A Complete Surrender. The Register of Saturday last, in imitation of a Editor, unlike other great military commanders, blubbering line. He says:

"We are not quite sure that we have formally announced to our readers the grand result of our late very spirited contest. We have however, we believe, stated some circumstances and facts from sorrowfully-and if not with tears in our eyes, it is because we won't cry-that we are floored, routed, battered, bruised and whipped--but with sundry qualifications. We confess ourselves floored, but not trodden down; routed but not reduced to captivity; battered and bruised, but by no means broken; whipped "in every principal part," like old Ben Steven's calf, but not yet subdued. Being now relieved by this solemn announcement of our great disaster, we dismiss the subject in disgust, and never mean to allude to it again. And we hope, if we have any friends, they will never mention it in our presence."

There now ! - he confesses, at last, that he is "floored, routed, battered, bruised and whipped." Well, all we have to say in reply is, he deserved it. We fear, however, that he is incorrigiblethat the genteel dressing he has received will but stimulate him to new acts of stubborness and disabedience. Still, it is enjoined upon us to hope "While the lamp holds out to burn

The vilest sinner may return"- and we, therefore, in compliance with the injunction, wish him a good time of it in repenting of gress. his manifold political transgressions and in learning that Democracy is really, after all, something to be thought of, deferred to, and respected.

But the Editor asks, in the way of "quarters," the re-election of Mr. Badger to the Senate! We borrow our reply to this modest request from our friend of the Wilmington Journal, who says:

"Of course the election of two U.S. Senators years, will devolve upon the Legislature which has recently been elected. Our Whig cotemporaries, finding themselves defeated, have, after a multitude of wry faces, apparently determined to make some fun out of the matter, and, as the best joke of the season, gravely ask the Democrats to mon thing in such cases, and for which the prevoters in the State, no man of sense could be found | doom as fixed." to send to Washington. request in Mr. Badger's behalf, and probably to this same man became a world renowned Genershow, for the first time, some slight estimate of al, and President of the United States in less than Southern rights as involved in the slavery ques. 20 years from that time,

"It is often said that there ought to be but one party in the South, and that we ought to have no fellowship with the Whigs on the other side of the united-tused into one? We think not."

you say when Judge Douglas brought forward the Nebraska bili? Did you not impeach his motives, revile him for his course, and profess to accept the measure only as a choice of evils? And did you not, when Messis. Badger and Kerr voted for, and Messrs. Puryear and Rogers against it, manage to go with both sides and defend both sides? "Fused into one !"-why, what concord, what agreement can there be between light and darkness-between welf-government?

Our cotemporary, if he is in earnest in desiring to be "fused," must look to some other quarter to be met half-way. Probably the "Know Nothings" would "fuse" with him and give him, now and then, a taste of the spoils. He admits himself teatenhe confesses, in substance, that the Whig party as a national party is no more; and now what remains to be done but for him to come over and join us, and be "fused" by time, circumstances, and the course of events. We think he might be received on probation; but if he puts on airs, and much as the matter in the tube will burn slowly, with all the freshness and flavor of the season. and thus give him full time either to "fuse" with us in becoming style or to say, his prayers before the granade shall do its work.
