The news from the South-west and West continues cheering. It is to be hoped that our forces will soon occupy Nashville, Louisville, &c.

Our guerrillas continue to be a source of great annoyance to the enemy at all points, and by their own admission are doing them great damage.

Tun Covennonship .- Gov. Clark has issued a proc-Jamation stating that Zebulon B. Vance received fifty-two thousand eight hundred and thirty-three votes, and that William Johnston received twenty thousand one hundred and seventy-four votes for the governorship. There is a falling off in the total vote, as compared with that of 1869, of 10,000. No returns have been received from the counties of Carteret Cherokee, Chowan, Gates, Haywood, Macon, Mitchell Polk, Tyrrell and Washington; and from the counties within the enemy's lines we have only the returns of the vote of the volunteers who are in the army. The vote by counties will be found elsewhere in our columns.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE .- The attention of our readers is invited to the advertisement of the above Institution, which appears in another column.

Boy We are requested by the Church Council of the Lutheran Church to state that parents and guardians should prohibit their children and wards from throwing missiles at the windows of the Church building. Hox. ABRAM RENCHER.-This gentleman (says the Standard) arrived in Raleigh on Friday last, on his of New Mexico, and occupied that position until his State severed her connection with the Federal Government. Governor Rencher labored for some twelve months to get through with the settlement of his accounts, and to obtain permission to cross the lines; and this permission he obtained only recently, after numerous and most perplexing difficulties.

ANOTHER ARRIVAL .- The British steamer Alice, formerly the Matagorda, arrived at a Confederate port last Thursday morning from Havana. She brought 500,000 pounds of powder, 20,000 pounds saltpetre, and an assorted cargo. She passed the blockaders without the slightest difficulty.

WOUNDED AND SICK SOLDIERS ON FURLOUGH .- The Surgeon of "General Hospital No. 24," Richmond, in answer to letters from wounded and sick soldiers, asking an extension of furlough, publishes the following; and as all other Hospitals are no doubt governed by the same rules, we publish it for the information of "Patients after leaving a Hospital on furlough, pass entirely from its jurisdiction; and it is the duty of the soldier at the expiration of the time for which leave of order to cover their retreat, and if they succeed in absence was granted, to report to the Captain of his Company, either in person or by a Surgeon's certificate - the certificate to be sworn to before a Magistrate."

"One of the most dismal and discouraging pictures of the war is that developed officially in the Senate on Wednesday. These facts have already been laid before the public through our columns; but now they are officially promulgated they must strike the people with double force. The army of the Potomoc was originally 230,000 strong. Prior to the 5th of April, according to the testimony of the Assistant Secretary of War Tucker, McClellan had 120,000 men at Yorktown Subsequently, Franklin's division, 12,000; McCall's division, 10,000; 11,000 from Baltimore and Fortress Monroe, and Shield's division, 5,000, were sent to him. nineteen regiments were left to guard Washington. THIRTY YEARS WAR .- A German paper in New York ave that the draft ordered by Lincoln is a guarantee for a thirty years civil war. It further says:

" By a single stroke of the President's pen, we are converted into the subjects of a Government which considers the bodies of its citizens as its own property, and claims the absolute right to use them accordg to its whim until they are destroyed."

That's so. The Germans are beginning to see into the Lincoln government now. We hope they will get their fill of that concern; and its no pity for them, for they were (by their votes) the main instigators of the

THE YANKERS AND THEIR GENERALS .- There is no perhaps a "nation" under the sun so vacillating and ill-humored, when they fail to carry their point, as the "universal Yankee nation;" and when perchance they do gain their point, they are vacillating still and ready to go beside themselves with joy. Steadiness and firmness forms no component part of their character, individually or collectively-they are either extremely cast down or extremely overjoyed by any event-one extreme or the other is their penchant, and what they seem to strive after. This is plainly shown in their treatment of their general officers from the first battle of the war up to this time. Whenever the rumor of a way with his family to his old home near Pittsboro. | clash of arms reaches them, if at all in their favor, they Mr Rencher was appointed by Mr Buchanan Governor | Immediately, without waiting to inquire further, set up a loud shout of triumph, and proclaim in newspaper and in bombastic speeches that the commander of their forces which were engaged is a "second Napoleon," perfect Garibaldi, and this they keep up until they succeed in getting him promoted. But, alas for human nature, and Yankee human nature in particular, their glory departs as suddenly as it comes. Promoted beyoud his ability to command, and also to accomplish something really brilliant in a short space of time, the Yankees commence again to print and to speak, but this time in a different strain; they are now clamorous and labor as hard for his removal as they did before for his promotion-having now another "Napoleon" to fill his place. Strange as it may seem, cowardice is the only manner by which a general can gain the continued confidence of the northern people to any extent .-Fremont, Siegel and Banks, in the northern mind haversack behind. It is stated that his haversack pieces of artillery and 200 men. are the three greatest generals of the present day; yet not one of these generals ever fought a battle to its conclusion; upon hearing of the advance of a foe with anything like numbers equal to their own, they prepare to retreat, and never give battle unless overtakes and compelled to do so, when they make a feint at battle in getting off with a good part of their commands, the Yankees pronounce the retreat a "great victory!" Next to cowardice, the art of lying is very effective to keep the good will of the Yankees. In this latter particular, McClellan, Halleck and Pope excel the res a bill and then marched down again," and McClellan that McClellen has had his day, and that his command marched up to Richmond and then marched back is to be turned over to either Banks or Pope-the one

The portion of the Yankee army under Pope was at Warrenton on Wednesday, and it is stated that its retreat in the direction of Alexandria is entirely intercepted. The only route by which he could reach that point is by way of the Junction, which is now in possession of our forces.
