SELECTED FOR THE JEFFERSONIAN.

DASH DOWN THE CUP.

BY C. H. EATON.

*Dash down the cup!—drink not the draught,
Whose baneful influence here,
So oft hath chilled thy youthful pulse,
And made existence fear.*

*When the damp fingers of disease,
Which generated here,
Were placed about thy fever'd brow,
Where pity dropp'd a tear;*

*When censure, breath'd from mental lips,
Subdued thy haughty mind;
When pride was levelled to the dust,
And fettered hopes were blind;*

*When the bright lamp of fame was dimm'd
And flickering in its ray,
When friends forsook thee in that hour,
What was thy soul's dismay?*

*Canst thou, who's felt the agony
Which that stern power can give,
When pent within its cankered toils,
Where guilt alone must live,*

*Retrace thy path of misery,
But to renew the pang,
Which levelled round thy ruined shrine,
Where erst sweet peans sang?*

*End not with poison leaves thy brow,
The festering wreath will be
The gloomy emblem of thy fate,
Of hell-fringed life to thee.*

*But while the ruddy glow of health
About thy form is breathed,
Spurn not its priceless wealth again,
So joyously enwreathed.*

*Then dash ye down the hateful cup!
Drink not the draft of care,
The potent venom of its work
Will hurt thee back—despair!*

The Convention was then addressed by the Rev. John Seys, the Rev. Leroy M. Lee, and Mr. John T. Carey, the Delegate from Baltimore, after which it adjourned until 3 o'clock P. M.

THREE O'CLOCK, P. M.

The committee appointed to devise and suggest the most practicable plan for conducting the operations of the Convention, reported the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is expedient, in order to carry out the views of the Convention, that a State Temperance Society be organized.

Which resolution was adopted.

The committee appointed to suggest the best plan for conducting the operations of the Convention, were instructed to prepare a Constitution for the Society.

The following memorial from the county of Pasquotank, was read and ordered to be spread upon the Journals of the Convention:

To the State Temperance Convention of North Carolina, to assemble in Raleigh:

Having some time since, noticed in the public prints sundry resolutions passed at a called meeting of the State Temperance Society, resolving that a Temperance Convention for the State be held in Raleigh, to convene some time in November; also inviting the attendance of the friends of Temperance, and the sending of delegates by the local societies throughout the State; the Perquimans county Temperance Society, for whom the undersigned now act, concurring in said resolutions, feel a lively interest and a strong desire, united with corresponding efforts, to act in conformity with the same. Owing, however, to various causes, we have been unsuccessful in procuring suitable delegates to send on such an important mission. We have therefore adopted the present mode to represent ourselves in said convention.

Permit us then, as the organs of the above society, briefly to state, that we have for several years felt the necessity and great importance of a more united and vigorous action on the part of the friends of Temperance throughout the State of North Carolina. Our society (now composed of between two and three hundred members,) has been endeavoring, with its best ability, to arrest the march of intemperance for more than four years. We pledge and practice total abstinence, and advise our friends and neighbors to do so too. And, notwithstanding our progress seems tardy, we feel warranted in the belief, that our influence in the community is decidedly favorable.

During the session of our last Legislature, we called the attention of that body (by petition) to the evils of the present license code, "Praying the enacting of such laws as will fully guard the public against the influence of groceries and fashionable places of retail." This petition was favorably received by a portion of the Senate, (where it was introduced,) but owing to the opposition of others, was finally rejected. To the same subject we would respectfully invite the consideration of the Convention. We have now in preparation a petition to the Justices of the Peace of our county praying the exercise of their magisterial powers to relieve us only from the two licensed places of retail of ardent spirits in the county.

We have been induced to give the above information of our existence as a society, &c., from the belief that it will be satisfactory to the Convention to learn the state of feeling in this section on the subject it has convened to deliberate upon.

In conclusion, allow us simply to add, that we feel confident that the organization of a State Temperance Society, composed of auxiliaries from all parts of the State, will tend greatly to harmonize the views and concentrate the influence of the Temperance advocates, and give greater dignity and importance to the subject we have espoused. Whatever therefore may be the result of the deliberations of the Convention, calculated to accomplish the great ends of Temperance, will be cordially united with by your humble co-workers in this section; and in the event of the formation of a State Society, would respectfully wish to be enrolled among the number of auxiliaries.

Very respectfully, your friends,
JONATHAN WHITE,
DAVID WHITE,
JEPHTHA WHITE.

Oct. 25th, 1841.

TUESDAY MORNING, 8 O'CLOCK.

The Convention assembled pursuant to adjournment, and was opened by prayer by the Rev. Jehu Hank.

