The perents of our infant home,
The kindred that we loved,
Far from our arms perchance may room
To distant occuse removed;
Or we have watched their parting breath,
And closed their weary eyes,
And eighed to think how eadly death
Can sever human ties.

The friends, the leved ones of our youth, They too are gone or changed;
Or, worse than all, their love and troth
Are darkened and estranged.
They meet us in a glittering throng,
With cold averted eyes,
And wonder that we weep our wrong,
And mourn out breken ties.

Oh! who in such a world as this Could bear their lot of pain,
Did not one radient hope of bliss,
Unclouded, yet remain?—
That hope the severeign Lord has given,
Who reigns beyond the skies,
That hope unites our souls to Heaven
By truth's enduring ties.

Each care, each ill of mortal birth, Is sent in pitying love, To lift the lingering heart from earth, And spend its flight above. And every pang which rends the breast, And every joy that dies, Tell us to seek a heavenly rest, And trust to helier ties.

"I WILL BY AND BYE." Zounds! sir, you may as well swear that you will never do it! I'm out of all patience with these "by and bye" folks. An hour of the present time is worth a week of the futare.

Why, I know a bachelor, who is as well calculated for matrimonial felicity as every virtue and every accomplishment can render him; but he has been putting off the bappy time, from one year to another, always resolving that he would marry "by and bye," till the best ten years of his life are gone, and he is still " resolving" and I fear " he, will die the same."

He that would gather the roses of matriony must wed in the May of life. If you wish only the withered leaves and the thorns why, poor Richard says, put it off till September. - "Procrastination is the thief of time."

I made a visit last winter to see my old friend Jeremiah Careless. When he put my horses into the stable, he took me to his barn floor to see some fine wheat he bad just threshed. I observed to him that one of the boards of the barn was near falling, and he had better nail it. " I will by and bye," said he. Things about the farm looked as though " by and bye" folks lived there. Next morning the boys came running in with sad news. An unruly bull had torn off the board, and the cattle had supped and breakfasted on the white wheat, and old brindle the best cow in the drove, was foundered so that she died. Now two nails worth a penny, and five minutes of time would have saved the life of old brindle and the white wheat in the bargain.

Beautiful of the white wheat in the bargain.

Sum will be received: heads of families, however, will have the privilege of giving what they please on account of all the members of their households. The names of all the contributors will be carefully registered in a book, which book will be sent to Washington City to be exclosed, with others, in the Monument, to be preserved to future ages.

JOS. McCONNAUGHEY, Sheriff.

Passing by my neighbor Nodwell's the other day, I saw that his wife had made a fise garden, and the early peas were shooting above the ground. "It looks well, said I, neighbor-but there is a hole in the fence, which you had better mend, or the hogs will ruin your garden." "I will by and bye," said he. Happening to go by there two days after, I was dealened with the cry of "Whose, whose-stu-boy, stu-boy"-a drove of hogs had come along, and while my neighbor was taking a nap, they had crawled through the broken fence and destroyed the labor of a week.

HESTER MASSEY.

The following description of a singular female, now living in Buncombe county, N. C., is from a correspondent of the Charleston Observer, who has furnished other notices of the county for that paper. The editor of the Observer says that every relience may be placed upon the statements. "There is a woman in Buncombe Co. N. C., 23 years of age, born without arms or legs. She is one of twelve children, the rest of whom are free from defect. Her head is large, countenance good, and trunk well formed, except a slight prominence of one shoulder, arising, probably, from some habit of unrqual exertion of the muscles of the back. She is possessed of usual intel-lect, and reads a good deal. In reading she occupies an ordinary chair, with a table at her left ade, and turns the leaves with here mouth. She is capable of progression, on a level surface, by advancing first one of the ischia and then the other, successively. Fixed on a chair, she gives it a progressive motion across the floor, by means of the muscles of her back acting on the back of the chair, tilting it a little, and then advancing first one and then the oth-er side of it. She sweeps the floor holding a straw broom between her head and shoulder. Yet she cannot dress nor feed herself, nor get on or off a chair or bed. Her name is Hester Massey. She is cometimes at Court, and often receives presents from these whose curiosity leads them to view her. She was once induced to go as far as Columbia, S. C., with a man who was to take care of her, and exhibit her as a surjusity. She however, received no pit! For terms enquire of of the money, and soon returned to her

