SPEECH OF

Hon. WILLIAM H. HAYWOOD, CONCLUDED.]

But, Mr. President, there are some other topics that have been introduced into this discussion, which I feel obliged to notice. We have been told that the PEOPLE have decided this question, and that Democrats are called to obey the voice of the people at the peril of consequences...

consent of the SENATE. It was doubtless supposed that these two branches of Government would combine, without passion, and with the best means of information, those facts and principles upon which the success of our foreign relations will always depend...

had seen ever since last summer, was to be determined out of the party, with the false label upon his back, of "traitor to Oregon!" The great southern Democratic statesman, Mr. Calhoun, was to be dismissed, labeled with the cry of "Panic faith to Oregon!"...

course, no.] Then that is settled. How is it with a Democratic Senator, whose State voted for Mr. Clay, and repudiated the Democratic Convention? That is my case. My State adopted the Constitution many years ago, and besides that, they refused to vote for Mr. Polk, or to approve this resolution in 1844...

against Texas, and now he had it; and that I was simply because he had forseen "Panic faith." Then, or at some other time, he more than intimated that he had some other thing called to the floor to vindicate that Senator, by their statements, showing that he really was suspicious...