The Committee, who had been instructed to that effect, reported the following Constitution for the State Temperance Society, which, after a considerable interchange of opinion and sentiment, and the addition of an article, was unanimously adopted:

PREAMBLE.

Whereas the improper use of intoxicating liquors has been found by experience, to be the source of evils of incalculable magnitude, both to the temporal and the eternal interests of individuals, families and communities; and whereas, the prevalence of this vice has such a fatal efficacy in hindering the success of all the common means which God has appointed for the moral and religious improvements of men; and whereas, the various measures which the friends of christian morality have adopted, though not altogether unsuccessful, have been found quite insufficient to give an effectual and permanent check to this desolating evil; and whereas some more vigorous means are evidently required, some system of instruction and action which will make a steady and powerful impression on the present and following generations, and will in this way ultimately effect a change of public sentiment and practice in regard to the use of intoxicating liquors, and thus to put an end to that wide spreading intemperance which has already caused such desolations in every part of our land, and which threatens destruction to the best interests of our commonwealth; therefore, we the friends of domestic and social happiness now assembled in Convention, as delegates from various parts of the State, wishing to do all in our power to promote the welfare of our fellow-men, resolve to form a State Society with the following

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention are tendered to the Secretaries for their diligent fidelity in performing the duties of their office.

The Convention then adjourned until 6 o'clock P. M.

The Convention met pursuant to adjournment, the President in the Chair, and was opened by prayer by the Rev. William Compton.

The Constitution was then proposed to the Convention, and adopted without a dissenting voice.

The Convention and the large Assembly present were then addressed in an impressive manner by Rev. Dr. Capers.

He was followed by Mr. J. Carey, the delegate from the Washington Society in Baltimore in an enterprising and affecting address of more than an hour, relating his experience as an intemperate drinker for twelve years.

The Convention was also forcibly addressed by the Rev. Mr. Deems and the Rev. S. S. Bryant—when an invitation was given for all who wished to sign the pledge to come forward and sign their names; to which call 76 came forward—a glorious number.

On motion,

Resolved unanimously, That the thanks of this Convention be tendered to the members of the Presbyterian Church for the use of their Church during the sittings of the Convention.

When the Convention adjourned without day.

The Benediction by the Rev. John Seys, of Liberia, Africa.

THE CULTIVATOR,

A consolidation of Buel's Cultivator and the Genesee Farmer. WILLIS GAYLORD & LUTHER TUCKER, Editors. Prospectus of Vol. 5, for 1841.

THE CULTIVATOR was established to improve and elevate the Agriculture of the country; to give a proper tone to the morals and mind of the farmer; to show him the dignity and importance of his profession; to store his mind with useful knowledge, and convince him that while all classes are and must be more or less dependant on each other, he alone of the whole can make any near approach to independence. If there is one thing more than another, which in this country gives a man superiority over his fellow men, it is knowledge; and this knowledge,—knowledge which is essential to the success of the farmer as to other men,—is the design of the Cultivator to aid in imparting.

The volume for 1840, is filled entirely with ORIGINAL COMMUNICATIONS, embracing articles from about 300 Correspondents, from almost every State in the Union.

If an increase of subscription beyond any precedent in the history of Agricultural Journals,—if the almost unanimous voice of the public press in our favor,—if the multitude of private yet flattering testimonials we have received, added to a circulation amounting the first year to TWENTY-TWO THOUSAND, may be admitted as evidence, then we have certainly most abundant reason to be gratified with the success which has attended the Union of the Cultivator and the Genesee Farmer. No expense has been or will be spared to render the Cultivator worthy of the patronage it has received. In the number, variety and excellence of its ILLUSTRATIONS, it is without a rival at home or abroad, the last volume being embellished with nearly ONE HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS, illustrating the improved breeds of Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Building, Implements, &c., making the Cultivator, all things considered, it is believed, the Cheapest Agricultural Paper ever published in this or any other country.

TERMS—ONE DOLLAR per annum—Six copies for $5—the money to be remitted in advance, free of postage. A commission of 20 per cent. will be allowed to Agents who will obtain 25 or more subscribers, and 25 per cent. to those who obtain 100 or more. All subscriptions to commence with a volume.

Postmasters and gentlemen disposed to lend their influence to aid the cause of Agriculture, are respectfully requested to act as agents. Address JESSE BUEL & CO.

JOB PRINTING.

WE are prepared at this Office with a handsome supply of Fancy Type, to execute all kinds of Letter-Press Job Printing in a very superior style, and at short notice Orders will be thankfully received. Jeffersonian Office, Charlotte, March 9, 1841.

