We Demand and Defy the Proof.

In the Raleigh (N. C.) Register, the Whig Know Nothing organ, of the 21st, we find the following article :

"We are authorized to state that the Hon. D. M. Barringer has written a letter, which will be Pope's Nuncio, in Madrid, and the truth of which the Washington 'Union,' with no knowledge of the publican America. facts, bas thought proper to deny."

The gist of the statement denied by the Washprofessing the Catholic faith in religion should hold gentleman was the Hon. James Campbell, of Penn- lead us, or perish with it. sylvania; and finally, " that this assurance was secured to the Catholic hierarchy before the Cathabsurd a statement."

a conversation between himself and the Pope's a darker age, in the land of Washington and Jef-Nuncio, at Madrid, in which the latter made the ferson afford the startled world the miserable declaration attributed to him in the extract from the know-nothing speech which we have refrered

It is wholly immaterial to us upon whose testimony such a charge is made against President Pierce and his democratic friends ; and it matters hade what conversation took place on this subject between Mr. Barringer and the Nuncto, or between Mr. Barringer and any other Person, or between any other two persons, because nothing of the kind can change the relation of, and irresistible inference from, attested facts, all of which preclude the possibility of any foundation in truth for the statement of the "know nothing" orator denied some days since in our columne.

If there be any shadow of foundation for the pretence that Mr. Campbell's name was ever mentioned in Madrid, or any where else in Europe, in connexion with the cabinet, it cannot have been before the election, as the know-nothings dillely allege, but subsequently, when, amid the ken of in Madrid, hunself by undertaking to youch for any such States. Pierce, either directly or indirectly, or in any form of statement or speech, the alleged arrangement or understanding with the "Roman hierarchy," or is uterly, grossly, shamelessly false in all its substance form, and spirit, and but another specimen of the infamous system of base personal calumniation of motives and of actions which constitute the staple of the electroneering articles and addresses of the know nothings. It is a remarkable fact, as indicative of the protigacy of slander with which the President has been assuled, that while during the presidential election he sought the support of neither Protestant nor Catholic as such-while no appeal was made, with his approbation, to projudices arising from religion, race or birth-while he thus mainfained the dignity of the position in which he had been placed by the unsought action of the Democratic party-his opponents, on the other hand. not content with courting the "rich Irish brogue" A and "sweet German accent," went further, and A assailed him with barsh vituperation and mean A anisrepresentation because of certain provisions in J the constitution of this State, on which they built false imputations of being himself imbued with sentiments of bigotry against Catholicism. Now, when that stupid falsehood has had its day, and M has failed to accomplished the purposes of its malagaant inventors, they turn round and calumnlously allege that at that very time he was imbued E with sentiments of bigotry in favor of Catholicism. So contradictorily false and mean is the wretched for the company, notwithstanding the tightness of trash, in connexion with election, seriously dis- the times during the period embraced. honors political controversy in the United States. -Washington Union.
