House, and announced that John Q. Adams, having a majority of the votes of the United States, was duly elected President of the same, for four years, com-mencing with the 4th day of March next.

On motion of Mr. Taylor, of New-York, a committee was ordered to be appointed, to notify the President of the United States, and the President elect, of the result of the ballot.

And then the House adjourned. THURSDAY, FEB. 10.
Letter from the President Elect.

Mr. Webster, from the committee ap pointed for that purpose, yesterday, re-ported that the committee had waited on JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, of Massachusetts, and had notified to him, that, in the recent election of a President of the United States, no person having received a majority of the votes of all the electors appointed, and the choice having consequently devolved upon the House of Representatives, that House, proceeding in the manner prescribed in the Constitution, did yesterday choose him to be Pres ident of the United States, for four years, commencing on the 4th day of March And that the committee had- re ceived a certain answer, which he pre-sented to the House. The Committee also, in further performance of its duty, had given information of this election, to the President.

GENTLEMEN: In receiving this testimonial from the Representatives of the Peo-ple, and the States of the Union, I am deeply sensible to the circumstances under which it has been given. All my Predecessors in the high station to which the favor of the House now calls me, have been honored with majorities of the electoral votes in their primary colleges. has been my fortune to be placed by the divisions of sentiment prevailing among our countrymen on this occasion, in com petition, friendly and honorable, with three of my fellow citizens, all justly en joying, in eminent degrees, the public fa vor; and of whose worth, talents and services, no one entertains a higher and more respectful sense than myself. names of two of them were, in the fulfiment of the provisions of the constitution presented to the selection of the House, ling per line!

concurrence with my own: name closely associated with the glory of the nation, and one of them, further recommended by a larger minority of the electoral suffrages than mine.

In this state of things, could my refusal to accept the trust thus delegated to me, give an immediate opportunity to the people to form and to express, with a nearer approach to unanimity, the object of their preference, I should not hesitate to decline the acceptance of this eminent charge, and to submit the decision of this momentous question again to their determination. But the constitution itself, has not so disposed of the contingency which would arise in the event of my refusal; I shall, therefore, repair to the post assigned me by the call of my country, signified through her constitutional organs; oppressed with the magnitude of the task before me, but cheered with the hope of that generous support from my feliow-citizens, which, in the vicissitudes of a life devoted to their service, has never failed to sustain me-confident in the trust, that the wisdom of the Legislative Councils will guide and direct me in the path of my official duty, and relying, above all, upon the superintending Providence of that Being "in whose hand our breath is, and whose are all our Gentlemen: I pray you to make acceptable to the House, the assurance of my profound gratitude for their confidence, and to accept yourselves my hanks for the friendly terms in which you have communicated to me their decision. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

Washington, 10th Feb. 1825.

The moment of the Election, yesterday, may naturally be supposed to have en-one of deep excitement. The result was known in the Hall, as soon as it was ascertained how New York had voted. The very crowded galleries, however, are separated so completely from the body of the House, and such perfect silence prevailed, that the first idea that a choice had been made, was communica-ted, by the report of the Tellers, that Mr. Adams had received 13 votes!— The effect was electric. Without waiting for the Tellers to conclude their report, a few persons in the galleries, by clapping their hands, &c. gave tokens of approbation, and a few scarcely audible hisses were heard, as if in reply to the plaudits. The presentation of the report was arrested by the Speaker, order required in the House, and the galleries ordered to be cleared, and were cleared accordingly. This was a deep disappointment to the more than thousand persons, who had, many of them, patiently waited, from early morn, to witness this august speciacle. It was necessary, however, that the House should exact the respect due, not only to its authority, but to the political rights and personal feelings of its members.

After the galleries were cleared, the report of the Tellers was concluded, and the result declared in due form by the Speaker. Nat. Int.

MR. ADAMS AND GEN. JACKSON.

The National Intelligencer remarking upon the election of President by the House, says, "if the order and dignity of the official proceedings in this case-deserve commendation, not less is to be admired the personal deportment of those most seriously affected by the result. Tho evening of Wednesday happened to be one on which the President's mansion is open to his friends. As may well be supposed, an unusual crowd filled the spacious apartments. Mr. Adams, the President elect was there, and so was Gen. JACKSON. Never was the usual courtesy of General Jackson more conspicuous, or more honorable to himself. There was a laudable magnanimity in the manner in which he saluted Mr. Adams, and congratulated him on the event which had that day taken place. If Mr. CRAW-FORD had been present, we have no doubt he would have done the same. A kindred spirit pervaded the whole scene. The friends of the different candidates mingled together, and conversed with a good humor and frankness finely contrasted with the virulence and maligniy which, in some parts of the country, had attended the discussion of this quesion before it came to the House of Re-

Reward of Genius.—Mr. Goldsmith was astonished when the bookseller gave him five shillings a couplet for his delightful poem of "The Deserted Village," when each line was fairly worth as many pounds; but an instance of liberality has occurred in Russia which really deserves ecording. Alexander Paseliken, a young oet, has recently produced a work which oes not contain above six hundred lines, and for which he has received three housand roubles, nearly one pound step-
