NOTICE.

Our terms are now three dollars per year. Printing tnaterials and everything else have more than doubled in price, and it is proper, and nothing but fair, that the price of newspapers should be advanced to meet the increased rates of material, living, &c. We don't intend to promise anything that we can't afford, and we think it better to advance one dollar on our subscription price than to reduce the paper in size, as most of the papers in the South have been compelled

The Democrat will be discontinued to all subscribers at the expiration of the time for which it is paid. Those who want to continue must renew before or at the expiration of their time. The dunning business is unpleasant, and we do not want to engage in it again. Those who are in arrears, and whose papers have been discontinued, will oblige us if they will pay up without putting us to further trouble about it.

TIMELY HINTS.

A friend has called our attention to the following hints from "Hall's Journal of Health," which may not be out of place at the present time:-YELLOW FEVER ANTIDOTE.-A Portuguese Medical Journal states, that when the Yellow Fever prevailed at Lisbon, all those persons escaped who lived in houses lighted by gas.

We have several times stated in these pages, that those who lived where fever and ague and chills and fever prevailed, might avoid them by the practicable expedient of kindling a brisk fire in the family-room at daylight and at sundown throughout the year (and eating breakfast before going out to work) the philosophy of the fact, in both cases, being the same, that heat, from whatever source, rarefies the impregnated air, making it, in the first place, less concentrated, and, therefore, less malignant, besides causing it to ascend above the breathing point, and producing those quafts of air, which under all circumstances, are self-purifying. The antagonistic properties of fire against all the fevers of this country, from the simple chill and fever, up to the deadly "congestive," and the malignant "yellow," we have many a time verified in our own person, in places where these diseases love to revel.

We have spent a lifetime ourselves in the West and extreme South, and know in our own person, and as to those who had firmness to follow our recommendation, that whole families will escape all the forms of Fall fevers who will have bright fires kindled at sunrise and sunset in the family room. But it is too plain a prescription to secure observance in more than one family in ten thousand. After the third frost, and until the Fall of the next year, it is an important means of health for persons to sleep with an outer door or window partly open, having the bed in such a position, as to be protected from a draught of air. We advise that no person should go to walk or take exercise in the morning on an empty stomach; but if it is stimulated to action by a cup of coffee, or a crust of bread, or apple, or orange, exercise can be taken, not only with impunity, but to high advantage in all chill and fever localities.

PASS THIS MAN AROUND,- We record the fact to the high credit of Mr. Robert Laurence, of this vicinity, that while every body else (except one,) that we have heard of, sold their bacon and lard at thirty, forty and 50 cents, per lb., all that they could get, he sold at 25 cents, and refused to take any more. We know of but one man like him, and that is John Gunn, Esq., of this county. We call acts like this practical patriotism, and this is the only sort of patriotism, in times like these, worth talking about. Now, we have heard of men contributing money, &c., to patriotism, but what they gave with one hand they managed to get back with the other, with compound interest, by selling things at exorbitant and extortionary prices .-Mitton Chronicle.

that Lincoln has authorized "tiovernor" Stanly to order an election for Representatives to the Federal Congress from the 1st and 10th Districts in this State.

HARRISBURG .- Harrisburg is the capital of Pennsylvania, centrally located, and is the seat of justice of Dauphin county. It is situated on the east bank of the Susquebannah river, 100 noles west by north of Philadelphia, and 110 miles north by east of Washington. The great Pennsylvania railtoad, 353 miles in length, connects at this point with the Lancaster and Harrisburg Railroad. The Lebanon Valley Railroad leads from Harrisburg to Reading, and the Cumberland Valley Railroad extends in the opposite direction.

The site of Harrisburg is an elevated plain between the river and Paxton Creek. The public buildings belonging to the State, occupy an eminence in the northern part of the city. The Capitol is a handsome brick building, 180 feet long by 80 wide.

Harrisburg also contains an arsenal of the State, a fine county prison of cut stone, one bank, a savings institution, about twelve churches, a Masonic Hall, and a Lancasterian school. One daily, and eight weekly newswapers are published there. Among the manufactories are three extensive iron furnaces, a rolling mill, and several breweries and potteries; also an extensive manufactory of railroad cars. The city is very prosperous, and has been the capital of the State since 1812.

NEW MILITARY OR THE CONSCRIPTION LAW.

To this law of Congress as at first published by us, there were subsequently passed several amend- of Charlotte, at Isaac N. Alexander's mills. ments or auxiliary laws. We present the following synopsis of the law as thus modified, which we are satisfied will be found correct, in the hope and belief that it will prove useful in contributing to a general understanding of it:

The conscription law places in the service of the Confederate States, for three years, unless the war sooner ends, all white men between eighteen and thirty-five years of age, resident in the Confederate States, and not legally exempt from service.

