THE CROWING BIRD.

MR. EDITOR :- As this is a period noted for remarkable discoveries, it may not be amiss to ders of the age. There has been a discovery lately made of a bird that caps the climax, and throws the mysterious eggs completely in the shade. This bird was first discovered about the 21st of March, on the premises of the writer; it is a specics of the mocking bird, and resembles the robin very much, though smaller; it imitates the notes of and efficiency the Common Schools of the State, and exempted from military service; or such parts all the various birds very correctly, but the great curiosity about it is its crowing propensity, which it performs perfectly. It commences its daily management are ample, together with the School tax avocation early in the morning, while the fowls from the people to furnish and perpetuate in every about the yard are leaving the roosts, begins by School district in the State, an efficient School for a it performs perfectly. It commences its daily mocking the various birds, and winds up by crowing several times very distinctly-this course it it pursues during the morning, and occasionally It is a daily visitor, and its peculiar warblings are as well as male Teachers, and especially when it can very interesting to all who have heard it. The above statement is no humbug, but it is really a fact, that can be attested to by many who, though Schools in those counties which are now or may be in incredulous before, have seen and heard this possession of the enemy, shall be placed to the credit strange bird. As the writer does not entertain any superstitious notions about it, he does not think it any omen of good or evil, but looks upon it merely as a curiosity in the works of nature. having made distribution of $100,000, ordered that the The writer not being versed in the science of Ornithology, a history of its species will not be attempted; and as its language is a foreign one, it cannot be ascertained from the stranger whence Treasury Department. he came or his destination. In this matter, we are left to conjecture, and, in the absence of a better one, the following will answer for the present: In noticing this bird, it has invariably been the case that when the other birds come near its perch it skedaddles forthwith, hence the conjecture that it may be a native of Lincolndom. It is well known that King Abram the 1st has some time past deprived his subjects of the freedom of speech and the press, and it was said of him that he passed an edict that the fish should not go South; be this true or not is left for the people to ascertain; with the same propriety the King might have passed another edict that the birds should not sing the songs of Dixie, and the bird in question has made its exit South to enjoy its favorite pursuit. As the feathered tribe are not calculated to do much harm, but are often beneficial to the farmers in destroying various insects that infest his crops, we will have no objection to their migration among us, especially songsters. The climate of the South is favorable for them, and produce an abundance for their subsistence, but in regard to the biped race of Abram's dominions, the climate of the South is very dangerous, and has proved fatal to thousands. The atmosphere being so strongly impregnated with gun powder, lead and iron, the inhabitants of Lincolndom cannot survive its deadly effects; this malaria has been very fatal in Virginia, Tennessee, Charleston, and various other places of rebeldom, and its fatal effects are daily increasing to an alarming extent Our advice, therefore, to the inhabitants of the land of King Abram is, of two evils choose the least; risk the tyranuy of the King in preference to the deadly miasma of Dixie land, as it will prove certain death to you. #### GEN. PEGRAM'S FIGHT in KENTUCKY

The Kroxville Register has an account of Gen. Pegram's fight near Somerset, Ky., from persons who participated in it. The first most important collision he had with the enemy was at Danville. The enemy only made a show of fight, and on a gallant charge being made upon them by Col. Ashby's regiment, they fled at a rapid rate, and could not be overtaken. The Register says:

During the fight at Danville, or immediately sflerwards, Gen. Pegram learned there was a force of swelve hundred of the enemy at Lancaster, who, expecting he would be defeated at Danville, intended to cut off his retreat. On learning, however, that their friends were defeated, they retreated themseives, and went so rapidly Gen. Pegram could not overtake them. Gen. Pegram then fell back with his whole command to within a mile or two of Somerset, intending to recross the Cumberland river and make his headquarters in the neighborhood of Monticello. On Sunday, the 20th ult., the advance of the enemy caught up with Ashby's regiment, and had some skirmishing. On Monday, the 31st, they came upon us with an overwhelming force. They were said to bave had four regiments of cavalry, five of infantry, and six pieces of artillery. We had four regiments, and two battalions of cavalry, and three pieces of artillery. The fight commenced about twelve o'clock, and continued until nearly dark. Although we fought against greatly superior numbers, it is believed the enemy's loss was much greater than ours. It is believed we had about forty killed, and the enemy eighty-three. Our killed, wounded, and missing are less than two hundred.

