The following are said to be the sixteen American inventions of world-wide adoption: The cotton gin, the planing machine, the telegraph, the grass mower and reaper, the rotary printing press, steam navigation, the hot-air engine, the sewing machine, the India rubber industry, the machine manufacture of horse shoes, the sand blast for gravings, the gauge lathe, the grain elevator, artificial ice-making on a large scale, the electric magnet in its practical application, and the telephone.

THE SPRING TERM
OF THE
Charlotte Female Institute
Begins January 28th and continues 20 weeks. This Institute is not surpassed in any respect by any first-class institute in the South. It is Professor of Music and the Instructor in Fine Arts, are of unequalled ability and success in their several departments. The graduates in music of this Institute attain to a standard of taste and culture rarely reached in any school. It is an Art pupils, with no more time devoted to it than in other schools, have given in both North and South Carolina such exhibits of their work as have never been equaled elsewhere in the South.
The reason of this superiority is that only teachers of approved experience are engaged. Every department is kept up to the highest standard of excellence and thoroughness.
Rev. Wm. R. ATKINSON, Principal.

"Weary."
Weary of living, so weary,
Trying to lie down and die,
To find for the heart that is weary
The end of the pilgrim's night.
Weary, so weary of wishing,
For a form that has gone from my sight,
For a voice that is hushed to me ever—
For eyes that to me were so bright.
Weary, so weary of waiting,
Waiting for sympathy sweet,
For something to love, and to love me
And pleasures that are not so fleet,
For a hand to be held on my forehead
A glimpse of the golden brown hair,
For a step that to me was sweet music,
And a brow that was noble and fair.
Tired, so tired, of drifting
Afloat in the dark sea of life
Tired of breathing the billow,
The billow of toil and strife,
Wishing and waiting sadly
For love that was sweetest and best,
Willing to die, Oh! so gladly
If that would bring quiet and rest.

Young men, you are architects of your own fortunes. Rely on your strength of body and soul. Take for your star self-reliance. Inscribe on your banner, "Luck is a fool, Pluck is a hero." Don't take too much advice—keep at your own and remember that the great art of commanding is to take a fair share of the work. Think well of yourself. Strike out. Assume your own position. Put potatoes in a cart on a rough road, and the small ones go to the bottom. Rise above the envious and jealous. Fire above the mark you intend to hit. Energy, invincible determination, are the levers that move the world. Don't drink. Don't chew. Don't smoke. Don't swear. Don't deceive. Don't marry until you can support a wife. Be in earnest. Be self-reliant. Be generous. Be civil. Read the papers. Advertise your business. Make money and do good with it. Love God and your fellow-men. Love truth and virtue. Love your country and obey its laws.—Pres. Porter in Yale College.

WHAT WE LIVE FOR.—"What is life?" some one asked Montford. His answer is one of the most charming things ever written: "The present life is sleeping and waking; it is good-night on going to bed, and good-morning on getting up; it is to wonder what the day will bring forth; it is rain on the window when one sits by the fire; it is walk in the garden and hear the birds sing; it is to read news from East, West, North, South; it is to read old and new books; it is to see pictures and hear music; it is to have breakfast, dinner and tea; it is to belong to a town and have neighbors, and become one in a circle of acquaintances; it is to have friends and love."

PUBLIC SALE
OF A
Valuable Farm and Home
In Gaston County, N. C.
By virtue of an order of the U. S. Circuit Court at Charlotte, rendered at the December Term, 1883, in the case of J. McD. McIntyre et al., against E. D. Thompson and others, the undersigned, who are appointed special Commissioners for that purpose, will offer for sale at Public Auction, to the highest bidder, that excellent FARM lying on both sides of the Carolina Central Railroad, adjoining the Lands of John C. Moore, Messrs. Cloninger and others, known formerly as the "Lee Moore Good Mine Tract," and by survey about Two Hundred and Sixty-Six Acres, together with the Dwelling and out-houses necessary to a convenient occupation of the Homestead.
The sale will be made without any reservation of mines, ores, &c., which before the discovery of the California mines, were said to have been profitably worked on these premises, and which may yet contain valuable deposits of the precious metals, as the Robinson and King's Mountain Gold Mines, both in Gaston county, and which are in a most profitable position, and by mortgage of real estate, with a margin of one-half the valuation, on long or short time, and forfeitable upon default in prompt payment of interest.
All legal business, in the State and U. S. Courts, shall continue to receive prompt and vigilant attention.
Investments bearing 8 per cent interest secured by mortgage of real estate, with a margin of one-half the valuation, on long or short time, and forfeitable upon default in prompt payment of interest.
ROBERT D. GRAHAM, Attorney.
Dec. 7, 1883.

