POETIOAL.

LEAF BY LEAF. Leaf by leaf the roses fall, Drop by drop the spring runs dry,

One by one, beyond recall, Summer beauties fade and die; But the roses bloom again, And the spring will gush ancw, In the pleasant April rain, And the Summer sun and dew.

When the springs of gladness fail, And the roses in the bloom, Leaf by leaf turn wan and pale, We shall find some hope that lies Like a silent gem apart, Hidden far from careless eyes, In the casket of the heart.

So in hours of deepest gloom,

Some sweet hope to gladness wed, That will spring afresh and new, When grief's winter shall have fled, Giving place to rain and dew-Some sweet hope that breathes of spring Through the weary, weary time, Budding for its blossoming In the spirit's glorious clime.

TOPPING COTTON. We copy the following from the North Carolina

Planter:

MR EDITOR:-There appears to be a difference as to the propriety of topping cotton. The very best of farmers differ widely on this point, some believing it is best to top it every year-irrespective of the weather, or of the size of the weed, whilst others equally as good farmers object to topping at all. It is not surprising that farmers differ concerning this matter, as a great deal in my opinion depends upon circumstances over which we have no control. I will give the readers of the Planter my theory, or views on this subject-and of course I am correct-and let every man judge for himself. If my cotton is pretty-well grown, and the weather is somewhat dry, I commence topping about the middle of August-Which I think is early enough for this latitude, Mecklenburg Co., N. C., and continue, the weather continuing favorable, until I finish. My theory is, that if the weather is wet and the cotton is growing rapidly that succors will be thrown up when the top is taken off, and the cotton is thereby injured more than if the top was suffered to remain; if however the weather is dry, topping will check the growth of the weed, and instead of very tall cotton, your cotton will spread, and the branches will be better loaded with bolls, and they will be larger, and the cotton will mature sooner, a very important matter here where the season is too short for cotton to make a full erop; I believe it will commence opening sooner, which A large lot of Ready-made Clothing will expedite the picking of it out, another very important matter. I admit, however, that where the autumn is late and open, and there is not a killing frost until the latter part of October, that more cotton would have been made had the cotton not been topped. But in my opinion this happens but seldom, and may be justly regarded "as the exception and not the rule.

SUGAR CANE FOR CATTLE.—Much has been said, for and against Sugar Cane as food for stock, some contending that it is injurious, causing death in many instances, while others say the reverse .-Last week we published a letter from Walter F. Leake, Esqr., of Rockingham, addressed to Judge Saunders, of Raleigh, supporting the theory which Mr. Leake has reduced to practice and speaks from experience, that sugar cane can be fed to stock and horses with impunity and with great benefit.

But, we have just learned of an instance, in this ceunty, where several cattle have died from eating cane. Capt. Thos. L. Tucker reports to us, that he lost two fine beeves last week, having died, as he believes, of eating the cane. A small quantity of suckers or sprout cane, quite tender and not calculated to cut through the coatings of the stomach, as it is said the matured cane will do, was gathered by a servant and given to five or six head of cattle. In a few hours the cattle were all taken with convulsions and swelling of the body to a most unnatural degree, and soon afterward two of them died, and the lives of the others were only saved by prompt treatment.

We know Capt. Tucker well, and what he has stated can be relied upon. - Statesville Express.

HOG CHOLERA-EFFECTUAL REMEDY.-The Chattanooga Advertiser says: General Gillespie living in the suburbs of our city, informs us that he had several hogs affected with hog cholera, and that he drenched them with strong liquid of elder, and found it an effectual remedy. The hogs en-tirely recovered and did well. Three hands can drench a hog in five minutes time, making this a Stock than usual!! simple, easy and not costly cure. Farmers who are losing hogs will do well to try the plan of Gen. Gillespie, whom we can endorse as a good farmer I It will be complete in all articles of Real Estate unencumbered (cash value) and reliable gentleman.

LIBERALITY .- Last Sunday morning, the first Baptist Church of Chicago was in debt $14,000. In forty-five minutes after the fact was stated, the congregation wiped out $12,500 and were preparing to cancel the remaining $1,500; but the pastor begged them not to do so, as several friends were unavoidably absent, who would not be pleased if HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS, nothing was left for them to do.

A GOOD RETORT .- A lady of our acquaintance, says the Richmond News, was passing up one of our principal thoroughfares, a few days since, when she was met by a young man full of bad whiskey, who was laboring very strenuously to preserve his equanimity, and prevent the discovery of his condition.-In endeavoring to avoid a collision with the lady in question, he lost his balance and stepped on the skirt of her dress, when he turned towards her and remarked, by way of apology, "Hoops take up too much room." The lady looked at him and very quietly retorted. "Not so much as whiskey, sir," and passed on.

A NOVEL COURTSHIP .- A young gentleman happening to sit at Church in a pew adjoining one in which sat a young lady for whom he conceived a violent passion, was desirous of entering into a courtship upon the spot; but the place not suiting a formal declaration, the exigency of the case suggested the following plan:

He politely handed his fair neighbor a bible, opened, with a pin stuck in the following text:-Second Epistle of John, verse fifth-"And now I beseech thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning-that we love one another."-She returned it, pointing to the second chapter of Ruth, verse tenth: "Then she fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, and said unto him why have I found grace in thine eyes, that Straw Cutters, Corn Shellers. thou shouldst take knowledge of me, seeing that I am a stranger?" He turned the book, pointing to the twelth verse of the Third Epistle of John :-"Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with paper and ink, but I trust to come An examination of the above Stock is reunto you, and speak face to face, that our joy may be full." From the above interview a marriage took place the ensuing week.

THE PIG IN THE FENCE. Oh! where are the friends of the pig in the fence? "Where?" echo replies. He has none! There were numbers around him a few moments since, But now he is fast, they are gone. Gone! Only their friendship is gone; they are here Cavorting and "charging" immense, And joining the throng in afflicting the rear Of the pig that is fast in the fence. They seek not the cause that placed him between

The rails. Oh no! Why should they care? Since with bristles erect they can rush to the scene To punish him while he is there! To raise the cry loudly, so all, far and near, May know his condition, and hence Come running to join them in biting the rear Of the pig that is fast in the fence.

They would not release him, although it might cost Not a step more than was taken before, But, on the contrary, they'd do to their utmost To perplex and involve him the more; To press him more closely, mayhap, thro' the fear That he might betake him from thence, And punish them sorely for biting the rear Of the pig that was fast in the fence.

But swine are not all of the creatures that be-That find themselves sticking between The rails of the fence; and who strive to get free, While the world is still shoving them in; Who find that the favor they meet with depends Not on worth, but on dollars and cents, And that there are none who will prove themselves

To the pig that is fast in the fence.

COMPETITION IN THE FAR WEST .- The West is a great place for originality. The people of that wonderful section of country do things to their own liking, whether it conforms to antiquated custom or not. For instance, at St. Joseph, Mo., the Sons of Malta offered a premium of a tea-service, boquet, jack-knife and cane to the finest baby. His Honor, M. Jeff Thompson, Mayor of St. Joseph, secured a jack-knife as being the ugliest man on the fair grounds; and Mr A K. Miller, editor of the St. Joseph Journal, an elegant cane, he being considered the handsomest man present. A boquet was awarded to the handsomest unmarried lady under twenty-five years of age; and a silver tea service to the handsomest married lady under thirty-five years of age, having the most children.
