The Paris correspondent of the New York Times says that Cardinal Lucien Bonaparte, Italian by birth and education, Italian, of course, by race, and entered as "Italian" in the official list of Cardinals, is believed (as I have already written to you) to be the Cardinal already designated for succession to the Papal throne. This able and energetic prelate is not much heard of; but last Friday, at Rome, on the anniversary of Napoleon III's death, he celebrated five hundred masses for the good of the late Emperor's soul; and as he was the hope of Bonapartism in the past, so in connection with Rome, is he still its hope in the iuture.

A Sad Record.

I was in Father Taylor's study talking with him about his eventful life. We were discussing some features of the temperance question, when he took down from a shelf a plain pocket Bible and asked me to examine it. On the fly-leaf was written: "----from his mother." Turning over the pages, I observed in some places they were torn, blistered and stained with blood. I asked for the history. He replied : "Some years ago I was sent for in haste to visit a young man who was dangerously ill. I went to the house. Plausible Objections to Life Insurance as a Financial System.

From the Raleigh Biblical Recorder.

To start objections to a financial system, which has received the sanction of wise statesmen and experienced financiers, does indeed look a little like discussing war in the presence of Hannibal; but every observaut man, who has reached the middle station of life, has had many proofs that one of the ancients was a wise man who said, "wise men are not wise at all times," and that he had been leading a life of dissipa- he failed in the conquest of Italy by delaying too long at Cannal; Napoleon went to

The panic (so-called) out of which so much capital has been made, and behind which so much dodging has been done, having at last passed away and left all of us as well off as we ever were, we think it is now time to make a square settlement and take a new start before another panic overtakes us.
