POINTS OF INTEREST IN THE WEST AND NORTH-WEST.

found interesting and valuable for reference :

Jefferson City is the capital of Missouri. It is situated very near the centre of the State, on the right (South) bank of the Missouri river, 155 be elevated and picturesque. The population, in 1853, was about 3,000.

St. Louis is the most important city in the State and in that section of the cld Union. It is situated on the right (west) bank of the Mississippi river, about 914 miles below the Falls of St. Anthony, about 20 miles below the junction of the Missouri and Mississippi, and about 175 miles above the mouth of the Ohio, and 1,200 miles above New Orleans. It is located on two plateaux, one about twenty feet and the other about sixty feet above the floods of the Mississippi. It was first selected by Laclede, a trapper, for a trading post, in February, 1764, and contains a population now considerably over 100,000. Springfield is the county seat of Greene county, and is situated in the south-west corner of Missouri, about 130 miles Southwest of Jefferson City, 200 miles from St Louis, 50 miles North of the Arkansas line, and 75 miles East of Kansas and Indian Territory. The situation is high and healthy, and the population of the place is 2,000. Rolla is a small place, located at or near the

the Pacific Railroad, about 40 miles South-east of Jefferson City, and 100 miles west of south-west of St. L. uis, in the direction of Springfield. Potosi is the county seat of Washington county, situated about 50 miles east of Rolla, and 70 miles south of south-west of St. Louis. Rich mines of lead and of iron are worked in its immediate vicinity. Iron Mountain is an elevation of 1,500 feet high with a broad base, and is said to be nearly pure iron. It is situated about 80 miles from St.

Louis, and about 20 south-east of Potosi Pilot Knob is an elevation 444 feet high, said to be composed of steel, and is situated about 10 miles south of Iron Mountain. Cairo is situated in the Southern extremity of Illinois, at the junction of the Ohio with the Mis sissippi, distant 175 miles south of St. Louis, and only about 40 miles north of the Northern boundary of Tennessee New Madrid the capital of New Madrid county. Missonri, is situated on the right (west) bank of the Mississippi, about 280 miles south-east of Jefferson City, 125 miles south-east of Pilot Knob, 200 south of St. Louis, and 40 south south-west of Cairo.

Charleston is the county seat of Mississippi

tape Girardeau, the capital of a county in Missouri of the same name, is situated on the right bank of the Mississippi, about 25 miles north-west | set for heaving. of Cairo, and about 65 north of New Madrid.

Little Rock, the capital of Arkansas, is situated on the right (south) bank of the Arkansas river, about 300 miles from its month, 160 miles a little senth west of Memphis, and 1.065 miles from Washington city. It is situated on a rocky bleff. about 50 feet high, a mmanding a fine view of the surrounding country. Its population is 4 000.

Fort Smith is situated in Sebastian county, in the north-west part of Arkansas, on the right bank of the Arkensas river. It was a military post. around which a flourishing town, doing a prosperous business with the Indians, has sprung up. The population is about 2,500.

Fort Fillmore is a military post in Arizona Territory, situated on the left bank of the Rio Grande. about 50 miles north of El Paso, and near where Arizona, Texas and Mexico corner.

El Paso is an important place on the right (western) bank of the Rio Grande, on Mexican soil, and in the extreme north-east corner. It is situated about 1,460 miles from the mouth of the river, is distant 1,800 miles from Washington city, about 800 miles west of Shreveport, in Louisiana, and 600 miles from the Pacific Ocean. It is on the route from Fort Smith and Shreveport to Fort Fillmore and California, and the proposed route of the Southern Pacific Railroad. It is properly a line of settlements in a narrow, fertile valley with a population of about 6,000 souls.

Santa Fe, the capital of New Alexico, is situated on a small tributary of the Rio Grande, about 300 miles north of Fort Fillmore, and between 700 and 800 miles from and south-west from Jefferson City. The population of Santa Fe is about 6,000.

The question, however, is thus properly secured and not used in waste, it is prob- satisfactorily disposed of by a genius: able that nearly enough has been made to furnish tle, they try to do with that little. To illustrate: after a drink. we will suppose that a farmer's wants, in order that he may get along comfortably during the year, with plenty of food for man and beast, require that he should make two hundred barrels of corn. It the season is a very good one, his crop may amount to 250 barrels; if dry, it may not average 150. In the one case he will feed with a very liberal hand, so that by the maturity of the next crop his crib will have been pretty well emptied; in the other case, he will stint his horses and hogs so as to eke it out until new corn comes in. Under present circumstances, when the whole future is involved in so much uncertainty. it appears to us to be the imperative duty of every farmer to practice a wise economy in regard to this important crop. There will be a use for every grain for one purpose or another. We shall have to raise our own supplies of pork, instead of remaining dependent on Ohio and the Northwestpresent terminus of the South-western branch of and to do this, will require a great amount of corn.
