1st-That the principles of the present administration, deprecating war, except as a dire necessity, faithfully discharging every national obligation, both at home and abroad, sympathising with the friends of Freedom in every land, but avoiding all entangling alliances with foreign powers, opposing alike Secession and Abolitionism, and going for the Constitution, the Union and the Country "as it is," are sound republican principles, the principles of the Whigs of 76, of Washington is '96, and of the great masses of the Whig party of 1852. 2d—That the safety of the Union, the peace of the country, and the happy issue of all the imminent dangers so recently be setting our beloved land, afford an apt and practical illustration, after a fair trial, of the patriotism of Whig men and the wisdom of Whig measures; and we sincerely be-lieve the best interests of the people would be essentially promoted by a continuation of the policy of that party. 3d—That the Whigs of Cabarrus, ration-ally judging that he who has so successfully guided the ship of State through the stormy billows of the past, may well be trusted for the future, do hereby designate MILLARD FILLMORE as their first choice for President of the United States.

4th-That WM. A. GRAHAM, a statesman whom North Carolina has long delighted to honor, is their choice for Vice President.

5th-That John Kerr, of the County of Caswell, a gentleman of rare talent, of bold and decided principle, of pure and elevated character, is our first choice for Governor of this State; and we believe that his nomination would unite our friends in every seetion of the State.

6th-That the Chairman of this meeting appoint a Standing Committee of seven persons, (from different parts of the county, State Convention, with instructions to earry out the views herein set forth; and also to confer with the Waigs of this Congressional District in the appointment of a Delegate to the National Whis Convention

7th-That the Whigs of Cabarrus, looking to the possible recurrence of the dangers lately threatening the Union and the peace of the country, and justly regarding the success of the principles herein declared as superior to all other political considerations, do respectfully but earnestly beg our brethren throughout the State to rally in their support in the coming summer and fall elections, laying aside for the time all differences of opinion on sectional and other less important issues.

Col. John M. Long and Wm. S. Harris Esq., made interesting speeches in advocaey of the Resolutions; and the question being put, "shall the resolutions be adopted ! was decided in the affirmative unanimously.

In pursuance of the 6th Resolution and for the purposes therein specified, the following gentlemen tere appointed a Standing Committee, viz:-R. W. Allison, John Shinpock, E. R. Harris, Joseph O. Pharr, Dr. L. S. Bingham R. Barringer and J. H.

On motion of Col. Shinpock, it was resolved that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Concord Mercury, and the other Whig papers in the State be requested to copy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10th. You will notice that a bill has passed appropriating $12,500 for the renovation of the Library saloon, which was lately destroyed to the edifice by the late fire, to say nothing of the loss of the books, was not exaggerated. It will cost $500,000 to restore the Library and the edifice. It is now ascertained that the Capitol is not fire proof, and it is not at all improbable that it will be some day, seriously damaged by fire. The additions to the Capitol now in progress are to be really proof against fire.

It is not improbable that they will assert their independence of the United States Government as soon as they obtain sufficient strength.

On Sunday despatches were received here from our minister in Great Britain, Mr. Lawrence. They contain gratifying assurances of the speedy adjustment of all ques-tions arising out of the interests of the two countries in Central America.

The British Government entirely disavows the attack on the U. S. mail steamer Prometheus, and promises that the difficulty shall not recur. Further, as the Clayton Bulwer treaty has been the subject of disputed construction, and as its stipulations have been, according to our understanding of them, practically neglected, instructions have been sent to Mr. Crampton, the British Minister here, to adjust and settle all questions in relation to that subject.

Sir Henry Bulwer was, it seems, appointed to return to the United States a pecial Minister to revive or enforce his own treaty, but the principles of the adjustment have been settled, and the forms do not require the attention of Sir Henry Bulwer.

Thus ends the last remaining chance of Great Britain

STANLY UPON GIDDINGS.

We learn, through a Telegraphic Desevening, that the House of Representatives, on that day, was the scene of a terrible excoriation of Giddings, the traitor Abolitionist, at the hands of Mr. Stanly.

It seems that Giddings attempted to lecture the House for idleness, when Mr. Stanly took occasion to remark that no man wasted more of his own time, or that of the House, than he (triddings) did. To this Giddings replied that "it was false. Whereupon Mr. S. replied, " literally, states our correspondent, "flaying him alive —saying that he had falsified Reports from Committees, and associated with free ne groes when not in the House-and then went on to show wherein he held worse principles and sustained a worse character than any black slave he had ever seen, &c. &c.

We ll be bound, that Giddings was paint ed in his true colors, and that the likeness was perfect. Mr. Stanly has an artistic touch in "taking off character, as some of our Loco Foco friends can testify. should not be much surprised, by the way, if the sympathies of some of them, in this instance, will be with Guldengs-whether on account of their prentur hate for Mr S, or of the recollection of some such similar flagellations at his hands we will not say !- [Raleigh Reg., 14th inst.