The following account of two " old fishged Snow Storms," which occurred in 1717, is taken from Alonzo Lewis's history of Lynn, Mar

of Lynn, Massachusetts.
"Two great Storms on the 20th and 24th of February, covered the ground so deep with snow, that people could not for some days pass from one house to another. Old lodians of an hundred years said their fathers had never told them of such a snow. It was from 10 to 20 feet deep, and generally covered the lower story of the houses. Cottages of one story were entirely buried so that the people dug paths from one house to another under the snow. Soon after a slight rain fell, and the frost crusted the enow, and then the people went out of their chamber windows and walked over it. Many of the farmers fost their sheep; and most of the sheep and swine that were saved, lived from one to two weeks without food. One man had some hens buried near his barn, which were dug out alive eleven days after. During this snow a great many deer came from the woods for food, and were followed by the wolves, which killed many of them. Others were killed by the peo-ple with guns. Some of the deer fied to Nahant, and being chased by the wolves leaped into the sea and were drowned. Great damage was done to the orchards, by the snow freezing to branches and splited a remarkable ere in New England; and old people in relating an event, would say it happened so many years before or after the great snow."

A lady who keeps a boarding house in Canal street, New Orleans, advertises that she can accommodate boarders with families. This is an excellent opportunity, says the Bee, for Bachelors, or those who belong to the labor-in-vain club.

Pearls are not gotten, but from the bottom of the water: and gold is dug not from the surface, but from the deep entrails of the earth. So the joy of God is not to be found, but in the inward recesses of a broken and a contrite spirit.

DYSPEPSIA

LIVER COMPLAINTS. THE PATENT VEGETABLE MEDICINE

STONACHICE BY HEPATICE, formed by chymical analysis and synthesis of seve-ral proximate vegetable principles, are uni-versally acknowledged to have totally eclipsed the pretensions of every other reme-dy, and superceded the necessity of every other mode of treatment wherever the above diseases are found to exist, as well as in enlargement of the Spleen and in Jaundice.

Among the symptoms of Dyspepsia and Liver complaints, are flatulency, sourness or burnning in the stomach, melancholy, irritability, disagreeable taste in the mouth; great irregularity of appetite, which is sometimes voracious, and at other times greatly deficient : thirst, fetid breath, nausea, weakness of the stomach, said eructations, palpitation, drowsiness, irregularity of the bowels, pressure on the stomach after meals, pain in the head, dizziness or vertigo, confusion of mind, attended with loss of memory, a gnawing in the stomach when empty, chilliness, affection of sight and hearing, pain and weakness in the back, languor, disturbed sleep, cold feet and hands, tremor, uneasiness in the throat, cough, pain in the side or breast, &c.

DR. PETERS'

Vegetable Anti-Bilious Pills, Are the cheapest and most approved Family Medicine ever offered to the Public. They are extremely mild in their operation, neither causing sickness of the stomach, nor any unpleasant sensation in the system, as is too frequently the result from medicines given to act upon the bowels. They act specifically upon the Liver, when in a torpid condition, carrying off a large quantity of bile, through the influence of the excernent function, which, if suffered to remain in the system, would produce either Jaundice, Laver Complaint, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, or some other grievious hodily affliction. In all cases of torpor of the bowels, they act like a charm. In recent cases of Dyspepsia; they are a certain cure. Many to take our Line, will be careful to enter to persons who were subject to violent attacks of sick head-ache, have been much benefited, and several perfectly cured in a few weeks by their use. They are highly recommended as a preventative and cure of Bilious complaints. Persons who are subject to that distressing complaint, sea-sickness, by tak-ing a portion or two of them a few days prerious to embarking on board the vessel, will be almost certain to escape it. Females can use them at all periods, without incurring any risk. Their virtues will remain unimpaired for years in any climate. No family should be without these Pills; a portion of them, taken occasionally, would be the means of preventing much suffering from THE Subscriber has and bowels, thus suffering to be absorbed and mingled with the blood, unassimilated fluids, that most diseases are produced. selected, with care and Dr. P. feels confident that no person who raste, some Fine & gives these Pills a fair trial, will ever after Fashiomble Arti- feel willing to be without them.
