A THOUGHT.

The rose that's bent with summer rain, Or filled with early dew, Sheds richer perfume o'er again, And glows with lovelier hue. The pearly drops that light within Its leafy chalice rest, But fresher beauties for it win, Its fragrant charms attest.

So, hearts bow'd down with weight and care, Or crushed by bitter grief, Show clearer what their virtues are, While waiting for relief; Each tender sigh is sweet, that springs From hearts by sorrow riven; If on its parting breath it brings

KISS ME!

Kiss me, darling! when I kiss you, Kiss me back and back again ! Lips are only rosy petals, Kisses drops of fragrant rain!

Some dearer hope of Heaven.

Where's the harm, then? I could give you Reasons, dear! for every one,-Only that I may not tell them In the broad and garish sun.

Take, at least (I think) a sweet one !-And I know you'll think with me-'Tis the Scripture: "Do to others What thou'd'st have them do to thee.'

FIRST BLOOD SHED FOR LIBERTY IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR.

[Communicated to the Charleston Mercury.]

The first blood shed in defence of liberty and in opposing English oppression was in the South. The State of North Carolina-the "old North State" and twin sister of South Carolina-is entitled to the honor. It was during the gubernatorial administration of the notorious Governor Tryon, the English governor at the time, who built one of the most splendid palaces in either North or South America, at Newberne, N. C., with the proceeds of taxes imposed upon the people for the purpose, and to resist which taxation a portion of them rebelled, just as did the men of Massachusetts afterwards. It took place in the year 1771, North Carolina. On the 16th of May, in that year, a battle was fought between the American and British forces, on the banks of the Alamance river in what is known now as the county of that name, called the Battle of Alamance. The American forces were called the "Regulators," from their darability. efforts in endeavoring to bring about an equitable | To Persons needing Mill Inks and gudgeons I will regulation of taxes and other oppressive matters. The American forces amounted to 2000, and were headed by 3 men named Husbands, Hunter and Butler, while the British forces, including militia called out by Tryon, amounted to upwards of eleven hundred, but had the advantage greatly in arms and dicipline. As might have been expected the Americans were defeated, after an action of two hours, with a loss of 20 dead and several wounded, while that of the royal forces, in killed, wounded and missing, was 61. Mr Wheeler says:

"Thus ended the battle of Alamance Thus and here was the first blood spilled in these United States, in resistance to exactions of English rulers and oppressions by the English Government. 'The great Wolf of South Carolina showed his blood thirsty temper by acts of revenge, cruelty and barbarity. He hung Captain Tew the next day, without trial, on a tree." It was in this ease, as Byren truly says in one of his poems: "For Freedom's battle once negra.

Bequeathed from bleeding sire to son, Though sometimes lost, is ever won."

Thus we see that it was at the battle of Alamance and not at Bunker Hill, that the first American blood was shed in the cause of liberty. "Honor to whom honor is due."

DEATH OF "OLD HANNIBAL," THE ELEPHANT. -The following we copy from the Cleaveland

This old and justly distinguished elephant died at Canfield on Monday. He was quite old-extremely so. We have heard his age stated vari-At times Hannibal was rather wild. Domestic Little Mountain. troubles may have been the cause of this. We believe his faults were of the head, and not of the heart. He never used tobacco in any form, and in all his travels was never forced to 'spout' his trunk for his hotel bills. What other showman of any note can say as much? Still, the fact can't be disguised, Hannibal cut up some very hard capers during his life. In Maine, years ago, he was one night shut up in a shed. In the morning he was found three or four miles off, with the roof of the shed upon his back!

When connected with June and Titus' circus and menageric, he had a falling out with some of the performers, and one day whilst they were making their grand entree in the ring, on their high mettled and gorgeously-caparisoned horses, Hannibal burst his fastenings, rushed into the ring, and unhorsed every man of them. After tossing them around for a while he returned to his accusfomed place, and permitted his keeper to tie him up again. Going from Boston to Salem, some years ago, he became enraged about something or other, and made terrific work on the road-tearing down fences, tipping over wagons, and tossing men and horses in the air.

Traveling from one small town to another, one Sunday afternoon, in New Hampshire, Hannibal met a long line of earriages, filled with people going home from church. That "evil communications corrupt good maners" is proved in the case of a member of the New York Assembly, from one of the "rural districts." is said that the first year he went to Albany he was so conscientions that he utterly refused to receive his allotment of stealings, in the shape of books and stationery. The next year he did not hesitate, and finally went home unable to tell the truth, even under the most favorable circumstances.

A DECEIVING SPIRIT. A few nights since, within this week, a young male friend of ours, who from a sneering skeptic had become a devout believer, retired to rest, after having his nervous system partially destroyed by the information, through the spirit of his grandfather that, he would very shortly become a powerful medium He was in his first comfortable spooze when a clicking noise in the direction of the door awoke him. He listened intently; the noise was still going on-very like the raps of the spirits on the table, indeed.

"Who is there?" There was no answer, and the queer noise stop-

"Anybody there?"

No answer. "It must have been a spirit," he said to himse If "I must be a medium. I'll try. (Aloud.) If there is a spirit in the room, it will signify by saying, 'ave'-no, that's not what I mean. If there's a spirit in the room, it will please to rap three times."

Three different raps were given in the direction of the bureau. "Is it the spirit of my sister?"

No answer. "Is it the spirit of my mother?"

Three raps. "Are you happy?"

Nine raps. "Do you want for anything?"

A succession of very loud raps. "Will you give me a communication if I get up?"

No answer.

"Shall I hear from you to-morrow?" Raps very loud again, this time in the direction of the door.

"Shall I ever see you?" The raps then came from the outside of the door. He waited long for an answer to his last question, but none came. The spirit had gone, and after

On getting up in the morning, he found that the spirit of his mother had carried off his watch and purse, his pants down stairs into the hall, and his great coat altogether .- New Yorker.