PROSPECTUS OF THE Congressional Globe and Appendix.

THESE works have now been published by us for ten consecutive sessions of Congress. Commencing with the session of 1832-3. They have had such wide circulation, and have been so universally approved and sought after by the public, that we deem it necessary only in this prospectus to say that they will be continued at the next session of Congress, and to state, succinctly, their contents, the form in which they will be printed, and the prices for them.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two Houses of Congress. The speeches of the members are abridged, or condensed, to bring them into a reasonable, or readable length. All the resolutions offered, or motions made, are given at length, in the mover's own words; and the yeas and nays on all the important questions. It is printed with small type—brevier and nonpareil—on a double royal sheet, in quarto form, each number containing 16 royal quarto pages. It is printed as fast as the business done in Congress furnishes matter enough for a number—usually one number, but sometimes two numbers, a week. We have invariably printed more numbers than there were weeks in a session. The approaching session of Congress, it is expected, will continue 7 months; if so, subscribers may expect between 30 and 40 numbers, which, together, will make between 500 and 600 royal quarto pages.

The Appendix is made up of the PRESIDENT'S annual message, the reports of the principal officers of the Government that accompany it, and all the long speeches of members of Congress, written out or revised by themselves. It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages. Heretofore, on account of the set speeches being so numerous and so long, we have not completed the Appendix until one or two months after the close of the session; but in future, we intend to print the speeches as fast as they shall be prepared, and of course shall complete the work within a few days after the adjournment.

Each of these works is complete in itself; but it is necessary for every subscriber who desires a full knowledge of the proceedings of Congress, to have both; because, then, if there should be any ambiguity in the synopsis of the speech, or any denial of its correctness, as published in the Congressional Globe, the reader may turn to the Appendix to see the speech at length, corrected by the member himself.

Now, there is no source but the Congressional Globe and Appendix, from which a person can obtain a full history of the proceedings of Congress. GALE'S and STORON'S Register of Debates, which contained a history, has been suspended for three or four years. It cost about five times as much for a session as the Congressional Globe and Appendix, and did not contain an equal amount of matter, a great portion of the current proceedings being omitted. We are enabled to print the Congressional Globe and Appendix at the low rate now proposed, by having a large quantity of type, and keeping the Congressional matter that we set up for the daily and semi-weekly Globes, standing for the Congressional Globe and Appendix. If we had to set up the matter purposely for these works, we could not afford to print them for double the price now charged. Complete indexes to both the Congressional Globe and the Appendix are printed at the close of each session, and sent to all subscribers for them.

We have on hand 3,000 or 4,000 surplus copies of the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the extra session, which make together near one thousand royal quarto pages. They give the fullest history of Congress that has ever been published. We now sell them for $1 each; that is, $1 for the Congressional Globe, and $1 for the Appendix. We propose to let subscribers for the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the next session, have them for 50 cents each. They will be necessary to understand fully the proceedings of the next session. The important matters discussed at the last, will be brought up at the next session, in consequence of the universal dissatisfaction evinced in the late elections with the vast and novel system of policy which the powers have introduced, and which was forced through Congress without consulting public opinion, or even allowing the full discussion usual in regard to subjects of ordinary interest. The reports of the Congressional Globe and Appendix are not in the least degree affected by the party bias of the Editor. They are given precisely as written out by the Reporters and the members themselves. And the whole are subject to the revision and correction of the speakers, as they pass in review in our daily sheet, in case any misunderstanding, or misrepresentation of their remarks should occur.

We make a daily analysis of the doings in Congress, and give our opinions in it freely, but this is published only in the Daily, Semi-weekly, and Weekly Globes. The Daily Globe is $10, the Semi-weekly Globe $2 per annum, in advance. The Weekly Globe is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe and Appendix, and a complete index made to it at the end of each year.

TERMS: For the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the last Extra Session, $1. For the Congressional Globe for the next session, $1 per copy. For the Appendix for the next session, $1 per copy.

Six copies of either of the above works will be sent for $5; twelve copies for $10, and so on in proportion for a greater number.

Payments may be transmitted by mail, postage paid, at our risk. By a rule of the Post Office Department, postmasters are permitted to frank letters containing money for subscriptions.

The notice of any bank, current where a subscriber resides, will be received by us at par. To insure all the numbers, the subscriptions should be in Washington by the 15th December next, at farthest, though it is probable that we shall print enough surplus copies to fill every subscription that may be paid before the 1st day of January next.

No attention will be paid to any order unless the money accompanies it.

BLAIR & RIVES, Washington City, October 25, 1841.