The law is silent as to exemptions; but an act defining the class of exempts has been passed. which embraces generally those hitherto exempt, with some additions. All twelve months' men, between the prescribed ages, are continued in service for two years from the expiration of their present term, should the war continue so long; and all those under eighteen and over thirty-five, are to be retained for ninety days after their term expires, unless their places are sooner supplied by recruits. The twelve months' men, between eighteen and thirty-five, who are retained beyond their term of enlistment, and who have not yet received bounty and furlough, shall receive both; the furloughs, however, to be granted in such numbers and at such times as the Secretary of War may deem most compatible with the public interest; and the men may receive in lieu of furlough, the commutation value in money of the transportation granted to furloughed men by the act. The term of service of those who originally enlisted for the war, or who have since re-enlisted for that period, is not affected by the law.

Men now in service are not permitted to re-enlist in other organizations than those to which they now belong; and all re-enlistments that have been made from one existing company to another, or into a new company, where the re-enlistment has not been perfected by actual transfer, is in effect cancelled.

Companies, battalions and regiments of twelve months men, retained in service by the act, shall be entitled, within forty days from the date of the act, on a day to be fixed by the Commander of the Bridgade, to re-organize, by electing all their officers whom they had a right heretofore to elect.

Companies, battalions, squadrons, or regiments organized, or in process of organization, by authority from the Secretary of War, which may, within thirty days from the passage of the act, have the whole number of men necessary to complete their organization actually enrolled, not including, however, in that number persons now in service, shall be mustered into the service of the Confederate States, LOTTE STEAM MILLS before selling. and be received in that arm of the service in which they were authorized to organize, and elect their company, battalion and regimental officers.

To enroll the persons contemplated by the act, and not now in service, the President may, with the consent of the Governors of the States, employ State officers; if such consent cannot be obtained. Confederate officers shall be appointed by the Presishall be assigned by the Secretary of War to the different companies of the State from which such persons are drawn; until each company is filled to ts maximum number. Seamen and ordinary seamen, enrolled under the act, may, on application of the Secretary of the Navy, be transferred to the naval service, If, after filling up the companies, regiments, battalions and squadrons from any State, there shall remain any of the enrolled men, the excess shall be kept as a reserve, and at stated intervals, not exceeding three months, details, to be made by lot. shall be drawn from the reserve to keep the companies as nearly full as practicable. The persons so reserved remain at home until called into service, and receive no pay until actually mustered in. They are not, while at home in reserve, subject to the rules and articles of war, except that if they wilfully refuse to obey a call of the President they shall be held as deserters, and punished as such. Whenever the President shall think that the exigencies of the service require it, he may call into active service the entire reserve, or so much as may be necessary, and they shall be organized under such rules as the Secretary of War may adopt, and shall elect their field and company officers. The reserves from each State, when thus called out, shall be organized separately. Every man mustered into service, who shall bring with him a musket, shot gun, rifle or carbine accepted as an efficient weapon, shall receive the value of it as ascertained by the mustering officer under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, or if the owner be unwilling to sell, he shall receive one dollar a month for the use of the company, battalion, squadron or regiment in which such vacancies occur, by promotion according to seniority, except in case of disability or other incompetency.

Persons not liable to duty may be received as substitutes, under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe.

The President may, however, fill a vacancy by promoting any officer of the company, battalion. squadron, or regiment, who may have been distinguished in the service by valor and skill, without reference to seniority. Vacancies in the lowest grade of commissioned officers of a Company shall be filled by election or the President may promote to such vacancy non-commissioned officers or lant deeds, with abiding hope and unflinching courage privates, who have distinguished themselves by skill | and perseverance, bravely contending with enemies at and valor in the service. Persons NOT now in existing companies now in service.

February 18, 1862 By the Governor of North Carolina.

A PROCLAMATION. NORTH CAROLANIANS! your country needs your aid for its protection and defence against an invading foe. The President of the Confederate States has made a requisition upon our State to complete her quota of troops in the field. Our own borders are invaded by the enemy in force, now thretenting an advance to deprive us of liberty, property, and all that we hold dear s a self-governing and free people. We must resist im at all hazards and by every means in our power. He wages war for our subjugation-a war forced upon us in wrong and prosecuted without right and in a spirit of vengeful wickedness without a parallel in the hisory of warfare among civilized nations. As you value your rights of self-government; all the blessings of freedom; the hallowed endearments of home and fireside, of family and kindred, I call upon you to rally Vacanches shall be filled by the President from to their defence, and to sustain the noble and sacred cause in which we are engaged.

North Carolina has always proved true, constant and prave in the hour of trial and of danger. Never let it e said in the future that she has failed to maintain his high renown. If we are threatened now more than cretofore, and upon our own soil, let our exertions be qual to every demand on our patriotism, honor and ory. No temporary reverses dampened the arder of our ancestors, even though the enemy marched columns through the State. The fires of liberty till burned brightly in their breasts. They were moved in new energy, and resisted by galhome as well the foreign foe, until, after a struggle of acknowledged. Let us imitate their glorious example. The enemy is redoubling his efforts, and straining every ranted to be what he represents them to be. nerve to overrun our country and subjugate us to his domination-his avarice and ambition. Already it is proposed in their Congress to establish a territorial government in a portion of our State. Now is the time prove our zeal and animate by our example. I call upon the brave and patriotic men of our State volunteer, from the mountains to the sea. You are wanted to fill up our quota in the Confederate Army, States of America do enact. That all persons who and for the special defence of the State.
