CRAMPS. These most terrible of pains, says Hall's Journal of Health, arise from the veins being so full of blood that they swell out, press against the large nerves and thus impede circulation of the vital fluid. In smaller nerves the distention produces neuralgia, which is literally "nerve ache." The cause of this unusual fullness of the veins is that the blood is so impure, so thick, so full of disease, that it cannot flow by nature's ordinary agencies. In proportion as it is thick, it is cold, and this abnormal state is nationts it is very marked, and existed days and weeks before the attack. The following simple method of treatment is given: When a person is attacked with cramp get some exclamation of grief and alarm still further disturbs the nervous equilibrium,) put the sufferer in the water as completely as possible, and thus heat is imparted to the blood, which sends it coursing along the veins, and the pain is gone. While the water is in preparation, rub the cramped part very briskly with the hand or a woolen flannel, with your mouth shut. But why keep the mouth shut? You can rub harder, faster, and more efficiently; besides, it saves the sufferer from meaningless and agonizing inquiries. A man in severe pain wants relief-not words. LETTER FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE.

EIGHTR VOLUME NUMBER 391.

FARMINGTON, N. H., Nov. 21st, '59. Hon. Henry A. Wise: - As you are personally an entire stranger to me, you may think I am rather impudent and familiar in addressing you in the manner that I choose to at the present time. But the only excuse I have to make is that in a perusual of the New York Weekly "Tribune," bearing date of November 19th 1859, my eye rested on the following infamous and threatening letter, purporting to have been quoted from a Virginia print by the "Tribune."-Namely : "Clerk of the Court of Charlestown, Va." "Sir:-You had better caution your authorities to be careful about what they do with Ossawattomic Brown. So sure as you hurt one hair of his head mark my word, the following day you will see every city, town and village, South of Mason and Dixon's line in flames. We are determined to put slavery down at all odds, forcibly if it must. peacefully if it can. Believe me when I tell you the end is not yet; by a long odds. All of us at the North sympathize with the martyrs of Harper's

These treasonable and scandalous lines were post market New York city. Now, sir, my object in detailing this letter to you, and adding another from myself, is to convince you that in regard to the statement that we, all of us at the North, sympathizes with the Harper's Ferry traitors, murderers and horse-thieves, is, as far as the majority of the North are concerned, a contemptible and notorious lie. On the contrary, the universal opinion in this section of the Union, with perhaps the exception of a few abolition fanatics is, that the traitors and conspirators against the peace of our common country, richly merit the doom in prospect for them. As for myself, I am not a blood thirsty-man, neither do I thirst for the blood of old Brown & Co.; nor yet do I believe that you and your brother Virginians do, as rank not for the examples made of desperate criminals. and the awful warning given by their execution when their crimes are capital, and when their aim in life is to subvert the laws of their country-I say if examples are not made of such criminals, government and law would soon cease to exist, and desperadoes, villians and robbers like Brown & Co. would run rampant throughout the country, North as well as South, seeking whom they might butcher and rob to gain their own selfish ends, which is, in my humble opinion, to rule this country or to ruin it, They had rather reign in Hell than serve in Heaven. And in my opinion, and I dare assert that it is the opinion of the majority of New Hampshire, that the future peace and quiet not only of Virginia, but of this Union, demands that an example should be made of these bold and desperate men who sought to deprive not only Virginia, but the whole South, of her constitutional rights, and plunge this country into all the horrors of civil war, bloodshed and anarchy-probably the annihilation of this glorious republic. I am no lover of the institution of slavery either as it exists at the South, in the enslavement of the black negro, or as it exists at the North in the oppression of the Anglo-Saxon white operatives and employers of Abolition monopolist manufacturers, whose condition is worse, in many instances, than the negro slaves. But I am digressing from my subject in this letter, and to resume.-New Hampshire we all know, tolerated the institution of slavery in her midst, and abolished it when she saw fit to by the free will of her own people. And I am perfectly willing to let the South enjoy the same constitutional right that New Hampshire and old Abolition Massachusetts did in regard to protecting or abolishing the institution of slavery. And if the Abolition fanatics of the North will not let the South enjoy the same rights, under the Constitution that our fore-fathers did, they can be forced to at the cannon's mouth; as in the case of the rendition of the fugitive slave Burns from their grasp a few years since. Let them threaten, and if they dare attack the South on the execution of Brown, and mark my word, they will not have the South alone to fight as they seem to think would be the case, for there are thousands of good law-abiding Democrats North of Mason & Dixon's line who are ready at the first signal or word of command from the commanderin-chief of this Republic to rally South and pour as hot a fire in the rear of traitors and incendiaries as they will meet with in front from Southern

But I have written enough to convince you that the South has friends as well as a few fanatical enemies at the North. This letter is at your disposal, either for public or private use, as it contains no assertions but what can be easily substantiated.

Very respectfully, yours. HIRAM G. CORE.

ONE OF THE CONSEQUENCES OF DISCRICK. Adopting the words of the Raleigh Register, we say that, in the event of the dissolution of the Union, one of the first acts of the Southern Confederacy would be the conclusion of a treaty with Great Britain, which would stipulate for the admission into our ports of British shipping, free of any tonnage duty; and the admission of British manufactured articles at a nominal or very low duty .- Along with this treaty, we should impose very high, if not prohibitory duties on Northern tonnage and Northern manufactures. The effect of all this would be to injure, if not destroy, the The Tennessee Standard man is jubilant Northern commercial and manufacturing interests, which it is warring.
