THE LEGISLATURE of North Carolina will meet in Raleigh on Thursday the 15th. The election of two Senators is about all the business to be transacted at this time that we know of, and that might have been postponed for the sake of economy.

LIEUT. TODD .- Most people, we presume, are aware that there is a Lieut. Todd, Lother-in-law of Abraham Lincoln, in the Confederate service. The citizens of Franklinton, N. C., complain of the bad conduct of this Lieutenant at that place while on his way to Raleigh in charge of some Northern prisoners. The proceedings of a public meeting are published in the Journal, from which we learn that when the Rev. Mr Mayuard and

Mr J. B. Winston, of Franklinton, entered the car at that place for the purpose, we suppose, of seeing the prisoners, Lieut. Todd ordered them off. In response Carolina, because the Court decided the Stav Law unto a remark of Rev. Mr Maynard that he was very deaf constitutional. Now is the time, above all others, to and did not hear the order at first or he would have gotten off the platform, Todd stepped up to him, and strictly observe Constitutions, obey laws and sustain after a few words had passed, struck Mr Maynard in this section. The South is rich in supplies and rich appear to have fallen into a serious error, that because the face. How would they like to see their brothers, fathers and sons handcuffed by the Northern hirelings and carried to Yankee-land, to be insulted, abused and starved to death? We know that the strong arms of our noble people will be further nerved for the contest, and that they will die before surrendering to a blood. thirsty foe who have invaded our soil for the purpose of subjugating us and dividing out our lands and property among their poverty-stricken population. BUZZARDS .- We learn that it is a remarkable fact that there are few buzzards now to be seen in all this region of the State. They have doubtless been drawn by the aint of death to Manassas .- Foy. Observer. There are no buzzards up this way, and those which feed on the carcasses of the invaders are never expected to return. The essence of lager beer and strychnine whiskey is not wholesome for buzzards.

N. C. COAL .- The Charleston Mercury says it has been using North Carolina coal for running its engine since the Northern supply was cut off, and it finds it a superior article to that heretofore imported from Yankeeland. Arrangements are being made by a Charleston agent for supplying that city with this coal from the beds on Deep river. A correspondent at Wilson N. They are men who have resided in Wilmington for at least twenty years, I should suppose, and also have both made fortunes and held prominent places. But now, just at a time-and a critical time-when they should show their patriotsm and their love of country, which heretofore they have so boldly manifested, they sneakingly slip out of town in the wee hours of the morning, leaving their ousiness in charge of Southern partners." It is reliably stated, on the most undoubted evidence, that when the news was received at Washington of the capture of Sherman's battery, Gen. > EFFECTS OF THE WAR .- The effects of the war upon the South is quite different from what it is upon the North. In the South, the people generally have plenty to live on, and are as well off as they were 12 months ago; a scarcity of some articles are learning them habits of economy; while in the North, they are starving by thousands, and business of all kinds is suspended, and men who were rich six months ago are now poor and ruined. The withdrawal of Southern patronage has had a most disastrous effect upon Northern mechanics and tradesmen. This withdrawal of trade has learned the South to be self-supporting. We are now manufacturing articles in North Carolina and Virginia which we never would have done had it not been for the war. Thousands of dollars have already been expended in Richmond for printers' ink alone, all of which went to New York and Philadelphia before the war. It is evilent that the war and blockade will prove a lasting bencht to the South, and will learn our people to be more industrious, economical and self-sustaining. WARE-W II Moore, sup. court: J J Ferrell, co. court. Besides all this, it will stop the tide of summer travel to the North, where Southern people wasted their money and became corrupted by Yankee society and Yankee customs. And we hope that all those customs and habits caught up at the North and brought to the South will be immediately dispensed with. Instead of the vulgar dances, let us return to the old-fashioned the Journal that it has entirely misapprehended Col. "eight-handed" reels and exercising "break-downs" Hill's character. Todd's conduct was outrageous, profane and cowardly, and the fact that he is a brother-in-law of Abe Lincoln justifies them in regarding him with suspicion. A copy was ordered to be forwarded to the Secretary of War and all Southern newspapers were requested to pub-

SOUTHERN CONGRESS .- Most of the business has been transacted in secret session. A resolution was passed permitting the 1st Regiment N. C. Volunteers to be mustered into the Confederate service for the period agreed upon at the time of their enlistment (six months.) They are to be paid from the time their services were accepted by Gov Ellis.

