The light of summer skies-The first born love was in that look. The Vear's rose from out the deep Of those inspiring eyes.

My life, like some lone, solemn spot, A spirit passes o'er, Grew indistinct with a glory not In earth or heaven before :

Sweet trouble stirred the haunted spot, And shook the leaf of every thought, Thy presence wandered o'er.

My being yearned and crept to thine, As if, in times of yore, Thy soul hath been a part of mine. Which claims it back once more; Thy very self no longer thine, But merged in that delicious life Which made us one of yore!

There bloomed beside thee forms as fair, There murmured tones as sweet, But round thee breathed the enchanted air, 'Twas life and death to meet; And henceforth thou alone wert fair,

And though the stars had sung for joy, Thy whisper only sweet.

MISCELLANY. AN IMPATIENT JURYMAN. - An Arkan sas correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune gives the following as authentic : You are all fond of cracking jokes at the expense of Arkansas; now here is one on your State, absolutely true. I got it from an eye witness:

The district court in one of your northern parishes was in session-'twas the first day of the court; time, after dinner. Lawyers and others had dined and were sitting out before the hotel, and a long, lank, unsophisticated countryman came up and unceremoniously made himself of 'em, and remarked: "Gentlemen, I wish you would go on with this court, for I want to go home -- I left Betsy a looking out." "Ah!" said one of the lawyers, "and pray, sir, what detains you at court?" "Why, sir," said the countryman, "I'm *fotched here as a jury, and they say if I go home they will have to find me, and they moutn't do that as I live a good piece." "What jury are you on !" asked a law-

"Well said the lawyer, "did the judge charge you !"

"Well squire." said be, "the little fellow that sits up in the pulpit and kinder bosses it over the crowd, gin us a talk, but I don't know whether be charged anything or not.' The crowd broke up in a roar of laughter, and the sheriff called court.

An old gentlemen was once joking a lady acquaintance, who had passed her fourscore years, in regard to her eligibility to the married state.

"Oh," said she, "I have no longer any desire to get married."

"Now," said her gallant, "suppose a very smart, rich young man should come and offer himself, don't you think you would accept?"

"O. I don't know," said she, "we are changeable critters."

ANECDOTE OF NAPOLEON I.-Napoleon was accustomed to wear a coat of mail under his clothes, and which he rarely went without. On his departure once for Belgium, he thought it best to guard against those dangers with which he was threatened -having all Europe leagued against himby every means in his power. He accordingly sent for a clever workman, and asked if he thought himself competent to make a coat of mail of such texture that no weapon whatever could penetrate. On the artificer answering in the affirmative, Napoleon agreed to give him 18,000 francs, the sum asked. On the day fixed, the man brought his work to the palace. Napoleon quickly examined it, and ordered the workman to put it on himself. The man obeyed,-Napoleon took two pistols, saying. "We shall now see whether this coat of mail is of the texture you promised me." He fired at | untion in town, would do well to call and ex his breast; the cuirass resisted. "Turn around." My hair had, for several years, been ecoming prematurely gray, accompanied by a harshness which rendered the constant application of oil necessary in dressing it. When I comment Line than the one we have an interest in, we ed using your Hair Restorative, about two months igo, it was in that condinon; and having continue its use till within the last three weeks, it has turned By that they are permanent. The "Palme to to its natural color, and assumed a soliness and Line" has ten fine first class Brigs and lastre greatly to be preferred to those produced by Schooners, constantly running, and will carthe application of oils or any other preparation have ever used. I regard it as an indispensable article for every lody's toilet, whether to be used as Hrir Restorative, or for the simple purpose of dieseing or beautifying the hair. You have permission
