

The North Carolina Whig.

A. C. WILLIAMSON, EDITOR.

"Be true to God, to your Country, and to your Duty."

T. J. HOLTUN, PUBLISHER.

VOLUME I. CHARLOTTE, N. C., DECEMBER 1, 1852. NUMBER 45.

HOLTUN & WILLIAMSON, PROPRIETORS.

TERMS:

The North Carolina Whig will be afforded to subscribers at TWO DOLLARS in advance, or TWO DOLLARS and FIFTY CENTS if paid quarterly...

Advertisements inserted at One Dollar per square (16 lines of type) for the first insertion...

be opened and a place prepared for him in the chamber of death. The vessel in which the father of Ellen was to arrive reached her point of destination...

Ellen was now alone, and in her strengthened circumstances was obliged to retrieve her residence, and engage a small room in a poorer part of the city. She was tempted to envy the fashionable ladies who passed her daily in their finery...

What's the use, put it in your pocket, it will not be missed. Nobody will know it, and when nobody knows it, it will do them no harm...

It was not long after the conversation between Ellen and Mary, before complaints were made, that different articles had been stolen. Suspicious were fastened on two or three of the girls...

It was not long after the conversation between Ellen and Mary, before complaints were made, that different articles had been stolen. Suspicious were fastened on two or three of the girls...

As Ellen was giving his evidence, in his own rough way, the countenance of Mary became ghastly pale, and once or twice she nearly sank to the ground...

looked remarkable grim and morose. The judge put a great many questions to Ellen, all of which she answered conformably to the strictest truth.

"I am glad to hear you say again, and to learn that you are well, and that your tools and tools are ready for spring work, whenever the weather will allow you to begin."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

born, or his other neighbor, Captain Burleigh. There are some animals that live best in the fire; and there are some men who delight in heat, smoke, combustion, and even general conflagration.

UNPUBLISHED LETTER OF MR. WEBSTER. The following beautiful letter we have been permitted to copy at large...

WASHINGTON, March 12th, 1852. My dear friend, I have just received your kind letter of the 9th inst. in relation to the case of the colored man...

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

of the Legislature of that State, and that the Legislature will also, appropriate the sum of $5,000 to repay Mr. Lemmon for the property robbed from him.

POSTAGE AND STATISTICS. An important movement is now in progress in England and on the Continent for the establishment of uniform rates of postage over the whole civilized world.

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

The Boston Commonwealth furnishes the annexed Report and Proceedings in this case, the decision of which has resulted in a decree for the Plaintiff, the negro who has been freed from his owners.

THE SLAVE CASE IN NEW YORK. The arguments in the case of the woman and children claimed by Mr. and Mrs. Lemmon, were made on Tuesday. Mr. Lobough, counsel for claimants, read the amended return to the writ of habeas corpus...

of the Legislature of that State, and that the Legislature will also, appropriate the sum of $5,000 to repay Mr. Lemmon for the property robbed from him.

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

of the Legislature of that State, and that the Legislature will also, appropriate the sum of $5,000 to repay Mr. Lemmon for the property robbed from him.

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

"I am a witness, please your honor," replied the stranger, leaning down. "All eyes were directed upon him who now stood in the witness box. He was a middle aged individual, and by his appearance, was a laborer."

Poetry.

From the Washington Metropolitan. HYMN TO AUTUMN.

BY HENRY CLAY FREED.

Fading, still fading—the flowers are dying. And over them death looks fearless and cold.

Fading, still fading—the loved ones are sleeping. Where the Angel of death his nightwatch is keeping.

Fading, still fading—our years are but few. As others have gone, so we must go too.

Fading, still fading—our years are but few. As others have gone, so we must go too.

Miscellaneous.

From the Weekly Post. ELLEN WRIGHT; OR, Honesty Triumphant.

BY FINLEY JOHNSON.

The year 1837 will long be remembered by the commercial community as one of great distress and depression in business.

John Wright was a merchant doing a large and extensive business in New York, and when the pressure became general he was among the first to fail.

John Wright was a merchant doing a large and extensive business in New York, and when the pressure became general he was among the first to fail.

John Wright was a merchant doing a large and extensive business in New York, and when the pressure became general he was among the first to fail.

John Wright was a merchant doing a large and extensive business in New York, and when the pressure became general he was among the first to fail.

John Wright was a merchant doing a large and extensive business in New York, and when the pressure became general he was among the first to fail.

John Wright was a merchant doing a large and extensive business in New York, and when the pressure became general he was among the first to fail.

John Wright was a merchant doing a large and extensive business in New York, and when the pressure became general he was among the first to fail.

John Wright was a merchant doing a large and extensive business in New York, and when the pressure became general he was among the first to fail.

LEGISLATIVE WIT.

The following is a report of a portion of the proceedings at the late Session of the Legislature of Wisconsin...

The bill introduced by Senator Albin, on behalf of some of his constituents, exempting a rifle or a shot gun from execution...

It is a correct statement, as the Inocent presumes it is, it shows that an innocent man has been robbed of his property...

ASKING TOO MUCH. A young couple was sitting together in a romantic spot with birds and flowers about them...

ASKING TOO MUCH. A young couple was sitting together in a romantic spot with birds and flowers about them...

ASKING TOO MUCH. A young couple was sitting together in a romantic spot with birds and flowers about them...

ASKING TOO MUCH. A young couple was sitting together in a romantic spot with birds and flowers about them...

THE SLAVE CASE—DECISION OF JUDGE PAINE.

The New York Journal of Commerce reviews the Lemmon slave case, and Judge Paine's decision and trusts the New York State, on which that decision was mainly based, will be repealed at the coming session.

CURIOSUS SUIT.

A few days since, in St. Louis, Mo., a game chicken escaped from its owner, ran into a drug store, flew against a bottle of water, and thus evaporating the water of the bottle, the drugist has sued the owner of the rooster, laying his damages at $15, the value of the perfume wasted.