The premises are now in the occupancy of E. D. Thompson, who will show the Land and give full information. The place is eligibly situated for trade and market, twelve miles from Lincoln, about eight miles from Charlotte, four miles from Dallas, the county seat, two and a half miles from Brevard's Station, Carolina Central Railroad, and same distance from "Hardin Station," Narrow Gauge Railroad.
The situation is healthy and attractive; a handsome Grove of native oaks surround the residence, and there is an Orchard of Apple and Peach trees. The timbered land is sufficient for all farm purposes, fuel, &c.
The sale being by order of Court and by consent of parties, the title is perfectly good.
Selling as Commissioners we will convey the Title under the Court's order.
The Terms of Sale—One-half of the purchase money in cash on the day of sale, and the residue on a credit of nine months, the purchaser giving bond and good security, bearing eight per cent interest until paid, and the conveyance of the title to be withheld until payment in full, the purchaser to have the option of paying the whole purchase money in cash.
Possession will be given immediately.
H. H. HALEY,
R. D. JOHNSTON,
Commissioners.
Jan. 11, 1884.

Real Estate for Sale.
By order of the Superior Court for Mecklenburg county, I will sell at the Court House door in Charlotte, on Monday, 4th of February, 1884, a small Tract of LAND lying near the Carolina Central Railroad Passenger Depot, adjoining the property of said Road, Aaa George and others, containing about three Acres. Said Land belonged to the late Samuel George, and is sold for Assets. Terms, 6 months, credit, bond and security required.
JOHN E. BROWN,
Jan. 11, 1884. 4w Commissioner.

Rules of Practice
Adopted by the Judges of the Superior Courts of North Carolina, Jan. 4, 1884.

I. All civil actions that have been at issue for two years, and that may be continued by consent at any term, will be placed at the end of the docket for the next term in their relative order upon the docket; when the continuance shall be ordered, and when a civil action shall be continued on motion of one of the parties, the Court may, in its discretion, order that such action be placed at the end of the docket, as if continued by consent; but this rule will not be enforced when the opinion of the Supreme Court has been certified to the Court below since the last term; in such case a continuance will be ordered without prejudice, unless tried by consent.
II. When a calendar of civil actions shall be made under the supervision of the Court, or by a committee of attorneys under the order of the Court, or by consent of the Court, unless caused to show to the contrary, all actions continued by consent and numbered on the docket between the first and last numbers placed upon the calendar, will be placed at the end of the docket for the next term as if continued by consent, if such actions have been at issue for two years.
III. Neither civil nor criminal actions will be set on for a day certain, or not to be called for trial before the day certain, unless by order of the Court, and if the other business of the term shall have been disposed of before the day for which a civil action is set, the Court will not be kept open for the trial of such action, except for some special reason apparent to the Judge; but this rule will not apply when a calendar has been adopted by the Court.
IV. The Court will reserve the right to determine whether it is necessary to make a calendar, and also, for the dispatch of business to make orders as to the disposition of causes placed upon the calendar and not reached on the day for which they may be set.

