

THE DEVIL'S WALK IN THE WEST.

As Satan strolled in a quiet way, Through the United States, one winter's day, He called at a village in Illinois, To congratulate one of his favorite boys...

"Why, what's the matter, my chosen son Crying,—just as our game was won; I thought, my precious Imp of Sin, To find you in a radiant grin."

Quoth Abe—"My much respected sire, Let not my tears provoke your ire, Nor thankless think me for favors past, and most for this the best and last; But though the principal point is won, I fear the conflict's only begun, For just as I am about to do, My official robes at Washington, That infernal jilt, South Carolina, (To the hottest of hells may you consign her), Leads her six sisters out of the Union, Turns our plan to Babel's confusion, And now I fear that other eight States, Impelled by stern secessionist Fates, Will follow, and leave me,—damnation!— Only your Prince for half the nation!"

"Be comforted, son," the Devil cried, "The Border States are on your side; And I give it as my mature opinion, You can safely count on Old Dominion? And if secure of Virginia's aid, Then, my dear son, your fortune's made."

"Indeed!" cried Abe—and he wiped his nose, If matters be as you suppose, And Virginia still to me is true, My prospects then are not so blue, But tell me, trust, best of friends, Upon what grounds your faith depends?"

"Know then," said Satan, with Death's own grin, To Richmond I have lately been, And there I have held a sweet communion With the chief friends of my glorious Union."

Abe thrust his thumbs within his vest, And hugged the Devil to his breast, "My father, though art my only friend, Alone on thy arm will I depend; Vanished now are all my fears, Wiped away are all my tears, Now shall Disunion lower his crest, My Lieutenant GENERAL does the rest."

From the Rome (Ga.) Southerner.

MR BILL ARP TO ABE LINKHORN.

Mr. LINKHORN.—SIR: These are to inform you we are all well, and hope these lines will find you in statu quo. We got our proclamation, and as you have put us on my short notice, a few of us boys has concluded to write you and ax for a little more time. The fact is, we are most obliged to have a few more days, for the way things is hapin, its utterly impossible for us to disperse in 20 days. Old Virginy and Tennessee, and North Carolina, are continually aggravatin us into tumults and karousments, and a body cant disperse until you put a stop to sich onrly conduct on their part. I tried my darrest yesterday to disperse and retire, but it was no go, and besides your Marshal here aint doing a dam thing—he dont read the riot act nor remonstrate, nor nothin, and ought to be turned out. If you conclude to do so, I am authorized to recommend to you Captain Cooper or Mr McLaugh, or perhaps myself would attend to the business as well as most any body. The fact is, the boys around here need watchin, or they'll take sunthin. A few days ago I heard they surrounded two of our best citizens because they were named Fort and Sumter. Most of them are so hot they fairly six when you pour water on em, and that's the way they make up their military companies here, now—when a man applies to join the Volunteers, they sprinkle him, and if he sizes they take him, and if he dont they dont.

Mr. Linkhorn, sir, privately speaking, I'm afraid I'll git in a tite place here among these bloods, and have toelope out of it, and I would like much to have your Scotch cap and cloak, what you travelled in to Washington. I suppose you wouldn't be likely to wear the same disguise agin when you left, and therefore I would propose a swap. I'm 5 feet 5, and could get my plow briches and coat to you in 8 or 10 days if you can wait that long. I want you to write to me immediately about things generally, and let us know where you intend to do your fightin. Your proklamashun says something about taking possession of the public property at "All Harbors." We cant find no sich a place on the map. I thot it must be in Charleston, or Savannah, or Harper's Ferry, but they say it aint any where down South. One man said it was a little factory on an Island in Lake Champlain, where they made sand bags. My opinion is that sand bag business wont pay, and it is a great waste of money. Our boys here carry their sand in their gizzards, where it keeps better, and is always handy. I'm afraid your government is givin you and your kangaroo a heap of unnecessary trouble, and my humble advice is if things dont work better soon, you'd better grease it or trade the darned old thing off. I'd take rails or anything for it—if I could see you I'd show you a slight of hand trick that would change the whole concern into buttons quick. If you dont trade, or do something else with it soon, it will spile or die on your hands, certain.

Give my respects to Bill Surr and the other members of the kangaroo. What's Hannibal doin? I dont hear from him now-a-days.

Yours with care, BILL ARP.

P. S.—If you can possibly extend that order to 30 days, do so. We have sent you the discount in advance on a check at Harper's Ferry, (who keeps that darned old Berry now—its givin us a heap of trouble,) but if you positively wont extend, we'll send you a check drawn by Jeff Davis, Beauregard endorser; payable on sight any where.

Yours, B. A.

BLOCKADE OF SOUTHERN PORTS.—The following from the London Telegraph, will be read with peculiar interest at this time:

With regard to the blockade question, we have to state that it cannot be solved by any Government in America, but must be left to the maritime powers of Europe—which, acting upon the law of self-preservation, must, of course, forbid all attempts to exclude their commerce from the South; the ruin of which, though it may gratify the passions, would not serve the North. Such a policy of coercion, therefore, would be both short-sighted and effectual. The new tariff, for which Mr Lincoln is not responsible, though he will not be unwilling to accept its consequences, is an unwise measure on the part of those who framed it. President Lincoln has the interest of the Union to protect, and Lord Palmerston is bound to defend those of Great Britain, but the former cannot be allowed to blockade our flag out of the Southern ports, or the latter be stimulated to any particular advocacy of Northern ambition.

In the words of the Richmond Whig, the best and bravest of the United States army officers now surviving, of those who acquired so much glory and distinction during the Mexican war, are leaving the United States service, and entering that of the Confederate States. So of the navy. We shall soon have the best officered army and navy in the world—with the best and bravest soldiers in the world. Most of the brightest names in the army and navy have sent in their resignations. The Supreme Court is following the example. The reported resignations of Judges Taney, Campbell, and Wayne reduce that tribunal to a cypher. Seward may now elevate his creatures, but the association of gentlemen will be wanting to invest them with respectability.

SOUTHERN UNION VS. NORTHERN UNION.—

The debts of the several States of the Southern Confederacy sum up in the aggregate nearly 18,000,000—a much smaller amount in proportion to population than the aggregate debts of the States of the Northern Confederacy, which reach the enormous figure of $174,000,000—which added to city, corporation and railroad debts, make a total of $500,000,000. To this fearful sum must be added the debt of the Union, which will amount to $100,000,000 when the whole of the $25,000,000 loan shall have been taken. The total debt is thus, in round numbers, $600,000,000, the interest of which, at six per cent, is $36,000,000 per annum. Thus are we rapidly following in the wake of the bankrupt governments of Europe.
