SATURDAY NIGHT, IN MY SIXTY-THIRD YEAR.

[The following sublime verses were composed by Rev. Dr. T. Curtis, of Limestone Springs, S. C., who was lost recently by the burning of the Steamer North Carolina:] Night of privilege and peace! Conqueror bold, of fear and care! Voice o'er every storm-cloud, "Cease!

Roll no more your thunders here!" Voice in this world's wilderness, Welcome as the Seer's of old, Urging guilt to rise, confess,

And the Lamb of God behold!

Cheered, I hear again the 'Cry!' 'Flesh is grass of meanest clay; Elade and flower a vanity,' Withering in the blush of day!

Time of years a little week, Six days of its trouble gone: What remains one's heart to break In the last, the feeblest one?

Like the fast receding years Of the Patriarch's brunt and broil: Just when Rachael's smile appears, Who would seek to start the toil?

Tell me not of Nature's gloom, Portion of each passing night! Shadows of the coming tomb Flickering o'er a sickly sight!

Grace is health, and grace is youth; Grace is peace, and joy and power; Christ the way, the life, the truth,

Clearest in earth's darkest hour! Night, then, of all nights the best, Herald of the coming morn, Foretaste of my final rest,

Only rest of Woman born! Pleased, I hail thy gentle dews, And thy golden Western gleam: Sweetest Nature can diffuse;

Brightest as a parting beam! Herald of Death's hastening night! Beauty's eye-lash to the just, Folding in, to wake in night

Hours of time the noblest trust.

Half thy claims are still untold, But earth's harp-strings bear no more: Come, then, morn-true age of gold! On the unshadow'd Heavenly shore. Spartanburg, S. C., 1850.

WEST POINT ACADEMY .- At the quarterly examination, fourteen of the new cadets failed to proves that the present manner of selecting candidates by members of Congress is faulty. The choice is now more on political and social grounds than on the fitness of the young men to receive the honors and benefits of the institution. Moral, intellectual and physical qualities should be the test of admission, as all these are just as requisite to make first class officers in the Army or Navy, as it is to make superior men in any of the professions of civil service. As the law is, large classes enter and very small classes graduate, and while the institution and Government suffer frem these bad regulations, the young men rejected are greatly

> How to PRODUCE LARGE FRUIT .- A correspondent of the Gardner's Gazette, (Eng.,) says, by a very simple and easy process, fruits of many kinds may be raised about one-third larger than is usually the case, and of greatly improved quality. The secret consists in supporting the fruits so that they shall not be allowed to hang the whole weight upon the stalk, or twist about in the wind. The Gazette states that when the fruit is allowed to hang naturally upon the stalk, the increasing weight strains the stem or twig, and thus lessons the quantity of nutritrious food flowing to the fruit, which may be supported either by tying it to the branch with a piece of string or by enclosing it in a small net. Flowers, such as dahlias or peonies, may also be rendered much larger by the adoption of this system.