The standing Committees have been appointed by Pre- whiskey, which made them quarrel about some watersident Cobb. We have glanced over the list and do not find that the chairman of any committee has been taken from the North Carolina, Virginia, Texas or Arkansas Delegations, but there are six chairmen from Geortwo each from Ababama and Mississippi, one from Florida, and three from Louisiana. All the N. C. members are at the tail end of the Committees. We mention this in no complaining spirit, but as being rather curious. Probably Mr Howell Cobb did not happen to think about the qualifications of North Carolinians and Virginians when he was making out his list of Committees. "Nobody hurt." A special law has been passed allowing soldiers in camp to send letters without pre-payment,the postage to be paid by the person receiving the letter. That is right : but we regret to see that the provisions of the act have been extended to members of Congress. We thought that exclusive privileges to members of Congress were to be discontinued under our new Government. All, except soldiers in service, should be made to pay their postage like other people. We are afraid that some of the evil practices of the old government are still admired by Southerners.

+ + + WHY ?---While Brigadiers are as plenty as hops from other States, we find but one North Carolinian, Gen. There will soon be full twenty regiments of North Car-without that recognition so lavishly bestowed upon others. We are informed that even in the case of Col. Hill of the First N. C. Regiment, the Confederate government has failed to confirm the action of the North Carolina authorities, although, in truth, Mr Hill was the hero of the first really important and decidedly glorious contest of the war. Of course we all know that Col. Hill is given to many words, much preaching and blathering, foolish sneers at newspapers, whose columns his own verbose reports would monopolize, but Col. Hill apart, the courtesy of confirming him is due to the State .- Wil. Journal.

There may be some cause for the complaint contained n the first paragraph of the above, but that in the second paragraph is a mistake we think, for we were informed some time ago, that President Davis had commissioned Col. Hill as Brigadier-General. But our friend of the Journal is certainly very much mistaken in his impressions as conveyed in the last paragraph. Col. Hill has been one of the most unassuming, unostentatious men we ever knew, considering the reputation he has for military skill and bravery. This is a subject of remark among all who know him about here where he has lived for some years. He is not liable to the charge of being "given to many words, much preaching and blathering, foolish sneers at newspapers." Like all other sensible men, we supposo, he don't admire a continual stream of newspaper puffs. But we can assure

INTERESTING FROM WASHINGTON .- The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Exchange, writing on the 26th ult., gives the following interesting sketch of affairs in that city:

The days of terror ar. again upon us. Since the disorganization of the army, thousands of soldiers throng the streets every hour of the day and night; two-thirds of them beastly intoxicated. Their appearance, generally, is shocking, characterized by nothing but rags and filth. It is rare, now, to see a soldier with a clean face, though hydrants are placed at most of the corners of the streets. But few ladies are seen upon the streets, even during the day, and these are invariably accompanied by an escort to protect them from insult, and, perhaps, outrage.

There were more than fifty fights, between soldiers, yesterday and last night. Seven men were stabbed, and four others shot. One man, who was shot at the corner of 13th and D streets, last tion, the ball, it is supposed, having entered his lungs.

FOREIGN ITEMS .- The London Times says that Lincoln's message confirms the impression that the inaugural produced, that after an infinite loss of life and humiliation on the part of the North, the result will be the acknowledgment of the Southern Confederacy.

The Toronto Globe says that the sympathies of the British people are being withdrawn from

The London Telegraph and Star denounce Lincoln's message as unsatisfactory.