V. When a calendar shall be made, all actions shall be tried in regular order, and a jury, together with motions for interlocutory orders will be placed on the motion docket, and the Judges will claim the right to call the motion docket at any time after the calendar shall be taken up.
VI. Appeals from Justices of the Peace in civil actions will not be called for trial unless the returns of such appeals have been docketed ten days previous to the term, and the docketed less than ten days before the term may be tried by consent of parties.
VII. When civil actions shall be continued by consent of parties, the Court will, upon suggestion that the charges of witnesses and fees of officers have not been paid, adjudge that the parties to the action pay respectively their own costs, subject to the right of the prevailing party to have such costs taxed in the final judgment.
VIII. When time to file pleadings is allowed it shall be computed from the expiration of the term as fixed by law.
IX. Except for some unusual reason, connected with the business of the Court, attorneys will not be sent for, when their cases are called in their regular order.
X. Clerks of the Courts will be required, upon the criminal dockets prepared for the Court and Solicitor, to state and number the criminal business of the Court in the following order:
First—All criminal causes at issue.
Second—All warrants upon which parties have been held to answer at the term.
Third—All presentments made at preceding terms, undisposed of.
Fourth—All cases where judgments nisi have been entered at the preceding term against defendants and their sureties, and against defaulting jurors or witnesses in behalf of the State.
XI. Clerks will also be required, upon both civil and criminal dockets, to bring forward and enter in different columns of sufficient space, in each case:
First—The names of the parties. Second—The nature of the action. Third—A summary history of the case, including the dates of appearance of process, pleadings filed, and a brief note of all proceedings and orders therein. Fourth—A blank space for the entries of the term.

To KEEP LARD.—When the scraps are just beginning to get brittle and brown, put in a tablespoonful of fine salt to a quart of the hot lard, and there will be no trouble; the lard will keep perfectly sweet for any length of time, and the salt does no possible harm to any kind of cookery. Persons can easily judge of the quantity of lard if they know how much the kettle holds. It makes the lard whiter and harder, aside from preserving it sweet. It must cook a little while after adding the salt. That designed for summer use should be kept in a tight earthen jar, or a tin bucket with a cover.

The Strongest Drink.
Water is the strongest drink. It drives mites; it's the drink of lions and horses, and Samson never drank anything else. Let young men be teetotalers if only for economy's sake. The beer money will soon build a house. If that goes into the wash-tub went into the kneading-trough, families would be better fed and better taught. If what is spent in waste were only saved against a rainy day, work-houses would never be built. The man who spends his money with the publican, and thinks the landlord's bow and "How do you do, my good fellow?" mean true respect, is a perfect simpleton. We don't like fires for the herring's comfort, but to roast him. Men do not keep pot-houses for laborers' good; if they do, they certainly miss their aim. Why, then, should people drink "for the good of the house?" If I spend money for the good of any house, let it be my own, and not the landlord's. It is a bad well into which you never put water, and the house is a bad friend, because it takes your all and leaves you nothing but headaches.
He who calls those his friends who let him sit and drink by the hour together, is ignorant—very ignorant. Why, red lions, and tigers, and eagles, and vultures are all creatures of prey, and why do so many put themselves within the power of their jaws and talons? Such drink and live riotously, and wonder why their faces are so blotchy and their pockets so bare, would leave off wondering if they had two grains of wisdom. They might as well ask an elmtree for pears as look to loose habits for health and wealth. Those who go to the public house for happiness climb a tree to find fish.—Rev. Mr. Spurgeon.

Taking Comfort in Life.
Sooner or later the time for folded hands will come to us all. Whether or not we cease from hurry and worry now, we shall one day shut our eyes upon it, and lie still, untroubled by the stir and fret of the things about us. Why not take comfort as we go on? You, proud mother of a beautiful, active boy, of what use will it be to you by and by to remember how exquisitely fine was his raiment, how daintily spread his bed, and how costly he profuse his toys? What the child needs is mothering, brooding, tender resting on your heart, and he needs it every step of the way from baby days to manhood. Take the comfort of your opportunities. Never mind though the dress be coarse, and the food plain, and the playthings few, but answer the questions, tell the stories, spare the half-hour at bed-time and profess his toys? What the child needs is mothering, brooding, tender resting on your heart, and he needs it every step of the way from baby days to manhood. Take the comfort of your opportunities. Never mind though the dress be coarse, and the food plain, and the playthings few, but answer the questions, tell the stories, spare the half-hour at bed-time and profess his toys?
