REMEMBER ME.

Remember me! Who can forget Those touching words by fond lips spoken, When eyes are dimm'd with dewy tears, And hearts with grief are nearly broken?

Remember me! The parting words Of friends, perhaps, about to sever, For days, for months, it may be years, Perchance on earth to part forever. Remember me! When death is nigh,

And some loved spirit fast is fleeting,

The promise of a deathless meeting. Remember me! What depth of love Those simple words at once reveal; They seem the language of the heart,

A sad, and yet a sweet appeal.

A ROYAL Kiss .- Some of the papers are stating that the Prince of Wales is the first heir apparent to the throne of England who has ever visited the United States; but this is a mistake. Doubtless many readers are familiar with an anecdote of William IV, before he came to his estate, to the following effect:

While in New York the Prince of Wales called at a barber shop to be shaved. When the operation was completed he stepped up to the barber's pretty wife, who chanced to be present, and giving her a kiss, remarked, "There, now, you can say you have been kissed by one of the Royal family. HEATED WIND STORMS .- A heated wind storm passed ovor a portion of Kansas on the 8th of July, which proved nearly as destructive 'o animal life as the recent tornadoes that visited with such terrible effect portions of Iowa. The wind arose about half-past ten o'clock a. m., and continued until three o'clock in the afternoon. At one o'clock the mercury rose to 1191 degrees, and continued so for about an hour, and then gradually began to decrease. The effect can scarcely be imagined. The wind blew a brisk gale carrying with it a salty, sulphurous smell. Two men in attempting to cross the country from Iola to Humboldt, (distant eight miles,) were overtaken and perished. There were three others at Humboldt, who were caught out with teams, which perished, the men alone surviving, and now are in a fair way to recover. There was scarcely a chicken left in the country. Hogs and cattle fell in their tracks and suffocated. Various reasons and conjectures as to its cause are given, but all unsatis-

A Boy's SIGHT STRANGELY LOST AND RE-STORED .- The editor of the Knoxville (Tenn.) "Witness" tells the following remarkable story:

A little boy in that region waked up one morning last winter and discovered that he was blind. He is twelve or thirteen years old, and up to that morning his sight has been perfect. When told the second time by his father to get up, he replied: "Father, is it daylight?" Yes, long ago." "Then, father," the little fellow sadly said, "I am blind."

And so it was. His sight was gone. The boy was recently taken to Nashville for nedical treatment. The doctors declined to do anything for him, however. But during his stay in the city his sight suddenly returned, when he threw his arms around his father's neck and exclaimed: "Oh, father, I can see."
