

POETRY.

THE HARVEST HOME.

Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase;

Shoot, reapers, shoot your "harvest home," Shout praises to the glorious Lord,

Who pour'd the rain, who warm'd the sun, Whose bounty has our gophers stor'd.

He bade the Spring with zephyr breath Blow mildly o'er each frozen glade,

He beckoned to the farthest south, And call'd young Summer into birth,

And bade, beneath her genial heat, The soil her varied riches yield,

And next, as onward roll'd the year, Brown Autumn, with her pensive horn,

And when by fruitful increase spent, The land from labor sought repose;

And bade him in his icy chain Bind earth and air, and field and flood,

Thus all the seasons in their turn At his command their treasures pour,

Then turn each eye, and bend each knee, In praise to heaven's eternal throne,

And higher grows the solemn tone, Oh! let your thankful hearts rejoice

PROSPECTUS.

Of a novel and interesting Weekly Publication, to be commenced on Saturday the 6th of July, TO BE ENTITLED

The Spy in Philadelphia, AND SPIRIT OF THE AGE.

IT is very philosophically observed by Addison, that our greatest pride arises from doing good to each other, or, in other words, from being individually serviceable to society. This can be best effected by a proper application of our intelligences, meeting them out according to the necessities of the community, and less lamenting the decline of public virtue than checking the progress of public vice: for vice retarded is virtue advanced. As the direction and discussion of measures of national and state polity are the business of the daily press, the full application of Addison's remark is necessarily neglected, and the consequence is, that vice shielded by wealth and worldly influence, are abroad among the people, not only unsuspected, but courted and required; and that a publication is necessary which will not only detect, but exhibit these vices in sheep's clothing to public scorn; a mark by which others will be warned from their intent and service be rendered to society. In effecting this object we shall pursue a yet untrodden path; one where the necessary thorn shall be mingled (not concealed) with delicate and uncontaminated by cant or vulgarity; its censure shall be judicious, its satire chaste. Literature and the arts shall find in it an untired friend: Dramatic and literary criticisms shall meet with most attentive and impartial duty, and sketches of the Bar and Pulpit of Philadelphia shall occasionally appear from the pen of competent judges, uninfluenced by personal acquaintance or professional attachments. To these recommendations, our Poetical Column will add another, which, coming from an already popular source, will, we trust, be equal to that of more pretending publications. It is unnecessary to be more explicit, as we presume the want of the proposed journal is not only admitted, but generally felt.—We therefore place ourselves before the PEOPLE and relying upon their love of justice and of public virtue, await their decision respectfully but confidently.

CONDITIONS. The first number of "THE SPY IN PHILADELPHIA" will be issued on the first Saturday in July. It will be printed on fine white paper, in eight quarto pages, and with good type. As it is intended to render the contents worthy of preservation, for amusing or instructive reference, the advantage of the proposed and more portable size will be evident. The terms are $2 per annum, payable in advance, or $2 50 if not paid before the expiration of six months. Agents will be allowed a discount of 10 per cent. on all subscribers they shall obtain, on remitting one year's payment in advance, or becoming responsible for the same, and a gratuitous copy of the paper.

"THE SPY IN PHILADELPHIA" will contain humorous engravings after the manner of the celebrated Cruikshank. They will be executed by skilful artists and be accompanied with comic illustrations in prose or verse from the pens of original and competent writers.

All orders must be addressed, post paid, to WILLIAM HILL & CO. No. 1 Athenian Building, Philadelphia. Care will be taken to have the work carefully packed when sent out of the city.

Select Circulating Library.

Containing equal to Fifty volumes for 5 Dollars PROSPECTUS.

IN presenting to the public a periodical, entirely new in its character, it will be expected that the publisher should describe his plan, and the objects he hopes to accomplish.