The encmy were so badly worsted they did not pursue our forces that evening, but came to the river next morning, after we had recrossed. After a short artillery duel they fell back, it was said, twenty-two miles. It was reported that Col. Cluke had fallen upon their rear and destroyed their wagon train, and this caused them to fall back.

The whole brigade recrossed the Cumberland river, and are now near Monticello. The command brought out of Kentucky some six or seven r hundred head of cattle.

The Town of Lincolnton has long been proverbial for its healthiness. It has daily Railroad communication with Charlotte, from which it is only two hours distant. For the benefit of pupils from sickly sections, our long vacation is in the winter.

Our building will accommodate about sixty boarding pupils. The boarding department is under the immediste charge of the Principal and his wife, who, with most of the other teachers, habitually eat at the same table, and lodge under the same roof, with the girls. The fact that we have semi-annual classes enables us to enforce a higher standard of scholarship than is usual in the best institutions conducted on the ordinary annual plan. Diplomas of Graduation will be given to those who complete our College Course. Thankful for the liberal patronage given us while at High Point, we appeal with confidence to the public for a continuance of the same in our new and superior location. For additional information address the Principal. Nov. 11, 1862. 4m-pd

THE SOUTHERN

Hepatic Pills.

This combination of medicines was first prepared by the proprietor in 1825, when he was pronounced by three eminent physicians in a Southern city as in an advanced stage of Consumption. These pills cured him. He is now over seventy years of age and in discharge of active professional duties. Their good effects upon others created such a demand for them that he was compelled to desist from supplying them gratuitously.

They are nor recommended by the proprietor as good for all diseases, but only such as arises from DISORDERS OF THE LIVER. Many persons have testified to their good effects in Chills and Fevers, Bilious Fever, Yellow Fever, Pneumonia, Dyspepsia, &c., &c. They are an excellent FAMILY MEDICINE.

Read the following :

S. D. WALLACE, Esq., Treasurer of the Wilmington and Weldon Rail Road, (Aug. 30, 1862,) says : "It has been said that "Dyspersia" is our national disease. However this may be, it caused me long and severe suffering. Providentially a friend furnished me with a few boxes of the "Hepatic Pills," and the use of them has perfected a cure. In my family they have been used frequently with eminent success. Among my acquaiptances, many cases originating from diseased liver, have been relieved and cured by them. I regard them as an invaluable medicine, and take pleasure in forwarding this voluntary tribute."

COL. JOHN WRIGHT, of Goldsboro', N. C., (Aug. 14, 1862,) says: "I have used the 'Southern Hepatic Pills' in my famile here and also on my plantation in Ala-bama, and always with success. I have a valuable servant girl who had been a long time under treatment for consumption, without receiving any benefit. Almost in her extremity I was induced to try the 'Hepatic Pills.' They were given according to directions, and she is now well, entirely restored by them. A similar case occurred among my servants in Alabama. For liver and lung diseases I have perfect confidence in them."

Full directions and other certificates will be found on the wrapper of each box.

The great rise in the price of medicines, compels the proprietor to put these pills at 50 cents a box. As it may soon not be possible to procure all the ingredients, it would be well for the afflicted to order them at once.

From the price above stated, a liberal discount will be made to dealers as long as the pills can be furnished. Address GEORGE W. DEEMS, Wilson, N. C. For sale in Charlotte, N. C., by F. SCARR, Druggist. Nov. 25, 1862.
