POETIOAL.

THE NAME IN THE SAND.

Alone I walked the ocean strand, A pearly shell was in my hand; I stooped and wrote upon the sand My name—the year—the day. As onward from the spot I passed, One lingering look I fondly east; A wave came rolling high and fast,

And washed my lines away.

And so, methought, 'twill shortly be With every mark on earth for me; A wave of dark oblivion's sea Will sweep across the place Where I have trod the sandy shore Of time, and been to be no more; Of me-my day-the name I bore,

To leave no track nor trace.

And yet, with Him who counts the sands, And holds the waters in His hands, I know a lasting record stands Inscribed against my name, Of all this mortal part has wrought-Of all this thinking soul has thought, And from these fleeting moments caught

SEASONABLE HINTS.

For glory or for shame.

At this season many persons contemplate travelling. To do so with the largest amount of comfort and advantage, physical, social and mental, the following suggestions are made:

Take one-fourth more money than your actual estimated expenses.

Acquaint yourself with the geography of the route and region of travel.

Have a good supply of small change, and have no bill or piece higher than ten dollars, that you may not take counterfeit change. So arrange as to have but a single article of luggage to look after.

Dress substantially. Better be too hot for two or three hours at noon, than to be too cool for the remainder of the twenty-four.

Arrange, under all circumstances, to be at the place of starting fifteen or twenty minutes before the time, thus allowing for unavoidable or unanticipated detention on the way

Do not commence a day's travel before breakfast, even if that has to be eaten at day-light. Dinner or supper, or both, can be more healthfully dispensed with than a good, warm breakfast.

Put your purse and watch in your vest pocket, and all under your pillow, and you will not be likely to leave either.

The best and most secure fastening of your chamber door, is a common bolt on the inside, if there is none, lock the door, turn the key so that it can be drawn partly out, and put the wash basin under it; thus any attempt to use a jimmy or put in another key, will push it out, and cause a racket among the crockery, which will be pretty certain to rouse the sleeper and rout the robber.

A sixpenny sandwich eaten leisurely in the cars is better for you than a dollar dinner bolted

Take with you a month's supply of patience, and always think thirteen times before you reply once to any supposed rudeness or insult, or inatten-

Do not suppose yourself specially and designedly neglected, if waiters at hotels do not bring what you call for in double quick time; nothing so marks the well-bred man as a quiet waiting on such occasions; passion proves the puppy.

Do not allow yourself to converse in a tone loud enough to be heard by a person at two or three seats from you; it is the mark of a boor if in a man, and of want of refinement and lady-like delicacy, if in a woman. A gentleman is not noisy; ladies Comply cheerfully and gracefully with the Salem to Springs, 28 miles. customs of the conveyances in which you travel, and of the places where you stop.

Respect yourself by exhibiting the manners of a gentleman and a lady, if you wish to be treated as such, and then you will receive the respect of Travel is a great leveler; take the position which others assign you from your conduct rather than from your pretensions.

The man who never says nothing to nobody was married last week to the lady who never speaks ill of no one.

FASHIONABLE WOMEN .- An energetic and fashionable women:

physical and mental constitution, than the hardships of poverty and neglect. The slave woman at her tasks will live and grow old, and see two or three generations of her mistresses pass away. The ber near Eli Stewart's in Union county, or by addresswasher-woman, with scarce a ray of hope to cheer | ing me at Coburn's Store, Union county, N. It is a sad truth that fashion-pampered women are almost worthless for all the good ends of human life. They have but little force of character; they have still less power of moral will, and quite as little physical energy. They live for no great purpose in life-they accomplish no great ends. They are doll-forms in the hands of milliners and servants, to be dressed and fed to order. They dress nobody; they feed nobody; they instruct nobody; they bless nobody; they save nobody. They write no books, and set no rich examples of virtue and womanly life. If they rear children, servants and nurses do all, save to conceive and give them birth. And when reared what are they? What do they amount to, but weaker scions of the old stock? Who ever heard of a fashionable woman's exhibiting any virtue and power of mind for which it became eminent? Read the biographies of those large and beautiful Ornamental Circulars, reof our great and good men and women. Not one presenting the exterior and interior view of the Balti-

HOG CHOLERA CURED .- The hog cholera, which proved fatal in Tennessee, Kentucky and the West last year, found its way into Georgia. Large numbers of hogs, mostly young, died of the disease. We learn that Dr. James G. Whatley, of Upson county, lost thirty head last year, and seventy-seven this year; every one that was taken died. He concluded to try the effect of a dry lot. Accordingly, he penned his stock in a dry lot, eleven being sick at the time. He kept them there without water three weeks-the sick hogs recovered, the disease was eradicated, and has not troubled him any further. Several of his neighbors have since tried it, with the same flattering result. Try it.

THE FASHIONS .- "My son," said an old turbaned Turk one day, taking his child by the hand in streets of Cairo, and pointing out to him on the opposite side a Frenchman just imported, in all the elegance of Parisian costume-"my son, look there! If you ever forget God and the Prophet, you may come to look like that."

An Irish lover has remarked that it is a great pleasure to be alone, especially when you have your swate-heart with you.

A woman, not young, having heard of the success of Effic Carstang in St. Louis, in recovering $100,000 from her lover, determined to proceed against a suitor of her own. She accordingly consulted a lawyer in Richmond, submitting, as the and all cases of debility accompanied with defective main evidence of his attachment, the following billet-doux that accompanied a bouquet of flowers:
