PORTIOAL.

WHY BE UNHAPPY?

What's the use to be unhappy? What's the use to fume and fret? What's the use to look behind you, Nursing up the vain regret?

What if life is clouded over With its sorrows dark and wild? What if fortune does look sternly, Hath she never sometimes smiled?

Why, if you must taste the bitter, Will you fling the sweet away? Fighting ever with the crosses That you meet from day to day.

Why disquiet those around you With complaints you should suppress-Weary those whom duty bids you Still to comfort and to bless?

Look at yonder little insect, Sporting in the sun's bright beams: Listen now and hear the music Of you laughing little streams.

Look at nature all around you, And above, where'er you stray! Mute creation's ever singing! "Happy I!" it seems to say.

What's the use to be unhappy? What's the use to fume and fret? Pluck up courage, laugh at trifles, And you may be happy yet.

EARLY RISING.

There is a capital anecdote of the reign of Louis XVI of France, according to which some Court ladias got it into their heads from some book they had been reading, that it must be a glorious thing to see the sun rise. But as that took place in the only hours in which they were uniformly in bed, what was to be done? After much consideration, it being impossible of course for them to think of rising so early, they resolved to have a party to sit up all night and ride out to a neighboring hill just before day to witness the strange phenomenon. This was all duly performed and they went to bed, astonished at the degree to which they had ruralized themselves

Daniel Webster it seems during many years of his residence in Washington, used to get up an hour before sunrise in winter, light all the fires with his own hands, having a knack at that sort of thing, and then start off to market with his basket on his arm, to purchase himself the daily provisions, thus gaining many an hour's march on most of his associates.

In New York there has been formed a Young Men's Early Rising Association, all the members of which are pledged to be up at a certain hour. It originated with about half a dozen young men, who having kept up this habit for some years were surprised at its beneficial effects, and at the success in life of their associates.

A little watchful experience will render this not surprising to any thoughtful man. He who daily rises at five instead of seven, adds perhaps ten years of the brightest hours to his life of active thought and exertion. Life will be preserved. All other animals but man sleep through the dark hour and wake with the light. The time of all the occupations of the day will be moved forward | Office. or backward by the time of rising. The early man takes time by the forelock, and is always beforehand with his competitor and his enemy, anticipates their designs, and has all his affairs arranged so that they cannot be disturbed or molested. Such a man will drop to sleep in his chair at 9 o'clock. So much the better. Consider the effeet on the young man. It is at late hours that bad company becomes most dangerous. Byron abuses the moon as the light beneath which a thousand times more wickedness is done than the sun, and he who at twenty is never out of bed after ten, will find it has saved him a fortune, and earned for him a character before he is forty, of which he may well be proud. Many a young man in college has been saved from dissipated habits by the ringing of the college bell for morning prayers at five o'clock. After getting up thus early and working hard at study all day, he was glad to get to bed between nine and ten, fairly worn out with honest, useful, hopeful toil, instead of making and detergent remedy. a night of it in idle dissipation.

Intellectually a man can do twice the work while his mind is calm and clear, as it is early in the day, and as it is not and cannot be, later. It was guidance of patients are affixed to each box. before ten o'clock generally that Sir Walter Scott wrote his sixteen pages per day of those novels which are the delights of the civilized world; and it was before nine o'clock that in our own city Dr. | CHARLOTTE FOUNDRY Barnes wrote those commentaries on the Scripture of which four hundred thousand volumes have been sold in this country, and as many more in Europe. The very self-denial and self-command indicated and encouraged by this habit is not its least value. He who learns to govern himself in one matter will in others .- Phil. Ledger.

MATRIMONIAL DIFFICULTIES .- A married couple residing on Friend street, near the canal, found that, after a few years of connubial felicity, they were the most miserable mortals alive, being unable to agree upon any one point of domestic economy and diplomacy. Their daily cares were sure to culminate in an evening quarrel, and they sometimes astonished each other with blows, accompanied by the usual marks of their respective disble, and being able to agree upon no other point, they finally concluded to try the last grand experi- necessary to carry on the establishment. ment together by jumping into the Scioto. A HOPEFUL SON-IN-LAW .- A letter from Constantinople states that the first thing Nourry Pasha did, after he was married to the Sultan's daughter, was to borrow $200,000 from his fatherin-law's banker.

A SENSIBLE WAY OF COMMITTING SUICIDE. -In New York, on Wednesday evening last, an unknown man entered a barber's shop and attracted the attention of those present by walking about in an excited manner, and sighing deeply while awaiting his turn to be shaved. At last one of the persons in the room asked him if he was in trouble, but he made no reply. When his turn came he sat down in the chair, and the barber lathered his face, and was strapping his razor, when his unknown customer suddenly cried out-"I am not fit to live!" and drawing a single barrel pistol from his pocket, fired at his image in the mirror, shattering the glass to a thousand fragments. Before the barber recovered from his astonishment, his unprofitable patron ran off without waiting to wash

A ONE-SIDED JUDGMENT .- Judge Johnson, of Louisville, Ky., last week, in deciding a case before him, said: "A man has no right to whip his wife, but should be severely punished if he was guilty of such an outrage. But the women, on the contrary, had the right to whip thier husbands whenever they pleased. It was a prerogative belonging to them peculiarly and inalienable. He was only surprised it was not exercised to a greater extent.

MY FIRST LOVE.

A maiden once I chanced to know, With beauty superhuman: Her voice was gentle, soft and low-That "excellent thing in woman."

We traced together mountain streams, And when the stars were shining, We talked of poetry and dreams-Their mysteries divining.

I felt that fate no grief could give Like passion unrequited, And that I could no longer live Unless we were united!

I breathed my love-her hand I pressed-While she, her eyes averting, Returned the pressure, and confessed That she was-only flirting.

THE LIVER

Compounded entirely from GUMS, IS ONE OF THE BEST PURGATIVE AND LIVER ME-DICINES now before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, ensier, milder, and more effectual than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels

It is not only a Calhartic, but a Liver remedy, setting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and howels to carry off that matter, this accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cachartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it; and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The Liver is one of the human body; and when it the powers of the system are is almost entirely dependent Liver for the proper performs standard the performs its functions well, fully developed. The should on the healthy action of the ance of its functions when the system suffers in consequence having ceased to do its duty, gan, one of the proprietors practice of more than twenty wherewith to counteract the it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is bled with Liver Combines but to try a bottle, and These Guran remove all the system supplying in their invigorating the stomach, purifying the blood, whole machinery, removing effecting a radical cure.

Billious attacks are whole machinery, removing effecting a radical cure.