There is growing up in the United States a numerous population, with literary tastes, who are scattered over a large space, and who, distant from the localities where books and literary information emanate, feel themselves at a great loss for that mental food which education has fitted them to enjoy. Books are cheap in their principal cities, but in the interior they cannot be procured as soon as published, nor without considerable expense. To supply this desideratum is the design of the present undertaking, the chief object of which emphatically is, to make good reading cheaper, and to put it in a form that will bring it to every man's door.

Books cannot be sent by mail, while the "Select Circulating Library" may be received at the most distant post office in the Union from fifteen to twenty-five days after it is published, at the trifling expense of two and a half cents or in other words, before a book could be bound in Philadelphia, our subscribers in Ohio or Vermont may be perusing it in their parlours.

To elucidate the advantages of the "Select Circulating Library" such as we propose, it is not necessary to compare it with some other publications. Take the Watergate for example; the Chronicles of the Canoeage occupy ten volumes, which are sold at $1.25 to $1.50. The whole number would be readily contained in three numbers of this periodical, at an expense of thirty-seven cents, postage included! No that more than seven times the quantity of literary matter can be supplied for the same money by adopting the new paper form. But we consider transaction by mail, and the early receipt of a new book, a most distinguishing feature of the publication. Distant subscribers will be placed on a par with those nearer at hand, and will be enabled at their own homes with equal to about Fifty Volumes of the common London novel series for Five Dollars. This may not take fifty-two weeks to accomplish; for, though not longer than a week will elapse between the issuing of each number yet, when there is a press of very interesting matter, or when two or more numbers are required to contain a whole work, the proprietor will feel himself at liberty to publish a shorter interval—fifty two numbers being the quantity for five dollars.

Arrangements have been made to receive the London an early copy of every new book price either in that mart of talent or in Edinburgh, together with the periodical literature of Great Britain.—From the former we shall select the best Novels, Memoirs, Tales, Travels, Sketches, Biography, &c. and publish them with as much purity and accuracy as an extensive printing office will admit. From the latter, such literary intelligence will occasionally be culled, as will prove interesting and entertaining to the world; knowledge and science, literature and useful Good standard novels, and other works not in print, may also occasionally be reproduced in our columns.

The publisher confidently assures the best families, that they need have no dread of intruding the "Select Circulating Library" into their domestic circle, as the gentleman who has undertaken the Editorial duties, to literary taste and habits adds a due sense of the responsibility assumed in catering for an extended and not commonly, and of the consequences attendant and otherwise, that will follow the dissemination of obnoxious or wholesome mental aliment. His situation and engagements afford him peculiar advantages and facilities for the selection of these with the additional channels created by agencies at London, Liverpool and Edinburgh, grant the proprietor in guaranteeing a faithful execution of the literary department.

It would be supererogatory to dilate on the general advantages and conveniences which our publication presents to people of literary pursuits wherever located, but more particularly to those who reside in retired situations—they are persons that the first glance cannot fail to detect the vision of its eligibility.

TERMS. The Select Circulating Library will be published weekly on a double medium sheet of fine paper in octavo form, with three columns on a page, and mailed with great care so as to carry safely to the most distant post-office.

It will be printed and finished with the same care and accuracy as book work. The whole by two numbers will form a volume with preservation of 832 pages, equal in quantity to 1200 pages, or three volumes, of Reed's Encyclopedia. Each volume will be accompanied with a title page and index.

The price is Five Dollars for fifty-two numbers of sixteen pages each—a price at which it cannot be afforded unless extensively patronized. Payment at all times in advance.

Agents who procure five subscribers, shall be a receipt in full by remitting the publisher a proportionate compensation for a larger number. This arrangement is made to increase the circulation to an extent which will make it an object to pay agents liberally. Clubs of five individuals may thus procure the work for $1 by uniting their remittances.

Subscribers, living near agents, may pay their subscriptions to them; those otherwise situated may remit the amount to the publisher at his expense. Our arrangements are all made for the fulfillment of our part of the contract.

Subscribers' names should be immediately forwarded, in order that the publisher may know how many to print of the future numbers. ADAM WALDIE Philadelphia, October, 1832.
