The Fatal Hour.

So far as we know, all carnal intelligences have been probationers; this was the case with the angels, and also with man. Our progenitors were holy and happy in themselves, and were residing in a garden of pleasures...

But the tempter came. The woman partied with her wily foe. Ubi solus est, encircled. The terrible consequences of transgression were laid open. The consciousness of the golden apple was the only thought present to the mind. And now the smooth-tongued enemy takes his power to the utmost for ensnaring words...

And now they are happy as ever. It is wonderful that purity of heart which they so lately enjoyed, is here brought in the soul but moral corruption instead of the feeling of anxiety and satisfaction which prevailed their early years...

God comes forth in judgment against the obedient creatures. They tremble lest they might aim still to fix upon them while yet in the mortal coil. But how low they are! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this!

What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this!

What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this!

What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this!

What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this!

What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this!

What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this!

What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this! What a strange thing is this!

moved from out of the way, that truth could once more shine forth, illuminate, purify, and sanctify the children of God!

Another class has great faith in human efforts, and are ever ready to doubt the power of God to convert and save. Unfortunately, those who are practical in their belief soon degenerate into mere hearers. Ever on the wing, they are higher and higher in search of some new preacher, and think themselves sent into the world to hear as many sermons as they possibly can, and see how much they can neglect family and social duties...

But the question occurs, if learning and eloquence are not indispensable qualities in a preacher, what does constitute a successful ambassador for Christ? Were we to give an answer, one that would put to shame all minor criticisms, and unite all good people, it would be, "He edifies the pious, he enlightens the simple, he satisfies the inquiring, he overcomes the skeptical!"

Love is the nucleus among the jewels of his believer's breastplate. The other graces whom like the precious stones of nature, with their own peculiar lustre and various hues, but the diamond is white, uniting all the others.

Death of a Young Lady. A young lady, who was very beautiful and accomplished, died of a sudden, and her death was a great loss to her family.

Preaching. Preaching is a noble and important duty, and one which requires much preparation and study. It is a duty which every Christian should feel called to perform.

Do you Honor your Parents? It is one of the first and most important duties of a child to honor his or her parents. This duty is not only a commandment, but also a natural feeling.
